Prisons, Rebellion, Crime.
Our Fly-Catching Parent.
A New Standard Lady.
Women May Preach.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

SOMETHING is wrong with our prisons. There is something to think about seriously, in connection with our desperate crime wave.

For the second time this year convicts in Auburn prison have risen in rebellion, following desperate uprisings in other prisons, seizing the warden and a dozen guards, having killed the head keeper.

BOMB, bullets, tear gas and determination will end this rebellion. The men are desperate, defying death. But the intelligence of their leadership is not high.

The public will wonder at these repeated outbreaks in American prisons, the most desperate of all only recently in the State of Colorado, five prison uprisings within a few months.

How is it that crime diminishes in Europe, with prisons offered for rent for industrial or other useful purposes, while we have a steadily rising crime wave in this country?

Is it that bootlegging has financed crime on a gigantic scale, or is it part of a general disregard for law promoted "respectability," the "upper classes" flouting a prohibition law because it happens not to please them?

Whatever the cause, the results are serious, and the nation will have to do more than talk about them.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN used to say "You can have monkeys in your family, but I don't want any in my family."

What could he think if Dr. Harriet Cutler Waterman, learned lady of the American Museum of Natural History, could tell him that one of his ancestors was the "fly-catching lemur," an inferior cousin of the ape, that walked around on his hind legs, leaping into the air catching flies and birds with his hands?

THAT'S what the learned lady says and she can prove it.

But what difference does it make? All life on this planet comes from the same source which rules the universe.

Why should we complain if we had humbler forms in the beginning?

Mr. Bryan would have been much surprised to see himself as he looked eight months before he was born. A fly-catching lemur would look like Michael Angelo's Moses, compared with Bryan at that age.

PUBLIC FIGHTS RAISE IN CITY TAX RATE BEFORE COUNCIL

Citizens of Pittsburgh in a public hearing before City Council today told how an increase may be prevented in the city tax rate for 1930. Individuals and representatives of civic and business organizations made their declarations in vigorous language, enumerating their suggestions as follows:

1—By requiring more efficient service from politically appointed city employes.

2—By investigating the system of government of other cities where taxes are relatively lower and applying the information in a practical way in improving the civic service of Pittsburgh. This suggestion was made by Mrs. Della M. Hershey, of the League of Women Voters. J. W. Cree, Jr., president of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, said his organization would finance the investigation.

3—By cutting down the cost of removal of garbage and rubbish in requiring the American Reduction Company to build an up-to-date plant capable of increasing the value of garbage by-products.

4—By postponing the proposed increase in the pay of policemen and firemen.

5—By requesting department heads in the city administration to cooperate with a taxpayers' committee in finding a way to promote economy.

SCORES OF SUGGESTIONS

Scores of other suggestions were offered by speakers from a gathering of more than 300 citizens who gathered in Council Chamber to voice their opposition

JUDGE GIVES ACCORSI INTO HANDS OF JURY

A jury of 11 men and one woman was waiting to receive the case of Salvatore Accorsi, former Chestwick miner, charged with the murder of Trooper John J. Downey, late today.

Addresses to the jury had been completed by Attorney John M. Henry, for the defense and by Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt for the commonwealth.

Visiting Judge J. A. McLaughry started his charge to the jury at 3:50 p. m.

In broken English and excited tones, Accorsi denied from a witness stand today that he had murdered Downey, slain at the Acmetonia riot in August, 1927.

All day on August 22, the date Downey was shot down, Accorsi testified he spent with a friend who was repairing the Accorsi car at Russellton, six miles from Acmetonia.

The defense rested with Accorsi's testimony and the last testimony was heard before the noon recess. Immediately Attorney Jacob Margolis, in writing, asked the court to order a directed verdict, on the grounds that the state had failed to prove its case.

TESTIMONY ASSAILED

Closing arguments were begun at 1:15 p. m. by Attorney Henry, for the defense, who sought to point out what he interpreted as discrepancies in the testimony of the state's two star witnesses, Staet Trooper W. M. Brown and Andrew Copalin.

"We ask you to free this defendant," said Attorney Henry. "There has been no evidence produced to show he was guilty of either murder or manslaughter. His alibi clears him."

'PROSPERITY BOARD' OF 20 NAMED FOR U.S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—The job of keeping close tab on business and seeing general prosperity is maintained was turned over today to 20 leaders in the country's major enterprises. They form the executive committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce, authorized at the national business conference here December 5.

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the committee, announced the names and said a general committee, with a membership of 50, would be appointed later to serve as "points of contact between the executive committee and the trade associations and commercial groups."

The members of the committee:

Myron C. Taylor, chairman, finance committee, U. S. Steel Corporation, New York.

Paul Shoup, president, Southern Pacific Company, San Francisco.

WORKMAN INJURED IN DOWNTOWN BLAST

One man was overcome when ammonia fumes leaked from a tank in the basement of the Janitors' Supply Company, 301 Market street, today. The victim, Bert Kennedy, 36, of 240 Shanroad street, was treated at the Mercy Hospital and removed to his home.

Workmen had replaced a valve on the tank located in the laundry supply department. Cause of the leak could not be determined. Firemen were forced to don oxygen masks to cut off the flow.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN LEAPS INTO RIVER

Told by an excited woman who rushed into the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Station this morning that a man had jumped into the river, Patrolman William Killmer dashed out on the Smithfield Street Bridge just in time to see the man struggle in the water and sink. He was about 50 feet below the bridge when he disappearerd. Police in boats were making an effort to recover the body.

Cigaret Habit Costs Artist $10,000

BOSTON, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—To smoke or not to smoke, that's the question.

But Ruth Anderson, nationally known Boston artist, today decided on the affirmative and in that way forfeited a bequest of $10,000 willed to her by an aunt, Esther M. Groom, of Philadelphia, herself a well-known artist. The will, which provided that if Miss Anderson signed an oath to give up smoking cigarets the bequest would be hers, was filed for probate at Carlisle, Pa., yesterday.

"I smoke merely because I like to do so. That's my view on the subject and I do not intend to change it now," said the artist.

Although she is married to Samuel Temple, she continues to be known professionally as Ruth Anderson.

Brig. Gen. Aultman, Ex-Pittsburgher Dies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Dwight E. Aultman, a native of old Allegheny, Pa., the ranking brigadier general of the Army, died at Walter Reed Hospital today after an illness of five months. The general was 56 and was on the active list of the Army, being last assigned to Fort Sill, Okla. He leaves his widow and three children.

IRON RULE FOLLOWS REVOLT OF CONVICTS

AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Extreme precautions to prevent a recurrence of the uprising in the Auburn state prison were taken by the authorities today in the wake of yesterday's mutiny, which cost 9 lives and injured 12 others. While preparations were being made to bury the dead, all of the 1,556 convicts were locked in cells and all special privileges were suspended.

Even the several hundred "trusty" prisoners, who, because there are but 1,200 cells in this grim institution, had been allowed to sleep in dormitories and doubledeck cots, were put behind bars. Every prisoner was fed in his cell. There was no marching to the mess halls or to the exercise court. It was equivalent to solitary confinement.

The National Guard units called out yesterday were withdrawn in belief that the situation was in hand. Seventy-five sate troopers, under the command of Capt. Stephen McGrath, Troop D, FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 12.—Four persons were injured, two critically, when the Franklin-Meadville bus, bound for Meadville, skidded on the ice-covered Hannaville hill shortly before noon today, struck a bridge abutment and was completely wrecked. The car then took fire. Prompt work of George Strawbridge, a passenger, saved the lives of passengers.

The injured are Mrs. Clarissa Elliott, Guy Mills, internally injured, may die; Edward Wagner, 45, a farmer, Cochranton, head injuries; Samuel Moore, 27, driver of car, badly cut; Mrs. William Stoughton, 49, Carleton, cut about head and face. The injured were brought to Franklin Hospital.

LITTLE GIRLS' VISITS PLEASE DOLL LADY

By THE DOLL LADY.

All of my life I have earnestly endeavored to make little girls happy and every time I give away one of my wonder dolls there is that thrill of pleasure in knowing that another child has achieved one of her fondest hopes. I know from years of experience that there is nothing in the world that gives a little girl so much real joy and happiness as a doll she can love and call her very own. And when it is a doll that can really recite and sing and walk—a doll almost as big as a little girl herself, and gorgeously dressed—I have found that words cannot express the appreciation of the child.

Doll Lady

And I am so glad that so many of the little girls in Pittsburgh and vicinity have come to see me. It again tells me that spreading sunshine and happiness with my dolls is going to make me continue to feel that I have made a lot of real.

THE Doll Lady has established two convenient downtown headquarters where children are invited to see and hear her wonderful dolls.

FISHER'S APPOINTEE DENOUNCED ON SENATE FLOOR

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Joseph R. Grundy was administered the oath as Senator from Pennsylvania this afternoon. The Senate referred a resolution to deny Grundy a seat to the elections committee for a report.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Joseph R. Grundy presented himself to the Senate today as the new senator from Pennsylvania.

Before he could take the oath of office Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, a Republican Independent, offered a resolution questioning his credentials, but at the same time expressing willingness that the resolution and the credentials be referred to an elections committee for consideration.

With a smile and in silence, Grundy occupied a seat in the chamber as the youthful North Dakotan spoke against his right to membership.

Nye proposed to exclude Grundy on account of his participation in the $1,800,000 primary campaign for the ticket on which Gov. John S. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, was nominated in 1926.

Several other senators spoke in support of Nye's resolution, bitterly assailing Grundy and Fisher, but his fight began to fail when Democratic leaders upheld Grunday's right to a seat. The North Dakotan eventually amended his resolution, which first provided that a seat be "denied" Grundy, to read that he was "not entitled" to a place in the Senate.

Accompanied by Senator David A. Reed (Rep.), of Pittsburgh, Grundy entered the Senate chamber and temporarily took the seat of Senator George W. Norris (Rep.), Nebraska.

Meantime, from across the aisle came the familiar sound of Grundy's name in the tariff debate.

"These are the rates for the Grundy industry," declared Senator T. J. Walsh, (Dem.) Montana, "and we ought to have some evidence of depres-

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.

WHEN JOSEPH R. GRUNDY entered the Senate today he sat down in the chair of Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska, insurgent, who has assailed him unmercifully in tariff debate and who offered the resolution barring William S. Vare. Norris started with surprise as he came in and found the Pennsylvanian in his seat.

"Well, well," he said, "if it isn't Grundy himself! How are you?"

They shook hands amid a roar of laughter and as Grundy started to move, Norris waved his hand and said, "Oh, no, keep the seat, Joe."

VARE ILL, SECOND STROKE REPORTED

BULLETIN.

ATLANTIC CITY, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby arrived here this afternoon to visit the bedside of William S. Vare, Republican chieftain, who, it was reported, had suffered another stroke.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Word was received here this afternoon from the home of William S. Vare at Atlantic City that he had suffered a setback in his recovery from a stroke a year ago.

Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby, his physician, said he did not know the nature of the illness.

"I've just received an urgent call from the Vare home in Atlantic City," said Dr. Kirby, "and I'm going down as soon as I can. They didn't tell me whether it was a relapse or what it was, but they said that I should come at once."

Vare was stricken with paralysis on August 1, 1928, in his Atlantic City home, and for days his recovery was doubtful. His entire left side was affected at that time. He slowly recovered but was not permitted to take any active interest in politics or business for a long time.

ARMY AND NAVY GRID GAME PARLEY URGED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—A suggestion that the Army and Navy football controversy be settled by a commission comprising five former captains drawn from Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Georgetown, was made to President Hoover today by Representative Fish (Rep.), of New York, who called at the White House.

West Point and Annapolis would be bound to accept the commission's findings.

He added he had discussed his proposal with Senators Copeland and Wagner, of New York, and Senators Tydings and Goldsborough, of Maryland, and said they approved.

Fish represents the West Point district in Congress.

CONVICTED PRISONER FLEES, RECAPTURED

A wild dash for freedom by a prisoner in Federal Court today followed sentence for violation of the National Motor Theft Act, was frustrated by two prohibition officers before he had a chance to flee from the building.

The prisoner, Arthur Catlin, 27, alias Floyd White, of "Oklahoma," was captured by William Walker and J. B. Lewis, dry agents, after he tripped Deputy U. S. Marshal J. H. Irons, while being led from Judge F. P. Schoonmaker's court room on the third floor. He had been sentenced a few minutes before to four years in prison when he pleaded guilty to transporting stolen automobiles in interstate commerce.

Catlin was returned to court and sentenced to an additional year on the charge.

State Witness Bares Activity Of McKeesport Moonshine Clique: Involves Police

Englert got $25 a month for visiting three moonshine plants on the Greenwalt farm, Versailles Township, and letting the operators know whether "anything was happening"—presumably activities of prohibition agents, according to Harry Markoss, who resumed the witness stand as the fourth day of the trial opened today.

"TELLING THE TRUTH"

Rasp met Markoss in Walnut street and demanded "What's the idea of skipping?" Markoss testified.

"I told him we were having a hard time and you can't get blood out of a stone," said the witness.

"If I had a dime for every gallon of moonshine I manufactured I would never have to work again in my life," testified Markoss on cross-examination. "I lied before, but I am here now to tell the truth, for I know a man can't tell a lie in the United States Court. The Atlanta penitentiary taught me a good lesson."

FRIEDMAN ON STAND

Charles Friedman, confessed bootlegger and ex-convict, a government witness, under cross examination intimated he entertained some grievance against men he claimed were his partners in bootlegging activities prior to his conviction in 1927, when he said:

"I got justice and I want them to get justice. They did not do what they promised to do."

He gave no explanation for the allegation.

CHARGES BRIBERY

Under direct examination, conducted by First Assistant United States Attorney James I. Marsh, Friedman brought in the names of Justice of the Peace Charles E. Reinhard, of Versailles, and Charles L. Bergstedt, former Versailles chief of police, both defendants, into the testimony, when he testified they had accepted money as bribes.

Friedman, under interrogation by Attorney Coll, told of writing a letter to John D. Meyer, former United States attorney, while serving a sentence in the Federal prison camp at Alderson, W. Va., and informing the government attorney that he wanted to tell "all he knew."

Marshal McGregor Indorsed by Reed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Appointment of Andrew B. Dunsmore, of Wellsboro, Tioga County, as United States attorney for the Middle District of Pennsylvania, was recommended to President Hoover today by Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania. At the same time, Reed indorsed James C. McGregor, of Indiana, Pa., for reappointment as United States marshal for the Western District of Pennsylvania. He said he expected both men to receive the appointments.

ALL ACCORDING TO HOYLE—By Quin Hall

to the proposal to increase taxes to meet the pending 1930 budget.

The keynote was sounded by J. W. Bamford, chairman of the taxation committee of the Owners' and Managers' Association. He declared that city taxes had increased 86 per cent between 1917 and 1927, while the increase in the cost of living in the same period was only 24 per cent. The cost of the removal of garbage during these 10 years, he said, had increased 302 per cent.

EFFICIENCY DEMANDED

The organization has suggested that the city can, without raising the tax rate, increase income and reduce expenses, first, by condemning property on which taxes are delinquent and selling it to those who will pay the taxes; second, by managing more efficiently the City-County Building and other municipal structures, and third, by looking into the extensive occupation of downtown buildings by public utility companies which pay no taxes.

Among city officials at the hearing were Director James M. Clark, of the Department of Public Safety; Director Edward G. Lang, Public Works; Director C. B. Malts, Health; Director B. L. Succop, Supplies; City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, Thomas C. McMahon, chief of the Board of Property Assessments, and many bureau heads.

BUSINESS WARNING

A warning of a lower level of business for next year with real estate owners less able to meet increased tax burdens came from James Rae, president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. He said the business outlook justified every possible economy in the management of the city.

"To think of raising the tax rate now is an outrage," shouted John Dimling, prominent Oakland realty operator. "Property owners just now are lucky if they make more than two per cent on their investment."

"An increase in taxes will not only affect the values of land and existing improvements, but will discourage additions to taxable property in the form of new improvements," said Mr. Cree, who presented an exhaustive argument on the subject in behalf of the Real Estate Board.

STEEL OFFICIALS QUOTED

Answering a question by Chairman Robert Garland of the councilmanic finance committee, Cree declared: "A vice president of the Carnegie Steel Company told me that the high tax rate in Pittsburgh is the controlling factor in the removal of mills from the city."

"Oh, there will be no more mills built in the city," answered Garland, "but we will keep the industries in the Pittsburgh district."

Thomas Liggett said that he had found "too many city employes who were not giving service for which the taxpayers were charged." He cited an instance in the courthouse where he found "as many as 33 scrubwomen hold a pink tea in a corner when a machine or a mop would have done the work better and at less cost."

PAY RAISE OPPOSED

L. W. Monteverde, real estate operator, asked Council to "cut the suit to fit the cloth." It was inopportune to raise the tax rate, he declared; therefore the proposed increase in the pay of policemen and firemen should be postponed. He requested that a resolution to that effect be adopted.

Monteverde asked further that Council pass a resolution requesting department heads to cooperate with a taxpayers' committee in finding a way to promote economy.

Councilman English declared the people, by voting for the increase in the pay of the policemen and firemen, had conveyed a mandate which Council could not repudiate. He suggested, however, that Council might eliminate dispensable jobs by withholding appropriations.

RENT RAISES FEARED

The tax increase would not be such a burden, he said, as some of the protestants seemed to imagine. The deplorable thing would be, he said, if landlords would take a $10 increase in taxes as an excuse for a $120 increase in rent.

English asserted some of the very people now objecting to an advance in the tax rate had come before Council not long ago with a request for a $60,000 appropriation for the light jubilee celebration and a $10,000 appropriation for the Cincinnati river junket. The Chamber of Commerce, now demanding economy, petitioned Council, according to English, not only to increase city employes' pay, but add to the number of employes.

The taxpayers are not averse to spending money generously for municipal purposes, English intimated, and pointed in illustration to the authorization of a $6,000,000 town hall.

"FOOL MONUMENTS" HIT

"It is going to be a white elephant," he warned, "unless it has stores to produce revenue. Let's not put any more money into these fool monuments," he urged.

The meeting adjourned shortly afterward. No action was taken on Monteverde's proposed resolutions.

After the meeting J. Rogers Flannery asked Councilman Garland, "Well, what's going to come out of this? Are you going to meet the Mayor?"

McArdle reminded Flannery that the Mayor had been invited to today's meeting but had not chosen to come.

Garland said that if the taxpayers' committee proposed by Monteverde should meet the Mayor, Council's co-operation in whatever program might be worked out could be requested.

trial. At one stage he was reprimanded by Visiting Judge J. A. McLaughry for shouting at District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt: "You want to get me! go ahead! The state police want to get me!"

REFUSED TO ATTEND

The naturalized Italian told of a friend, William Citeroni, asking him to accompany him to the Sacco-Vanzetti demonstration at which Downey was shot when he and other state police dispersed the crowd.

"'I can't go,' I told Bill. 'I got to fix my car so I can go to work tomorrow. You take my wife with you and your wife,'" he declared.

"Citeroni told me sure, so I told my wife to get ready. I was working on the car when they went down. They come back pretty soon and I was still working on the car. I finished some time in the afternoon."

Downey was shot before noon.

Accorsi gesticulated, crossing his hands to indicate, as was eventually learned, that he saw two state troopers at a crossroads.

"They stopped my car, looked in and told me to drive on. If they want me that day, they could get me. I pass them couple of times in that road. Next day I lose my job because I didn't go to work."

"No, sir!" Accorsi shouted.

Accorsi's denial that he was at Acmetonia follows the alibi testimony of a dozen other defense witnesses, including his wife, who told of seeing the defendant in Russellton on the day Downey was shot.

DEATH PACT VICTIMS

MRS. JOSEPHINE R. BIGELOW

Mrs. Bigelow and Henry Grew Grosby, expatriate and modernist poet, were found shot to death in the studio of a New York artist. Police said they apparently had decided on death together.

RELATIVES DENY GIRL TOOK LIFE

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—New York police held to the opinion today that the deaths of Henry Grew Crosby, socially prominent modernist poet, and Mrs. Josephine Rotch Bigelow were the result of a suicide pact.

Medical Examiner Charles Norris, who made an autopsy on the two bodies, agreed with the police. A considerable quantity of alcohol had been found in the body of each, the medical examiner said. Crosby is a nephew of J. P. Morgan.

KIN REJECT SUICIDE

BOSTON, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Scouting the theory of a suicide pact in the tragic deaths yesterday of Henry Grew Crosby and Mrs. Josephine Rotch Bigelow, friends of the young woman today believed that the love-crazed poet lured the girl to the New York studio for the purpose of taking her with him in death.

Together with relatives, these intimate friends declared that Mrs. Bigelow had gone with Crosby to listen to his pleadings and inform him that they were hopeless. She informed him by radio, according to a message found by the police, that she would talk with him. This message was received while Crosby was on the way to this country from Paris.

WAR HERO, ATHLETE

Crosby, after his marriage in 1922 to Mary Jacobs Peabody, wealthy young divorcee, went to Paris and there set himself and his bride up as publishers of radical works by expatriate authors whose writings could not be published in this country.

He had been a war hero and a star athlete at Harvard.

The strain of the war and the absorption of Paris radical literary circles warped his mind, his friends said.

CUBAN SUGAR RUIN FEAR RELATED

Letter From Machado Citing 'Annihilation' From U. S. Tariff Read at Lobby Quiz

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—A statement attributed to President Machado, of Cuba, which said justification of "immoderate increases" in the sugar tariff could be found only in "very grave purposes of international scope obliging a powerful republic to annihilate its small neighbor" was read into the record today at the Senate Lobby Committee hearing.

The statement, made in a letter to H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Company, sugar importers, from Machado, continued this purpose could be explained only after there had been any disloyalty or offense of some consequence.

CUBA RUIN FEARED

The letter said that it could not exist as long as there was "real affection, sincere adhesion, full co-operation and the desire to show at all times and in all cases the extreme and profound gratefulness which the Cuban people feel toward the American nation."

Machado said that any substantial increase in the duty on Cuban sugar would result in economic ruin for Cuba and would place the country in "the same condition in which it was when the American nation helped us to obtain freedom."

The letter was read after Lakin had testified concerning his activities in behalf of a low sugar duty in the pending tariff bill. He was not questioned concerning it. He is due, however, to appear before the committee again tomorrow.

REMINDED OF PENALTY

Lakin was reminded at today's session by Senator Walsh, of Montana, lobby committee member, that the Logan act provides a $5,000 fine and a three-year prison term for any American citizen who carries on correspondence with a foreign government to "defeat the measures of the government of the United States."

Lakin testified yesterday that he had suggested a plan to the secretary of communications of Cuba whereby pressure for a lower sugar tariff was to be brought on Congress by the use of propaganda in Latin American countries.

"Was it a patriotic thing to incite Latin American countries against this country?" Walsh asked.

"I can't say anything more than that I am very much ashamed of it," Lakin said.

SHATTUCK AGAIN NAMED

The name of Edwin P. Shattuck, employed by the Cuba Company to advocate a low sugar duty, partly because he was a friend of President Hoover, which has figured frequently in previous testimony, kept recurring today.

In one letter Lakin wrote, "We are employing a friend of Hoover and really have some hope."

Another letter said Shattuck had been "summoned" by President Hoover to Miami before the inauguration, but Lakin interposed that he had been mistaken about Shattuck's being summoned.

Metal That Floats Now Produced by Ton

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Production by the ton of a metal that floats like cork on water, the latest achievement of American metal manufacturing, was revealed to the New York Electrical Society by Dr. W. C. MacTavish, professor of chemistry at New York University.

The substance is Lithium, the world's lightest metal, silvery in color, softer than lead, one-half the weight of water, and such a ready mixer with other metals that its uses range from aviation to sweeter-toned bells.

Although recently produced commercially in Europe, Lithium still is so rare that chemical catalogues at New York University quote it at $240 a pound. The American achievement is a quantity of production method, completed barely a month ago, making the cost about $15 a pound wholesale, and in ton lots.

Though it comes from scientific work on both sides of the Atlantic, there runs all through the story the name of a 26-year-old American man, Dr. H. M. Partridge, now assistant professor of chemistry at New York University.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S mother wasn't a "standard 34" nor was "Bertha With the Big Feet," mother of Charlemagne.

For an efficient mother, which is what counts, bigger busts, bigger waists, bigger hips.

ST. PAUL said women must not sit in church with bare heads, or preach.

Samuel Johnson said: "Sir, a woman preaching is like a dog's walking on its hind legs. It is not done well, but you are surprised to find it done at all."

NEVERTHELESS, the Presbytery of Baltimore decides that women may now be ordained as pastors and ruling elders.

One clergyman reminded his fellows that Christ had only men among the 12 Apostles. Somebody might have replied, but didn't, that if 12 women had been chosen there would probably have been no Judas.

THERE is a good deal of money left and C. E. Mitchell, head of New York's National City Bank, has some of it. Yesterday he bought for his bank and syndicate $65,000,000 of New York City 4½ per cent corporate stock and bonds.

He paid a premium of $1,526,657 above par, a good price for securities that pay only 4½. However, they are free of income tax, which makes a difference.

HEAVY floods in parts of England, the Thames three miles wide in places, swollen rivers and dangerous flood conditions in France, the storm that has wrought such havoc continues roaring along Europe's west coast.

Italy's steamship Leonardo Da Vinci, has safely reached Gravesend with a precious cargo of art treasures. The field of Runnymede where Magna Charta was signed is a lake.

In China the storm is worse than in Europe, for it is a storm of hatreds, bloodshed and Civil War.

Shanghai residents of the Chinese quarter, fearing for their lives, seeking to force their way into the international settlement, were repulsed by force.

Be grateful that we live in a country so peaceful, in spite of bootlegging, crime and Wall Street earthquakes.

TWENTY-EIGHT years ago the great Italian, Guglielmo Marconi, listening on the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, picked up the single letter "S" sent by wireless transmitter from the southwest end of England.

Today, Marconi, in a London studio, will talk to his friends in the United States, his voice coming perfectly distinct over a 25-meter wave length.

Marconi himself could hardly have believed, 28 years ago, that the thing would ever be done.

CONVICTS UNDER CLOSE GUARD

Oneida, patrolled the interior of the penitentiary.

Many of the convicts were surly today over the action of the officials, but there was no demonstration. Careful search was made of the tiers of cells for guns. The authorities understood the mutinous convicts had 12 pistols in their possession and only two had been found up to noon.

INVESTIGATION STARTS

Investigation of the outbreak was in full swing under direction of Sergt. of the Guard George Sullivan and Phillip J. Rossa, a chief clerk of the Department of Correction at Albany, who came here as the representative of State Commissioner of Correction Raymond F. Kieb. Sullivan was acting warden until noon, when Edgar S. Jennings resumed his duties though still confined to his room by injuries received yesterday when he was held as hostage for hours by the mutineers.

"No action has yet been taken against any of the mutineers," said Ross. "Every inmate of the prison is in a cell and they will remain so confined indefinitely.

"A thorough search for weapons is now being made. Every prisoner is being frisked. We are not positive as to exactly how many men instigated the rioting yesterday. We know that at least 12 convicts started the outbreak and there may possibly have been 15. We do not yet know who was the ringleader."

MURDER CHARGES PLANNED

The leaders in the mutiny eventually will face charges of murder in the first degree, according to Dr. Kieb. They were implicated in the killing during the commission of a felony—attempting to escape from a prison—and conviction on this count means death.

LENIENCY ENDED

Sullivan said the prisoners would be "treated rough" from now on.

"The 'P.K.' who was killed was a whole lot more decent than we are going to be in the future," said Sullivan. "He was the bravest, squarest man in the state of New York and he was shot down without a chance."

The "P.K." he referred to was Principal Keeper George A. Durnford.

"There's been too much leniency around here," said Sullivan, curtly.

Some prison officials were inclined to criticize the Mutual Welfare League, which advocates a considerate policy toward prisoners. The view was held by some of the keepers at Auburn that there has been too much "babying" of convicts and that they have been allowed too many liberties.

The uprising started yesterday morning when 50 of the most desperate criminals in the prison were being marched through a corridor on the way to a yard for exercise. They were all men facing long years of penal service. Most of them had participated in last summer's revolt and had done months of solitary confinement.

HEAD KEEPER SLAIN

Upon a signal they seized their guards, and took their weapons from them. The principal keeper, Durnford, quickly learned of the incipient rebellion and dashed along a corridor toward the mutineers. One of the convicts, who had seized a pistol from a guard, shot him. He died shortly after he was taken to a hospital.

One by one other guards were promptly corraled by the convicts. They were told that if they uttered a sound or made a move they would be "plugged."

Warden Jennings chanced to pass through a wing of the building. He was on a customary daily tour of inspection. Suddenly a convict stepped out and shoved a pistol into his stomach.

"If you move, I'll shoot," said the convict, quickly. "Come with me, warden. We want you to accompany us to the punishment gallery. You will have to 'cover us.' If you don't we're going to snuff you out."

HENRY SULLIVAN
Sullivan, ringleader in the insurrection, shot by troopers as he attempted escape.

WARDEN HANDCUFFED

Two other convicts, both of whom had obtained arms, came up alongside of the warden and the trio marched him to the punishment gallery. There the warden was handcuffed to one of the guards who had been seized. Six or seven guards had been corraled by the mutineers.

Guards were forced to open cell doors and release other prisoners.

Warden Jennings was told he would have to instruct the men "out in front" to let the convicts out of the prison, unmolested, or he would be slain. Henry Sullivan, one of the ringleaders, told him if they didn't get their freedom "all of us will die together, for we are determined to escape or die in the attempt and you'll die with us."

While the agencies of help—National Guard units, state troopers, sheriffs from surrounding country and the police of Auburn and nearby cities, were assembling outside the prison gates, the prisoner party advanced to a hall just on the rear of the main administration building.

GUARD BEARS MESSAGE

Then the convicts released Keeper McTaggart, to whom Jennings had been handcuffed, and directed him to deliver an ultimatum to the prison officials.

"The prisoners want unmolested passage through the front gates of the prison," Keeper McTaggart reported. "They want two automobiles, motors running, to be left standing in front of the main gate. If this is done they say they'll take Warden Jennings and some of the guards with them until they escape from the city, and then drop them out of the cars. If this isn't done they declare they'll shoot the warden and the guards."

Sergt. Sullivan opened the main gate. Two automobiles, motors running, were drawn up just outside the gate. State troopers were assembling in steadily increasing numbers, augmented by many armed citizens.

The convicts proceeded slowly toward the main gate, pushing Warden Jennings ahead of them. They had hardly started when a trooper stepped inside the enclosure and hurled a tear gas bomb. Immediately there was a volley of shots from both sides and the convicts retreated to the buildings.

Guardsmen and state troopers advanced into the enclosure, shooting and throwing gas bombs. The convicts replied with shots from behind grilled bars of windows.

Warden Jennings and five of the guards, overcome by the gas, dropped to the floor. The convicts, forgetting the warden, rushed to attain places from which they could protect themselves.

There ensued intermittent skirmishing that lasted for hours, until almost 6 o'clock in the evening. Then troopers entered the prison, herded the last remnant of the mutineers into the south wing and killing six convicts, ended the revolt.

LIST OF PRISON DEAD, INJURED

AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 12.—(INS.)—A checkup by International News Service this morning revealed the following casualties:

THE DEAD

SULLIVAN, HENRY, a ringleader of the insurrection, a prisoner serving a 21-year "stretch." Shot down by troopers while attempting to escape.

TUCHOLDER, ALEXANDER, a lifer, who acted as spokesman for the rebels. Shot and killed.

STEFANEK, LUKE J., prisoner serving 10-year sentence. Shot and killed.

PAWLAK, STEVE, lifer, who was recaptured after the Auburn outbreak last July. Shot and killed.

DIANCRASI, JAMES, prisoner serving 15-year sentence. Shot and killed.

PAVESI, ERNEST, prisoner serving 40-year sentence. Shot and killed.

Chicago's County Workers Facing Payless Holidays

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—If 4,000 Cook county employees neglected to do their Christmas shopping early, they may not do it at all, for the prospects of getting paid this month looked very dismal today.

Before the county workers can be paid, President A. J. Germak of the county board said, it will be necessary to sell tax anticipation warrants based on the 1930 budget. Germak does not believe the budget can be passed in sufficient time to meet the payroll.

NO BRASS RAIL, NO BAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—One thing seems quite essential for a bar, John Rossi was in Brooklyn Federal Court.

The prosecutor said his establishment was a speakeasy, since it had a bar. The defense attorney said it had no bar, merely a counter. Judge Byers inquired if there was a brass rail. There wasn't.

"Then we'll call it a counter," he ruled.

LEAK REVEALS ESCAPE PLOT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Six desperate prisoners are being held in solitary confinement today after a leaking water pipe last night betrayed a plot by which the men planned to fight their way out of the city jail here.

While investigating the leak, accidentally caused in their cell by one of the prisoners, a guard discovered five murderous bludgeons fashioned from sash weights.

The prisoners all are facing felony charges. One, Robert Stanley, arrested on suspicion of burglary and forgery, is said to have escaped several times from the prison farm near Houston, Tex. Police believe that he was the ringleader.

Legion to Dedicate Memorial Bridge

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Bridge, which is now under construction in this city, will be dedicated August 22 of next year, it was announced by Adj. Gen. Frank D. Beary. The structure will cost approximately $4,000,000.

The announcement followed a suggestion of Gov. Fisher to set the time during the annual American Legion convention, which will be held here August 21, 22 and 23.

VISITORS ELATE DOLL LADY

true friends among the children of this big city. I am going to be here a long time. Already I have personally talked to hundreds of little girls and their mothers, and I have yet to find a child whose eyes did not open with excited astonishment when that child clasped my big, marvelous doll on her shoulder and heard it actually sing and recite with a voice that is really human.

During the few days I have been in Pittsburgh, I have had the pleasure of seeing more really pretty little girls than I have seen in any other city in the United States, and one little girl that had particularly struck my fancy as a rare type of beauty came to me today, radiant with smiles, because she had completed the simple little task I had given her and was consequently entitled to her dolly. She is the golden haired daughter, radiant with gorgeous flowing curls, of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Eberhart, 500 Beltzhoover avenue. Her name is Jeanne. I gave her the wonder doll and tonight she is going to New York City with her mother and she won't leave the dolly behind.

Day after day the crowds get larger and larger at my receptions in the foyer of the Davis Theater, Smithfield street, and at 135 Sixth street (Roosevelt Hotel)—my two convenient downtown headquarters. As I said before, I hope to see all of my darling girl friends before Christmas.

So ask your mamma to bring you in as soon as possible to play with my beautiful dollies and hear them actually recite and sing and see them walk. I know you'll be amazed and that you'll make up your mind to do just what I ask you to do to get one for your very own. And when you come in, be sure to register your name and address as a member of the National Doll Club and I'll be glad to send you a membership card that will entitle you to participate in all the doll parties I am going to give in Pittsburgh. Hope I'll see you today or tomorrow!

O, I almost forgot to tell you that I am going to Homestead tomorrow afternoon and will also be there all day Saturday.

I've had a lot of lovely letters from little Homestead girls and they all seem very anxious to have a talk with me and see my beautiful dolls.

So I have arranged to be at G. McConegly's stationery store, 323 East Eighth street, tomorrow afternoon from 2 until 5:30 o'clock and all day Saturday—from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m.

This may be my only visit to Homestead so be sure to come in and meet me tomorrow or Saturday. I'll tell you how to get one of these marvelous dolls without a penny of cost to you.

Pope Pius to Issue New Year Encyclical

ROME, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The Vatican City correspondent of Tevere today said Pope Pius would issue an encyclical on New Years Day, the first since signing of the Lateran treaties establishing peace between the Holy See and the Quirnal.

The correspondent said the encyclical would not be controversial but would be a "document of benevolence and heartfelt thanksgiving."

2 HELD IN FILM FIRE TRAGEDY

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Following hours of questioning by Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, John C. Flynn, vice president of the Pathe Film Company, and Henry Dalley, production manager, were arrested early today on charges growing out of the destructive fire which swept the Pathe Manhattan film studio here costing the lives of 10.

Flynn and Dalley were booked at the police station on charges of violating Section 1052 of the Criminal Code. This involves manslaughter in the second degree on the grounds of culpable negligence and storing dangerous explosives. They were admitted to bail of $15,000 each.

The police said that between 50,000 and 100,000 feet of film was stored by the company in a room that was not fireproof, when under the law they were not allowed to keep more than 5,000 feet in such a room.

Commissioner Whalen, who joined the investigation of the fire last night, said that Mayor Walker would probably sit in as an investigating magistrate in the case and order a thorough investigation into the storage of films by various companies throughout the city.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Dec. 12.—(A.P.)—President Mustapha Kemal came to this city today to receive L. M. Karakhan, representing the commissariat for foreign affairs in Moscow.

It was the first time that the president has so honored a foreign visitor, usually waiting at Angora for visitors to come to him.

Karakhan will go to Angora tonight to negotiate a new Turco-Soviet friendship pact.

Cold Forces Curtis Home From Office

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Vice President Curtis was forced to go home from the Capitol today because of a severe cold which has bothered him several days. At his office this morning he was advised to return home and rest.

BRITISH FLOOD PERIL GROWS

LONDON, Dec. 12. — (AP.) — South and West Britain's flooded rivers continued to rise today, inundating considerable sections of farm land and urban sections and threatening vast further damage.

The Thames Valley, Somerset and parts of the Western Midland counties particularly were hard hit, although wherever there were even small streams flooded conditions prevailed.

Constantly fed by their small tributaries, now swollen to torrents, the Severn, Wye, Usk, Tone and Parrett rivers in the west and the Thames in the south poured millions of tons of water over miles of country.

Numerous roads were made impassable by the water which in some cases was two to five feet deep over the thoroughfares.

Many towns were unapproachable from various directions, with their streets swamped. Some railroads suspended service, although all the great main lines still functioned.

An unremitting watch was kept on the Thames in London, where high tides might cause repetition of previous disastrous floods in the metropolitan area. Arrangements were made to warn riverside dwellers instantly if danger appeared.

The lower grounds of Windsor Castle were submerged, as were also the grounds of historic Eaton College, across the river. The famous meadow of Runnymede, near Egham, where the Magna Charta was signed, became a big shallow lake.

Violence of the wind, which for nearly a week blew with from gale to hurricane force across the island and surrounding seas, abated somewhat, although an area of depression existed over Scotland which threatened a further blow there.

LONG LIFE PLAN ADVANCED

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Joint research by American Insurance Companies to prolong the life of the average citizen was urged today by Irenee du Pont, vice-chairman of the board of E. I du Pont de Nemours & Co., in an address at the opening sessions of the twenty-third annual convention of life insurance presidents.

"It is my sincere belief," he said, "that research by life insurance companies, had it started 20 years ago, when the du Pont Company had already started research it its laboratories, would have resulted in the lengthening of life of the average citizen of the United States by at least two years."

Du Pont, who is a director of the Equitable Life Insurance Society of the United States, said that life insurance executives, because the business had been largely mutualized, had been hesitant to spend funds held in trust for research.

"It would be well," he continued, "for you to band yourselves together and undertake joint research."

He cited the record of the Du Pont Company in reducing industrial fatalities in the explosive business to one-sixth of what was considered a good record 15 years ago.

Mast for Airships Planned On 85-Story Building

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The 85-story building to be erected on the site of the old Waldorf Astoria hotel by the Empire State, Inc., will be surmounted by a 200-foot mooring mast for dirigible airships, Alfred E. Smith, former governor announced. He is president of the corporation.

The plan, he said, is to make the building a terminal for dirigible passenger lines, which eventually may operate on regular schedules back and forth across the Atlantic, across the continent, to and from South America, and around the world.

The former governor will go to Washington to see Secretary of the Navy Adams, in the hope of enlisting the aid of Navy Department engineers.

'Done With Movie World' —Constance Talmadge

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Constance Talmadge, film star, is through with motion pictures forever, she announced tonight upon her arrival home from a honeymoon with Townsend Netcher, Chicago broker.

"I am not going to make any more pictures," Mrs. Netcher said, "from now on we will be Mr. and Mrs. Netcher, of Santa Monica, Cal. I am through with Hollywood."

The couple was married May 8, and at that time the actress intimated she might retire.

GRUNDY-VARE BATTLE IN '30 FORESEEN

Pinchot Also May Get Into Senate Race; Fisher's Statement Is Significant International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—Ominous clouds portending a political storm in the 1930 primaries gathered on the Pennsylvania horizon today in the wake of the nomination of Joseph R. Grundy as United States Senator to fill the seat made vacant last week by the summary ousting of William S. Vare.

News of the appointment came from the executive office of Governor John S. Fisher last night. In a sense it was no "news" whatever. Grundy's designation had been predicted ever since the Senate by the overwhelming vote of 58 to 22, wrote finis to the Vare senatorial ambitions.

Fisher Statement

But in announcing the appointment of his political godfather to the upper house of Congress, Gov. Fisher added a statement that provided political leaders with considerable food for thought. That statement was:

"This appointment is made with the distinct understanding that he (Grundy) is to be a candidate to succeed himself."

Vare already has hurled his hat into the arena with the statement that he intends to seek vindication of his hollow 1926 victory by carrying the issue to the voters again in the 1930 primaries.

Will it be Vare versus Grundy? Or will it be Vare versus Grundy versus Pinchot?

Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, who recently returned from a South Sea voyage in the pink of physical condition, has not as yet made known his position as regards the 1930 primaries, but he is no small factor in the thoughts of administration leaders today.

"Uncle Joe" Grundy, as he is familiarly known to his followers and friends, began his political career as a 21-year-old who was not content with the ordinary existence of a business life.

Attracted to politics, Grundy confined his activities at first to his home county of Bucks. He entered state politics at the time imposition of a tax on manufacturers was first proposed in the State Legislature, a quarter of a century ago.

On several occasions he could have held public offices of importance. With the exception of a position in the council of his home town of Brristol, Bucks County, he always declined these opportunities. For this reason many of his close associates were surprised when he accepted the appointment to the Senate.

He was a well-known figure at Harrisburg, especially during the sessions of the Legislature. His chief aim at past sessions has been to defeat all attempts to tax the capital stock of Pennsylvania manufacturing corporations. To date he has been successful, although during the Sproul and Pinchot administrations strenuous efforts were made by the group headed by the late W. Harry Baker, to impose such a levy.

For High Tariff

At Washington, too, he has been a well-known visitor, especially during the past few months. There his aim was for a higher tariff to protect Pennsylvania industries. He has not been known to apologize for the charges of "lobbying."

"Honest lobbying is the inalienable right of the American citizen whether he represents capital or labor," he wrote in "The Manufacturers' Side of Certain Proposed Legislation," published in 1917.

His attitude before the Senate committee seemed to show that he has not changed his mind in that time.

Joseph R. Grundy comes of Quaker stock and the story is told in Harrisburg that when he loses his temper, which is rarely, he uses "thee" and "thou." He was born in Camden, N. J., January 13, 1863, and was educated in the Philadelphia public schools and at Swarthmore college.

His first position was in the woolen mills of his father, William H. Grundy, at Bristol. He is now president of the mills, of the Farmers' National Bank of Bucks County, and of the Bristol Trust Company. He owns a controlling interest in the Doylestown Intelligencer and the Bristol Courier.

Grundy has been a delegate to a number of Republican national conventions, supporting Warren G. Harding in 1920, Calvin Coolidge at Cleveland in 1924, and Herbert Hoover at Kansas City in 1928. In 1920 he was reported to have been active in getting the Pennsylvania delegation away from the complimentary vote to former Gov. William C. Sproul.

One of the high lights of Grundy's political career came during the legislative session of 1921. A battle between the Sproul and Grundy forces, which smouldered until late in the session, broke into the open in a vicious battle over Sproul's proposal to create a Department of Welfare and the bill abolishing the non-partisan election of judges. The fight resulted in a "rump" session, at which Speaker Robert H. Spangler, a Grundy supporter, was deposed.

Supported Pinchot

Some political observers maintain that the election of Gifford Pinchot as Governor can be traced to the enmities aroused during the "rump" session. After that session Grundy began a campaign to have John S. Fisher, then banking commissioner, slated by the Republican organization. After a long series of hectic conferences he failed and the honor was given George E. Alter, then Attorney General. Grundy then threw his support to Pinchot, who won the fight.

At the same time Grundy did not lose sight of his drive for Fisher. In 1926 he joined with the Mellon interests in support of Fisher for Governor, and Pepper for senator, opposed by the Vare-Beidleman ticket. The result of that $3,000,000 primary is too well known to need re-telling.

Called in Probe

Grundy was called before the Reed committee that investigated the primary. With the frankness for which he has become noted in Harrisburg and Washington he told of the money he had contributed or had raised. His chief interest, he testified, was in the election of Gov. Fisher. During the 1928 Hoover-Smith battle he was active in gathering funds for the Hoover campaign.

Even in a presidential year Grundy found time to devote to state affairs. The people were voting on large bond issues for highways, armories, forests and welfare purposes. Grundy and his associates organized a committee that spread advertisements through the state charging that passage of the bond issues would mean higher taxes. They were defeated.

CLOSE-UP VIEW OF GRUNDY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Joseph R. Grundy, senator-designate from Pennsylvania, and one of the most talked of men in or out of the Senate, comes to his first national office wearing easily the 66 years to which he admits readily and almost with a touch of pride.

Slightly above medium height, the long-time state and national political figure is stockily built, with broad shoulders, a deep chest, but with a waistline that might incite the envy of many a man years his junior.

Mr. Grundy is fastidious in his dress, wearing mostly dark suits, with striped shirts and collars to match. He has two oddities of attire—old-fashioned high-topped button shoes and a leather band with a large buckle doing duty as a watch chain, extending from a vest button hole across to the lower pocket on the left side of the vest.

The senator-designate is a good story teller and has a fund of anecdotes upon which he readily draws to illustrate points in even a rather casual conversation with his friends.

GRUNDY OUSTER RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The text of the resolution written by Senator Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota, which, if adopted, would deny Joseph R. Grundy a seat in the Senate, follows:

"Whereas, on the sixth day of December, 1929, the Senate denied a seat in the United States Senate to William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, by a direct vote, and

"Whereas, said Senate resolution, which declared the ground upon which the Senate denied the said Vare a seat in the United States Senate, declared that a Senate investigation led to findings of evidence, without substantial dispute, showing that at the primary election at which William S. Vare was alleged to have been nominated as a candidate for the United States Senate there was spent in behalf of the said Vare in said primary election by the said Vare and his friends, a sum of money exceeding $785,000; and

"EXCESSIVE AMOUNT"

"Whereas, It was the expenditure of this excessive amount of money and the manner of its expenditure which caused the Senate to deny a seat in the United States Senate to the said Vare; and

"Whereas, The Governor of the state of Pennsylvania, John S. Fisher, notified of the vacancy in the United States Senate occasioned by the denial of a seat to the said William S. Vare, has appointed to said vacancy one Joseph Grundy whose credentials are now before the Senate, and

"Whereas, In the same campaign in which William S. Vare and his ticket were found by a Senate investigating committee to have expended $785,000 to win nomination, another ticket in opposition to the nomination of the said Vare and in support of the nomination of the said Fisher for Governor of Pennsylvania, expended $1,804,979, or nearly three times as much, according to the findings of the same investigating committee; and

"HARMFUL SENATE"

Whereas, of the aforesaid sum of $1,804,979, $400,000 was raised and contributed by Joseph Grundy, the aforesaid appointee of Gov. Fisher; and

"Whereas, the expenditure of such large sums of money to secure nomination is contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the dignity and honor of the Senate, dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government and destructive of the value and merit of an election climaxing a campaign of such expenditures; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the aforesaid Joseph Grundy be, and he is hereby, denied a seat in the United States Senate."

PIANO COURSE SCORES HIT

Announcement of the plan to give Pittsburghers over eight years of age a musical education has brought stacks of letters to the Sun-Telegraph.

Parents of boys and girls, old men and young men, grown women, are all interested. The Wurlitzer Foundation Music School's system of preliminary musical education has been highly praised everywhere.

The average child can learn to play the piano. This is true for two reasons—the nature of the child and the nature of the instrument. Everyone has some inherent musical talent—that finds an outlet through the piano. There is no problem of making a "tone." The tone is there when the key is struck.

PROBLEM IS SIMPLE

The problem is first one of rythm, then of striking the right key. Any child can learn that.

The Wurlitzer Foundation uses music as a teacher. The pupil strikes the keys in the order in which they come in a simple, but charming, melody.

It is not necessary for the Wurlitzer pupil to have a piano. A keyboard is provided upon which they learn their scales and then their melodies, in weekly lessons. The lessons will last for three months. At the end of that time every pupil should know as much as the pupil with two years of instruction by old-time methods.

LESSONS ARE FREE

The Sun-Telegraph is bringing these lessons free to everyone who wants them. In doing this, it is hoped that a musical education will be made possible for many who would not otherwise have it. Past experience in other cities shows that this method encourages the student. When the graduates of the preliminary school are turned over to other music teachers they are far more likely to continue their lessons than they were under the old methods.

To obtain a certificate to this course, one must secure only three new 26-week subscriptions to the Sun-Telegraph. After obtaining the first of these, the pupil may enroll and be assigned to class. He will then be given until the day of his first class to obtain the others.

Many boys and girls, men and women, have started the lessons already. Fill in the coupon and begin at once. The only cost to you is a charge of $2.50 for your music and materials. They then become your own.

NEW DRY FIGHT IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Congress was in the throes of a new and unusual row over prohibition today as the result of the announcement of Representative John S. Schafer (Rep.), of Wisconsin, that he will undertake to prove liquor law violations are rampant in the original dry states of the West and South.

Feeling that the reputations of their states for law enforcement are being assailed by the militant Wisconsin, House dry leaders from the West and South flared back today and prepared to meet him on his own ground.

Schafer declared that months of investigation has revealed that many of the so-called "dry states" are wetter than the so-called "wet states."

WILL PRESENT DATA

"I have assembled official data and statistics obtained from every state in the Union, which I will present to the Congress and the American people," said Schafer.

"These figures indicate an almost unbelievable increase in arrests for intoxication, for driving automobiles while intoxicated, for manufacture and sale of liquor. They clearly show the prohibition law has failed. They will show remarkable increases in violations of the law in the so-called dry states, whose representatives in Congress are so intent upon drying up the big cities of the country."

Two representatives of arid states—Representative Homer Hoch (Rep.), of Kansas, and Representative Charles L. Abernathy (Dem.), of North Carolina—replied to Schafer's broad accusations. Both Hoch and Abernathy claim they cannot be classed as fanatics on the subject, but assert prohibition has benefited their states.

Texan Lambasts Grundy In Lauding Red River

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—For a fiery 10 minutes, A. W. Acheson—Civil War veteran from Denison, Texas—kept the Rivers and Harbors Congress on edge today by lambasting the utterances made before the Senate lobby committee by Joseph R. Grundy, of Pennsylvania.

The 88-year-old delegate first was given five minutes, but the convention yelled for him to go on when the time expired.

"I saw a map made according to the way Grundy thought the United States ought to be run," shouted Acheson.

"Pennsylvania was bloated up like a horse with a hay belly. The Red River Valley of Texas is worth millions of dollars more in products than the whole state of Pennsylvania.

"Cottonseed alone in the Red River Valley is worth $10,000,000 more than all the iron ore in the state of Pennsylvania. We ain't playing second fiddle to anything in the United States."

Acheson scored Congress for low appropriations to his section, making comparisons with other appropriations, including those for the Virgin Islands.

"Why, all the imports of the Virgin Islands are not as rich as the jackass crop in the Red River Valley," he said.

BAKER, RANCHER SEEK EARLDOM

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—A long legal battle for the Earldom of Egmont reached an important stage here when a high legal functionary, known as a master of the Supreme Court, sat in chambers to hear the case of those claiming the title.

One of the claimants is Frederick Joseph Trevelyan Perceval, known as the Canadian Rancher Earl, who spent 28 years on a ranch in Alberta. Perceval did not appear in court, but was represented by a solicitor.

Other claimants to the title and its accompanying estates are James William Perceval, 66, a baker of Hornsey, North London, and Robert Pownall, an old-age pensioner living at Haydock, near Liverpool. Both appeared in court and shook hands when they met.

The rival claims of Frederick Perceval and James William Perceval, were argued in the chancery court last June, after the Canadian ranchman had visited his estate in March and received a welcome from the employes and retainers.

Counsel for the trustees of the estate said that the title might have to be decided by the House of Lords. The Canadian has not received any money from the estate.

SUSPECT FACES ALTOONA TRIAL

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—In jail here after he voluntarily surrendered in Arizona to be returned to Wisconsin to face forgery charges, Joseph Mascia faced charges of robbery and shooting with intent to kill at Altoona, Pa., according to police. He is in jail here under $2,000 bond on the forgery charge. Mascia said he would waive extradition to Pennsylvania.

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Joseph Mascia, held in Sheboygan, Wis., on forgery charges, is wanted here in connection with an attack on Charles Hesser, Altoona merchant, in September, 1928. Hesser was robbed of $400, the day's receipts of his produce market.

The Blair County grand jury has indicted Mascia on charges of robbery and shooting with intent to kill. If Mascia can be returned here in time, he will be tried in January, together with his alleged accomplice, Russell Labue. Labue was arrested several months ago in Bridgeport, Conn., and is held for trial under bail.

LOBBY INQUIRY WILL INCLUDE POWER TRUST

Senator Caraway Proposes Quiz Into Sums Charged To Construction Projects

By M. L. RAMSAY.
United Press Staff

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—Power lobbying for which the Alabama Power Company paid approximately $68,000—and sought to charge it up to ratepayers and taxpayers—will be investigated by the Senate lobby committee, Chairman T. H. Caraway has announced.

The public disclosure of this lobbying activity made exclusively by Universal Service in a series of three articles this week, will be followed up by an inquiry into its nature and purposes, Caraway said.

He indicated also that light will be sought on any additional lobby payments, beyond the scope of the investigation made by the Alabama Public Service Commission and the accountancy division of the Federal Power Commission.

These points will be taken up in connection with the coming investigation of the Muscle Shoals lobby.

ACTIVE IN LOBBY

C. A. Bonsey, who was revealed as having received $27,268 from the power company, ostensibly for handling a hydro-electric license application, as shown in Federal Trade Commission records to have been a leading figure for years in the Muscle Shoals lobbying and propaganda.

"These lobbying activities and the matter of Muscle Shoals generally, will be thoroughly investigated," Caraway said. "As soon as we are through with the sugar lobby we are going into the whole question of Muscle Shoals and the connection of the Alabama Power Company with it.

"I am grateful to Universal Service for calling our attention to these facts and for bringing them to the attention of the country."

Other facts developed by the Alabama and federal commissions, and given wide publicity by Universal Service, will be followed by the Federal Trade Commission. They fall within the utility financing phase of the commission's investigation, which is expected to reach the stage of public hearings this winter.

The points understood to interest the commission primarily are the concealment and padding of lobbying and other expenses by charging them to a specially created construction company, supposed immune from regulation, and the hundred to one increase of capitalization in a single early merger.

"WATER" ALLEGED

The latter resulted in adding nearly $10,000,000 of stock alleged "water," to the amount claimed as construction cost of hydro-electric projects.

Meanwhile the Trade Commission is investigating the power company machinery used in the attempts to break down the accounting system of the Federal Power Commission, which has blocked approval of these and hundreds of similar claims. A key to these is seen by officials in the financing of the Alabama company's projects, which admittedly was to be a precedent for all other projects over the country.

The power companies' aims were set forth in a recently discovered secret memorandum, whose authorship the commission is trying to trace. Evidence has been obtained that a representative of the Electric Bond and Share Company attempted last summer to have much of the Power Commission's accounting transferred to an outside agency.

Subsequently F. E. Bonner, the Power Commission's executive secretary, sponsored such a transfer. The commission decided to bring in additional accountants from other departments, but under conditions that commissioners say will safeguard the present accounting system.

BUILDER DROPS DEAD IN OFFICE

John H. Fetterman, 50, of 2957 Belrose avenue, Dormont, head of the J. H. Fetterman Engineering and Construction Company, dropped dead in his office in the Park Building late yesterday.

He was a son of the late Judge Charles F. Fetterman, of the Allegheny County Court, and had been in business as a construction operator in Pittsburgh 12 years. Formerly he was connected with the James L. Stewart Company.

Mr. Fetterman was a member of the Union Club, Keystone Athletic Club, Duquesne Club, Dormont Lodge No. 684, F. & A. M., Tancred Commandery, Knights Templar; the Almas Club of Dormont, and a director of the Builders' Exchange.

He had the contract for moving the Allegheny County morgue from Diamond street to its Fourth avenue site. His death recalled the sudden death of William J. Payne, 60, of Beltzhoover avenue, who had the contract for moving the old South School from the site now occupied by the morgue. His death occurred a short time after the building was moved.

Besides his widow he leaves two sons, James and Jacob Fetterman; a brother, Dr. J. M. Fetterman, of Pittsburgh, and two sisters, Mrs. Albert B. Smith, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. T. C. McCleary, of Braddock.

Grundy Assailed in Senate

sion in the Grundy industry" try."

Reed presented Grundy's credentials and asked that they be read. Senator Nye then offered his resolution to bar Grundy from a seat.

CURTIS ABSENT

In the absence of Vice President Curtis Senator Moses, (Rep.) of New Hampshire, the president pro tempore of the Senate, was presiding.

After the reading of the resolution, Nye said:

"I have no misgivings of my ability to overturn the majority of minds here. I have no desire for delay.

"I am seeking nothing more than an opportunity to get a vote and substantiate my vote in the Vare case."

Nye said "we are merely making public office things to be offered for sale on the public auction block," adding:

"Instead of an election in Pennsylvania in 1926 there was an auction sale."

Senator William E. Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, was sitting next to Grundy when he arrived. He left the chamber for a time during the discussion. On the other side of Grundy sat Reed. Norris sat down behind them in the chair of Senator Henrik Shipstead (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, who was absent.

Nye asked that his resolution and Grundy's credentials be referred to the elections committee.

GRUNDY HEARS NYE

His hands folded over his dark blue suit, Grundy's jaw protruded over a blue shirt and blue tie. He stared ahead as Nye spoke against his right to membership.

The crowded chamber, circled by a large host of House members, listened quietly and almost tensely to the youthful looking Nye as he read his speech.

After the North Dakotan had finished, Senator Bronson Cutting (Rep.), New Mexico, spoke in opposition to the newly appointed senator.

"If Vare is not the senator from Pennsylvania," asked Cutting, "then on what theory can the Senate hold that Mr. Fisher is the governor of Pennsylvania. He was nominated at the same time as Vare and he spent three times as much as Vare.

"I am in sympathy with the Senator from North Dakota. I sometimes thank God that I am not a constitutional lawyer."

"In a few minutes," he added, "we are going to administer the oath to the man who has been described as the arch lobbyist in the United States."

"We will serve with him on committees and break bread with him," he added. "Many of us, I am sure, will succumb to his undoubted personal charm.

"This man has boasted that throughout his whole public career he has collected campaign funds."

Senator A. W. Barkley, of Kentucky, raised the first voice from the Democratic side against seating Grundy, although Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, sought to obtain recognition simultaneously.

The Kentuckyian said Grundy had raised $400,000 for the ticket on which appear the name of the governor who now gives Grundy his appointment. Referring to Grundy's testimony before the lobby committee, Barkley asserted Grundy was "knocking at the door of this body" to see to it that those who have contributed to Republican campaign funds get their returns.

"I would not say that the governor of Pennsylvania stands in the same shoes as the Legislature of Illinois, which was listed in the Lorimer case," Barkley shouted.

CITES SMITH

"I would not intimate that the Governor of Pennsylvania stands in the same shoes as the people of Pennsylvania who were bribed in the 1926 election.

"I would not say that the Governor of Pennsylvania stands in the same shoes as Frank L. Smith, who accepted money from the Insull Power interests in his campaign for the Senate.

"But I do say that the Governor of Pennsylvania, as a beneficiary of these campaign funds, stands in the same shoes as these elements on account of which we have denied seats to other men."

Senator Key Pittman (Dem.), of Nevada, interposed that "the people of Pennsylvania have elected Mr. Fisher Governor and he holds office without contest," adding:

"The Governor has a right to appoint and he has appointed. No one can say that Mr. Grundy, who testified so frankly, is immoral. I think he has an honest mind. It may be a perverted mind. But the states have a right to elect and select their own officers."

Senator Claude Swanson (Dem.), of Virginia, also voiced complaint against the attacks being made on the Pennsylvania appointee.

"I deny the right of the federal government," he shouted "to investigate or to dictate the election of a state. I am not willing to have it established that the federal government can go behind the elections of a state. It is dangerous."

To clarify the parliamentary situation, Senator Reed moved that the Nye resolution be referred to the Elections Committee. A decision on that was in order before Grundy could receive the oath. Nye said he did not oppose a reference to committee.

Thereupon Senator Samuel Shortridge (Rep.), of California, chairman of the Elections Committee, asked "for what purpose is this resolution referred to the committee?" and the Senate laughed.

'INSULT'—WHEELER

Senator Wheeler, defended the right of Gov. Fisher to appoint Grundy but he added, "The appointment is an insult to the Senate and the people of the West."

Any doubt over the seating of Grundy seemed dispelled when Senator Joe T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader argued that the Senate has "neither the right nor the power to question the credentials of the appointee of the governor of Pennsylvania."

"The Senate never has had and never will have the right to determine the election of a governor," he shouted. "Senators say they thank God that they are not constitutional lawyers. Why the distinction is so clear it doesn't need a constitutional lawyer to decide it.

RIGHT DISPUTED

"This question just resolves itself into whether the Senate intends to deny to the State of Pennsylvania equal representation during the term of the present Governor of Pennsylvania. The Senate has not the right to determine the election of that Governor. The only way this vacancy can be filled is by appointment of the Governor. The only way an election to fill the vacancy permanently can be held is by proclamation of the Governor."

Senator Borah suggested if the resolution were referred to committee it would amount to authorization for the committee to inquire into a Pennsylvania state election.

Robinson reached the same conclusion and proposed that the Senate vote directly on the resolution at once.

MODIFIES RESOLUTION

Nye then modified his resolution to make it read that Grundy "is declared to be not entitled to retain his seat in the Senate."

Senator Reed withdrawing his motion to refer the Nye resolution to committee, Senator Walsh, of Montana, renewed it. The Walsh motion was then the one pending before the Senate.

Senator Thomas D. Schall (Rep.), of Minnesota, chided the Senate at some length for barring Vare and seating Grundy. He told his colleagues they had "jumped from the frying pan into the fire."

"We might have seated the man whom the people of Pennsylvania elected and sent here instead of seating a man sent here who spent three times as much as Vare," said Schall. "It was our excuse the other day when we barred him that Vare spent too much, and certainly the fact that the man who furnished the money to the Governor of Pennsylvania, who was elected on the same ticket with Vare and who spent three times as much as Vare in the same primary, should receive some consideration."

Schall said he liked Grundy "because he seems to have the intestines to say what he thinks and believes."

Senator Norris said that Grundy's appointment was "a stench in the nostrils of the people."

"But there is nothing in the law preventing the Governor of Pennsylvania making a damn fool of himself if he want to," he said.

Norris pleaded that the resolution be referred to the committee when Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, indicated he would make a motion to table the Nye resolution, which would shut off debate.

In the party accompanying Grundy to the capitol were Brig. Gen. Edward Martin, Pennsylvania State Treasurer and Chairman of the Republican State Committee; Mrs. Gertrude Stauffer, Vice Chairman of the State Committee; Boyd Hamilton, Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Senate; Frank J. Gorman, Gov. Fisher's secretary; Warren S. Doane, one of Grundy's assistants, and several other friends.

All went to the Senate gallery.

'Grundy Is the Man For Tariff Job,' Fisher

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Here's what Gov. Fisher thinks of his appointment of Joseph R. Grundy as the junior senator from Pennsylvania:

"There is no question before the Senate of more importance to Pennsylvania at the present time than the tariff. The person most able to carry on the fight for protection of the state's industries is Mr. Grundy."

The Governor made the statement upon his arrival at the Capitol this morning. On his desk was a pile of congratulatory telegrams on his choice of Mr. Grundy.

GRID STAR, WIFE IN DOPE RAID

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Richard Brengartner, 31, said to be the scion of a wealthy Ohio family, former Western Reserve University football star and a prominent yachtsman of Sandusky, O., was seized with his pretty 23-year-old wife and another man here today in an alleged narcotic raid.

Mrs. Louise Brengartner and Ralph Wilkins, taken with the yachtsman, were charged with disorderly conduct.

Although detectives said they found only a hypodermic needle in the apartment, they stated the place was a distributing center for addicts and that the three were also addicts.

Brengartner told police, detectives stated, he obtained his drugs from a man he did not know by name and whom he met on the streets.

Chauffeur Burned In Garage Blaze

A Negro chauffeur was critically burned when fire destroyed the one-story frame garage of L. S. Affelder, 5825 Bartlett street, Squirrel Hill, this afternoon. The victim was working on a car in the building when flames broke out. In an effort to extinguish them the man's clothing was ignited and he fled to the street in flames. A passing car rushed him to a hospital. Damage was estimated by Battalion Chief Fred F. Beckett at $3,500.

Father Seeks Son After Visit Here

The Missing Persons Bureau today was asked to seek Clifford R. Letzkus, 36, employed at the Bureau of Standards, Chicago, who came on to spend Thanksgiving with his father, W. J. Letzkus, of Pittock, near Library. He left his father's home in an automobile November 30 en route to Washington.

Caught Under Slag, Workman Crushed

Caught beneath tons of slag on a railroad siding at Lincoln Place today, John W. Smith, 40, of May street, McKeesport, was instantly killed, according to a report to the Allegheny County coroner. Smith was an employe of the Duquesne Slag Company.

DRYS DEFEATED IN SCOTLAND

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Scotland will be "wetter" as a result of the polling on local option in several areas. The results so far show eight victories for license.

The Pollockshaw's ward of Glasgow, a residential suburb and usually a safe retreat for the temperance party, voted for sale of liquor and the limitations now will be repealed after being in operation for nine years. The "wets" also scored in Kilmarnock and Newmilns, Ayrshire.

The picturesque village of Culle, in the north of Scotland, voted for continuation of "no license." The "wets" again carried the day in four wards on the banks of the Clyde.

SEEK PADLOCK FOR TAVERN

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 12.—District Attorney Warren Burchinal was prepared to go into County Court today and ask for a padlock on the Henry Clay Tavern, at West Alexander, near here, where, it is alleged, violations of state liquor laws have been reported. The place, a popular meeting point for many persons from Washington and other cities in this district, has been raided twice during the last five years, police records show. Burchinal will charge owners of the tavern with violations of the Armstrong-Snyder act of 1923.

Ortiz Rubio Settles Strife In Mexico

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Satisfactory solution of strife within the National Revolutionary party, the ruling party in Mexico, was accomplished last night by President-elect Ortiz Rubio by telephone from his hotel here with the party's headquarters in Mexico City.

Under the agreement Gonzales Santos becomes president of the permanent commission of Congress and Frederico Medrano chairman of the ways and means committee.

SMUTS TO SAIL FOR U. S. SOON

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, the noted South African statesman who is at present in England, will sail December 24 for a visit in the United States where he will be the guest of the League of Nations Union.

He will be accompanied by Philip Kerr, Rhodes trustee, and be his private secretary, Miss Richardson.

The program of Gen. Smuts' visit has not yet been finally arranged, but he will address a meeting in New York January 5, in connection with the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the League of Nations. Later he will visit Washington and will return to England in January.

Winners of Harmon Prizes Announced

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The Harmon Foundation and the Social Work Publicity Council, sponsors of a nation-wide social essay contest, announced that Dr. Eva Reed, chief of the phychiatric clinic, of the University of California Society for Mental Hygiene, had been awarded first prize of $300.

The title of her article was "Fighting Through." The second award of $200 went to Harold J. Matthews, secretary of the State Conference of Social Work, Columbia, Mo., for his article on "Are Old People Human?" The story of "Lithuanian Steve" written by Lillian M. Johnson, director of Child Welfare in Nebraska, received the third award of $50.

Accuses Husband As Baby Learns To Smoke

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—In a suit for divorce filed here, Mrs. Rose Gordon, of Omaha, charges that her husband, Fred Gordon, taught their son to smoke cigarets when he was 1 year old, and that the child now is a regular cigaret smoker at the age of 3. Mrs. Gordon also charges that her husband's relatives gave the child a pipe to smoke.

FIRM TO ADD SIX MAIL SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP.)—Six new ships will be added to the American merchant marine by 1936 under an ocean mail contract signed by Postmaster General Brown with the American Export Steamship Corporation, which operates to Mediterranean ports.

The contract was a supplemental one and calls for an extension of present service to Black Sea ports. It will increase the amount received by the corporation from $1,194,307 to $2,616,316 and calls for the completion of two ships in 1931 and two more in 1932. The other two will be completed in 1935 and 1936. The contract also provides that the Postmaster General, if he sees fit and business requires it, can ask for the construction of another ship in 1937 and one in 1938.

The ships will have a speed of 14 knots and cost between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 each. Two of the vessels already are under construction in the yards of the New York Ship Building Corporation at Camden, N. J., and two more have been contracted for by the same company.

After signing the contract, the Postmaster General held a series of informal conferences with representatives of three American steamship companies which contemplate bidding for the ocean mail contracts decided upon recently by the Postoffice Department.

Kermit Roosevelt, president of the Roosevelt Steamship Company, which is contemplating a north Atlantic service from Baltimore and Hampton Roads, conferred with him.

None of those who saw the Postmaster General would discuss the conferences but it was understood that postal officials outlined to the steamship companies tentative drafts of the advertisements calling for bids on the different routes.

The export company is to extend its service under the supplemental contract to Odessa, Novorossiiski and Batoum.

SHIP MAIL LINE FAILS DIVIDEND

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Announcement by the directors of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company that the company had decided not to pay its half-yearly dividend on preferred stock and to pay no interim in common stock caused its shares to decline 2 points on the stock exchange.

Lord Kylsant, chairman, recently issued a statement saying that reports about the reconstruction of the Royal Mail Company were "absolutely without foundation."

Lord Kylsant told the directors today that "attacks on the company" had caused a heavy fall in the market value of shares. He said that although the profits of the company and its subsidiaries had amounted to £3,400,000 in 1928 and were expected to be the same this year, it was wise to withhold the dividend until auditors had made an investigation.

Pedestrian Struck By Auto May Die

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 12.—Struck by an automobile while walking along the William Penn Highway near Munday's Corner, Charles S. Runyon, 63, of Plainfield, N. J., was probably fatally injured. He suffered fractures of the skull and leg, and severe head lacerations. Michael Resnick, of Pittsburgh, was the driver of the car.

Former Waynesburg Resident Is Dead

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 12.—Word was received here of the death in Detroit of Thomas Gladden, former Waynesburg resident, following a long illness. Gladden had been engaged in the insurance business. He is a son of Ellsworth Gladden, former Waynesburg police chief, now a resident of Detroit.

Family Threatened As Building Burns

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 12.—Fire destroyed a combination dwelling and service station owned by William Filbey on the Waynesburg-Washington Highway, with a loss of $5,000. Members of the Filbey family had a narrow escape as the fire broke out while they were sleeping. The Waynesburg Volunteer Fire Department answered the alarm.

Tulloch, Writer, Held In Divorcee's Death

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Laurence Tulloch, 26-year-old actor and writer, was held for the Superior Court on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the killing of Mrs. Gertrude Lavine, attractive young divorcee, in his cottage in the Telegraph Hill artists' colony, three weeks ago.

New Brighton Man Injured by Auto

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Dec. 12.—Run down by an automobile, driven by S. H. Riley, Butler, Pa., Samuel Commella, 35, New Brighton, is in the hospital with a fracture of the leg and cuts and bruises about the body, police report. Riley was released on his own recognizance.

Balky Cash Box Foils Two Robbers

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 12.—A balky cash register at the Sutton Gasoline Station frustrated an attempted robbery. Two armed men confronted W. D. Logan, the attendant, and forced him into a rest room and locked the door. They failed to open the register and drove away.

ROYALTY WILL SEE WEDDING

BRUSSELS, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Members of royalty from most of the courts of Europe will attend the wedding, in Rome, January 8, of Princess Marie Jose, of Belgium, to Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy.

The Prince of Wales, King Alfonso, of Spain, and the King and Queen of Sweden will be among the guests at the most important royal union since the wedding of Crown Prince Leopold to Princess Astrid, of Sweden.

The royal Italian train will be sent to Brussels to carry the bride and the members of the Belgian royal party to Rome. The King and Queen of the Belgians, the Duke and Duchess of Brabant, and Prince Charles will all be accompanied by their suites. The young princess will be attended by her maid of honor.

The wedding is a family affair, and representatives of the government will not be present. A program similar to that adopted at the wedding of Prince Leopold and Princess Astrid will be followed.

NEON SIGN HEAD ARRESTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—William T. Hollingsworth, 62, wealthy president of the Claude Neon Lights Corporation, was arrested, accused of causing a $5,000,000 slump in the value of Federal Neon System stock by inserting a false and misleading advertisement in New York and other cities throughout the country.

The complainant was Charles V. Bob, millionaire aviation enthusiast and president of the Broadway brokerage firm bearing his name, which was preparing a $10,000,000 issue of stock of the Federal Neon Company.

In Tombs Court, where Hollingsworth was arraigned and released in bail for a hearing next Wednesday, an attorney for Bob said that the advertisement depreciated the value of the Federal Neon System stock by $5,000,000, forcing withdrawal of the $10,000,000 issue, which was to have been placed on the New York and Chicago stock exchanges the day the advertisement appeared, November 26.

Dennison Plant Being Remodeled

DENNISON, O., Dec. 12.—Switches are being constructed at the Dennison Foundry and Machine Company plant, preparatory to its conversion into a shop for tool and equipment repair by the new owners, Ferguson-Edmondson Company, Pittsburgh, which will close similar plants at Sandusky and Toledo.

Fall Down Stairs Fatal to Aged Man

UHRICHSVILLE, O., Dec. 12.—Injuries suffered last Sunday afternoon, proved fatal to Allen Newman, 83. He fell down stairs at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. T. Bliss, Scio.

Miss Susan Burke Home from Europe

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Miss Susan Burke, of Pittsburgh, returned from a prolonged vacation aboard the Cunard liner Laconia last evening. The Pittsburgh traveler was away more than six weeks paying visits to the principal continental countries.

Princess De Bourbon Dies in Paris Clinic

PARIS, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Princess Elvira de Bourbon died yesterday at a Paris clinic, at the age of 58. She was a daughter of the late Don Carlos and a sister of Don Jaime, head of the Spanish branch of the house of Bourbon. She had been in ill health for some time.

Columbus Knights Hold Anniversary

The fourth birthday of their boy welfare work will be celebrated by Pittsburgh Knights of Columbus, tonight at the Duquesne council home, Fifth and Bellefield avenues. Tonight's program will include a scout craft exhibition by a detail of scouts from Bellevue K. of C. troop, Thomas Rousseau, scoutmaster.

Steubenville Man Arrested at Somerset

SOMERSET, Pa., Dec. 12.—Al Mace, of Steubenville, O., arrested on charges of forgery and violating the liquor laws, is held in default of bail. He was arrested for issuing a bad check in payment for three automobile tires.

At CHRISTMAS, of all times, the BEST PLACE to SHOP

Making a Saturday out of a Friday

To induce those who are able to shop as conveniently Friday as Saturday to do so, we have concentrated on a number of our best Christmas values for tomorrow.

With only three Christmas Saturdays this December, as compared with the usual four, the two remaining Saturdays are destined to be extraordinarily busy days, because of the large number of people who have no alternative than to shop Saturdays. It is to both our own and public interest, therefore, to make this effort to divert as much as possible of Saturday's business to Friday at this season.

Two pages of highly seasonable offerings are presented for your consideration. Shop as early in the day as possible. Christmas Store Hours, 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

OLIVER NAMED BY RED CROSS

WASHINGTON Dec. 12.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge, who as President of the United States automatically was president of the American Red Cross, was chosen a vice president at the annual meeting of the central committee.

In making the choice, the by-laws of the organization were amended to provide for three such officers, and Chief Justice Taft and Robert W. DeForest, of New York, were re-elected.

All members of the central committee were reappointed by President Hoover, and few changes were made among the various officers of the organization.

Two vacancies on the board of incorporators were filled by the election of Augustus K. Oliver, of Pittsburgh, and Winthrop Murray Crane, of Dalton, Mass.

Coolidge Advances In Insurance Business

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Former President Coolidge has taken a higher seat in the business world.

Because Mr. Coolidge was the latest director elected to the New York Life Insurance Company, he took the last seat at the big round board of directors' table.

Hale Holden has been elected a director of the company, so Mr. Coolidge moved up one seat, relinquishing the last seat at the table to Holden.

Christmas Party By Literary Club

The Senior Literary Club, of Perry High School, will hold a Christmas party in the school gymnasium, next Wednesday night. Dancing and games will be the features.

MARRIAGE ENDS CHILD ROMANCE

The end of a schoolboy and schoolgirl romance which lasted through less than five months of married life was described by Mrs. Lucinda M. Myers, nurse and former school teacher, of Turtle Creek, to Judge James B. Drew in Common Pleas Court. She asked a divorce from Millard R. Meyers, of Turtle Creek, a clerk for the Westinghouse Company at Wilmerding, on the grounds of cruelty and indignities.

Mrs. Meyers, who is in her early twenties, declared that her husband threatened her life three weeks after their marriage on January 1 last. He called her names and otherwise abused her, she testified, and finally deserted her May 23. She has not seen him since. They had known each other from childhood and attended school together, she said.

PRODUCERS SUE ACTOR UNION

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Louis O. Macloon, and his wife, known professionally as Lillian Albertson, producers of legitimate stage plays and musical comedies, have filed suit in Federal Court for $100,000 damages and an injunction restraining Actors' Equity Association from alleged unfair tactics.

Frank Gillmore, president, and Paul Dullzell, secretary-treasurer of Equity, were named defendants with the Association.

Judge James Henning issued an order to show cause why the injunction should not be granted in which he directed the defendants to appear before Judge William P. James December 23 for hearing.

Duke Stone, attorney for the producers, said the suit was in the nature of a test of the respective rights of theatrical producers and Equity.

Hundreds of Tame Turkeys Loose Near Town

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 12.—The town of Mather, Greene county, scene of the disastrous explosion of last year, is about to declare a holiday. The entire countryside for miles around is stocked with tame turkeys—between 200 and 500 of them. Where they came from no one knows.

One report is that they broke from a poultry farm; another that they were from a poultry car. A small boy struggling home with a big gobbler offered the best suggestion of all—"Maybe it's Santa Claus."

HURT IN FALL, $50,000 ASKED

The City of Pittsburgh, charged with neglect in failing to repair a hole in the street for two months, is asked to pay $50,000 damages for injuries suffered by Ellen O'Neil, of the East End, in a suit filed by her in Common Pleas Court.

She alleged that she tripped in the hole, at the intersection of Broad street and Sheridan avenue, December 13, 1928. The fall resulted in a broken nose and scars, deafness in one ear, impairment of vision and injuries to one leg which made it shorter than the other, the suit alleged.

FATHER SLAYER SENTENCED

HIRSCHBERG, Silesia, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Count Christian Stolberg-Wernigerode was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment for killing his father, Count Eberhard, last March, through negligence.

Count Eberhard was found on March 18 with a bullet in his head. Apparently he had been shot from behind with a rifle taken from a nearby gunrack. Count Christian, eldest son of the family, was arrested and admitted the shooting, but said the rifle had gone off accidentally while he was cleaning it.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

CREOMULSION

MAN SLAIN AS 'WIFE THIEF'

HAMILTON, O., Dec. 12 (INS.)—Albert Bowling, 45, of Detroit, shot and killed Fred Philpot, 50, on a downtown street here today.

Former Sheriff Frank E. Pepper, one of the witnesses, apprehended Bowling and turned him over to city police.

The Detroit man police declared told them it was the first time he had seen Philpot in two years, when Philpot allegedly stole the affections of his wife.

Arthur Eaton, with Philpot during the shooting, said Bowling accosted Philpot and said, "How are you, Fred?"

Then, Eaton said, Bowling pulled a revolver and shot Philpot in the forehead. The victim died instantly.

"You don't think I did this without a reason," Bowling told police in explaining his motive.

Silversmith Anvil Of Paul Revere At Auction

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (INS.)—The anvil on which Paul Revere, famed Revolutionary War leader, practiced his art as a silversmith will be offered to the highest bidder at the auction to be conducted here on December 28 by the American Art Association-Anderson Galleries, Inc.

The anvil, not quite 10 inches high, is in the form of a square tapering column on a stripped base.

Illinois Gun Club Oldest in World

FREEPORT, Ill.—(INS.)—Founded in 1866, the Freeport Gun Club here claims it is the oldest organization of its kind in the world.

MINER DIRECTS OWN RESCUE

CROSBY, Minn., Dec. 12 (AP.)—After nearly 46 hours imprisonment 367 feet underground in the Croft mine, Gus Snyder, 55, miner, was rescued at noon today. Physicians at the hospital said his condition was not serious.

He was imprisoned when ore broke through timber supports shortly after a companion had left him.

Food, tobacco and a stimulant were pressed through an aperture to him late yesterday.

Rescuers were forced to work slowly to prevent a further cavein. Although Snyder's legs were pinned by a timber he was able to use his arms to reach food passed down through the crevice.

Historical Society Finds Pioneer Canoe

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—After years of search the efforts of the Lycoming Historical Society have been rewarded in the acquisition of a dugout canoe such as was used in the early navigation of the rivers of Pennsylvania.

The canoe is made from a white pine log with a flat bottom and sharp pointed bow and stern. It is about 25 feet long, 18 inches in width and 12 inches in depth. It can accommodate several persons and was evidently propelled with a long pole.

Mrs. Pennybacker, Judge's Widow, Dies

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Laura Van Pelt Pennybacker, widow of Judge James E. Pennybacker, of Franklin, W. Va., died yesterday at the home of her son, James E. Pennybacker.

Mrs. Pennybacker came here from Washington, D. C., 10 years ago. Her late husband was the son of Isaac Manuel Pennybacker, one time United States senator from Virginia. Besides the son, two daughters, Mrs. Francis P. Weeks and Miss Catherine M. Pennybacker, survive. Funeral services and burial will be in Harrisonburg, Va., Saturday.

Jordan Silent on Firing of Bruner

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Charles G. Jordan, Secretary of Agriculture, today said he had no answer to the statement of Dr. Samuel E. Bruner, dismissed official of the department, that he had been dealt a "grave injustice." Bruner was dismissed by Gov. Fisher Tuesday for failure to report the presence of six cattle indemnity vouchers in the department without supporting evidence as early as last June. The irregularities about a month ago were determined to be a part of the $129,000 fraud on the state.

Police Urge 90 Days For Pickpockets

Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh today ordered prosecution of known pickpockets and shoplifters under the "Professional Thief Act," which allows magistrates to sentence known thiefs and pickpockets to 90 days in jail without fine.

Magistrates and police inspectors of the city have expressed their willingness to co-operate with Walsh for the protection of Christmas shoppers, especially women.

Pilsudski Ill, Poland Without Cabinet

WARSAW, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, dictator and war minister of Poland, today was suffering from a heavy cold which forced him to remain in bed. Until his recovery Poland will have to do without a cabinet, as it is not regarded likely any party would dare to form one to succeed that of M. Switalski, who was forced to resign, with the approval of the dictator.

5 Die as London Bus Hits Trolley

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Five persons were killed and 30 injured when a motorbus collided last night with a street car at Enfield, Middlesex. Four of the victims were women, and all those killed were bus passengers.

HOSTESS VICTIM OF BAD CHECK

Police are hunting a well-dressed man in connection with passing of bogus checks on a rooming house proprietor. Police Inspector Bernard Kirley said today in a warning to protect other prospective victims from frauds by the same "racket."

Late yesterday a man aged about 50 asked to rent a room from Mrs. Paul E. Dourvin, of 6219 Fifth avenue. To gave her a check for $40, saying he was Charles E. Kingsberry, of Pittsburgh, and agreed to pay Mrs. Dourvin $20 for a half month's rent. He was given $20 as change.

When Mrs. Dourvin presented the check for payment at a bank today the paper proved worthless.

What Is Chewing Gum? Food Or Drink?

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Whether chewing gum is a food, a drink or just plain merchandise has been brought before the Interstate Commerce Commission for settlement.

Under the commission's ruling foods are entitled to second class freight rates, while other merchandise is charged at first class rates, and the present classification of gum as first class matter was complained of by the National Association of Chewing Gum manufacturers.

Rumania May Allow Carol to Come Back

BUCHAREST, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Prince Carol, father of the young King Michael, may be allowed to return to Rumania after all, according to today's issue of the newspaper Curentul, which insists the Rumanian government has given the wayward prince permission to return on condition that he abstain from politics.

Fire Sweeps Tampa Airplane Hangar

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Fire swept through the steel hangar at the municipal airport here early today, destroying 13 airplanes. The loss was estimated at $100,000. The blaze was not discovered until explosions had awakened nearby residents and the building's interior was a mass of flames.

POLICE BATTLE MINE PICKETS

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Dec. 12.—(INS.)—The Southern Illinois coal fields experienced their first taste of violence as a result of the strike called by the National Miners' Union when Sheriff James Pritchard and a half dozen deputies were forced to use tear bombs in dispersing picketers of the striking union at the Coello field near here today.

Before the ranks of the picketers could be broken, four tear bombs had to be utilized.

Martin Mazack and Henry Colzeti, leaders of the National Miners' Union picketers, were arrested.

Cremed Magnesia clears the skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach

The newest discovery in beauty culture is that cremed magnesia beautifies the skin instantly, in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with cremed magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face.

It reduces enlarged pores to the finest, smoothest texture. Being astringent, it drives away the telltale signs of age. It rejuvenates the skin so quickly that any woman can look lovely tonight, years younger.

And because it is so mild, it certainly is a blessing for fine, sensitive skins that soap so easily irritates and your neck. It will also keep your coarsens. It removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than soap or cold cream. It changes dull, sallow skin to radiant clearness and fades out freckles better than a bushel of lemons.

Test it on those clogged nose pores that stand out so boldly. Let it whiten hands soft and white. To get genuine cremed magnesia, ask your druggist for Denton's Facial magnesia. Remember, five minutes works wonders. So get your magnesia today and look lovely tonight.

GUARANTEE

It's impossible for Denton's Facial Magnesia not to improve your complexion. But, should it fail to delight you, even after the very first application, your dealer is requested to refund your money at once, without question.

DENTON'S CREMED
Facial Magnesia

NOTE: Do not hesitate to try this marvelous skin treatment at once. Thousands of delighted women have written they could not believe anything so simple could be so wonderful. But they were convinced when they saw so many friends suddenly get lovely complexions.

SKID FATAL FOR AUTO DEALER

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 12. — Sankey Penberthy, 60, treasurer of the Universal Sales Company, and one of the best known automobile dealers in Lawrence County, died at the Jameson Memorial Hospital as a result of injuries sustained on the New Castle-New Wilmington highway, while on his way to his home in New Wilmington.

When state highway patrolmen arrived they found him under his overturned car. His machine apparently skidded into a culvert and overturned.

Ship Chief Saves Art Treasures In Storm

GRAVESEND, Eng., Dec. 12. —(AP.)—Capt. Angelo Sturlese, of the S. S. Leonardo Da Vinci, brought his ship safely into port here with $70,000,000 worth of Italian art and with the satisfaction of having successfully avoided a dilemma unique in the history of navigation.

Capt. Sturlese brought his priceless cargo through hail and hurricane on the high seas while more than 60 ships of all sizes and classes were being wrecked, stranded, or disabled.

AUTO PRODUCER ORDERS STEEL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 12.—An indication of pickup in steel business, as yet quite moderate, is noted in receipt of a substantial order for strip steel and sheets by a Valley maker from a leading producer of low-priced cars. Shipments against this contract are to be made chiefly during the first quarter of 1930. It is understood the business was placed at the prevailing price level in strips and sheets.

This is interpreted in the Mahoning Valley as forecasting an end to the lack of buying by steel companies, and the beginning of a movement to replenish stocks. Other contracts of a like nature are expected yet this year. Tinplate contracts for first half, 1930, delivery, are likewise being negotiated. During the balance of December, the mid-west industry will continue to operate at a low level, averaging 50 per cent or less.

There have been no drastic price declines during the current period of depression, and the industry in the area feels that the market will be well sustained in the next quarter.

New Castle Home Damaged by Fire

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 12.—The home of James Woodson, was damaged $700 by a fire believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace.

CONVICT 2 BOYS IN STORE THEFT

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 12.—James Bayne and Ralph Bryant, two Waynesburg youths were arrested during Thanksgiving week in connection with the theft of an oil burning heating stove, were convicted on a charge of larceny today.

The two were arrested after police found the missing stove in a rooming house in West Waynesburg where Bayne and Bryant resided. The stove was taken from a vacant tenant house on the Daniel Huffman farm in Franklin Township. Less than 30 minutes was required by the jury to reach a verdict in the case.

Col. Knox Guest At White House

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Col. Frank Knox, general manager of the Hearst newspapers, was a luncheon guest of President Hoover at the White House.

Hunter Fined $100 For Illegal Kill

16 HELD IN RAID ON LOTTERY

In a raid on the establishment of Daniel Walker, 47 2171 Centre avenue, police today say they closed one of the largest clearing house lottery establishments in the city.

Taken with Walker, who is held on a charge of conducting a lottery, were 15 other men.

Collectors, bookkeepers, auditors were among those arrested.

They were charged with visiting a disorderly house.

Police seized adding machines and confiscated the books. They say the names of sub-agents and collectors are in their possession.

William Lucas, 40, Negro, of 712 Behring avenue, and William Eubanks, 24, Negro, of Michigan avenue, were fined $50 in Police Court on charges of maintaining a lottery. Police testified that when they were arrested at Smithfield and Carson streets yesterday they were carrying lottery tickets.

Another Medal for Commander Byrd

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (INS.)—Another medal was voted today for the already be-medelled breast of Commander Richard E. Byrd, now in the Antarctic. The regents of the Smithsonian Institution today voted Byrd the Langley medal for aeronautics, because of his polar flights. A similar medal was also voted to Charles M. Manly, designer of the engine in the original Langley plane.

OIL MAN'S WIFE SUED BY AID

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—A suit for $750,000 damages brought by a former secretary of Col. Henry H. Rogers, Standard Oil millionaire, against Col. Rogers' present wife and two other defendants was disclosed when the State Supreme Court denied a defense application to seal the papers.

In the suit the former secretary, Edward E. Kern, charged that the defendants, Mrs. Margit Borbala Braun Rogers and Andrew and Marie Zichy, maliciously caused his discharge. One of their reasons for this, he alleged, was an investigation made by him at Rogers' request into Mrs. Margit Rogers' mode of living before her marriage.

The Zichys were not identified in the suit.

Col. Rogers is the father of Mrs. Millicent Rogers Ramos, wife of Arturo P. Ramos and former wife of Count Salm Von Hoogstraten.

Last July Col. Rogers was divorced from his first wife and shortly afterward married again.

The papers in the suit contained several questions to which the plaintiff said he would demand answers.

One of them asked whether the defendants had informed Col. Rogers that "the defendant, Rogers (then known as Daisy Von Braun Miles), was a member of the Hapsburg family, to-wit, an illegitimate daughter of Franz Josef, emperor of Austria.

Attorneys for the defense alleged that this question was put merely to give publicity to the Kern suit.

Air Service Officer Guest of Relatives

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 12.—Lieut. Com. James M. Shoemaker, head of the power plant section of the Bureau of Aeronautics, Washington, and one of the three naval officers to accompany the Graf Zeppelin to Germany on its recent round-the-world tour, visited relatives here. He spoke before the Westinghouse Club in Wilkinsburg.

Com. Shoemaker has been in air service for the past eight years.

Davis Pays Quiet Visit to Sharon

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 12.—For the first time since he became a member of the cabinet, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis slipped into the city without his friends knowing of his visit. He spent three hours with his aged father, David Davis, recently. Secretary Davis plans to return here before Christmas.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

STOMACH TROUBLE INDIGESTION TOO MUCH ACID

Demand ACIDINE. It's a marvelous anti-acid, meat and starch digestant based on new scientific discovery. Safe—swift—sure. GUARANTEED TO RELIEVE YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE OR MONEY BACK. Ask your druggist.

ACIDINE

NIGHT COUGHING

One swallow of Thoxine is guaranteed to stop coughing. Quicker, better and pleasanter than anything you have ever used, or your money back. 35c., 60c., $1.00. All druggists.

U.S.-PERU RADIO SERVICE OPENS

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Direct radio-telegraph service between Peru and the United States was inaugurated yesterday through a new wireless station here and another at Sayville, N. Y.

One of the first messages was a greeting to American newspapers from President Augusto B. Leguia. His message said:

"I wish to take advantage of the inauguration of the direct radio service from Peru to the United States, a new link between sister nations, to greet the American press through the Associated Press, one of the spiritual bonds already uniting these two countries."

West View Issues Building Permit

C. A. McClain, borough clerk of West View, has granted a permit to C. J. Fowler, for the erection of a two-story brick veneer dwelling at 136 Brightwood avenue, to cost $9,500.

NAVY ADVANCES GUN MAKING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—The progress the Navy is making in the manufacture of guns and mounts for the new light cruisers building and authorized, was revealed today in the annual report of Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance Navy Department.

The work on the eight-inch and five-inch batteries for the light cruisers, 26 to 31, of the Salt Lake City 10,000-ton class, is progressing satisfactorily, Leahy said, and partial shipments have already been made for the three of this class not yet completed, which are scheduled for delivery in 1930.

ORDERS PLACED

Orders for forgings and finished guns for cruisers 32 to 36, the first increment of the 15 cruisers authorized under the three-year program, have been placed. Forgings are being supplied by the Bethlehem Steel Company, the Midvale Company and the Erie Forge Company, of Pennsylvania. Eight-inch guns for these vessels are being manufactured by the naval gun factory, Washington; the Army's Watervliet Arsenal, New York, and the Midvale Company. All five-inch guns will be made at the naval gun factory.

During the past fiscal year 18 8-inch 55-caliber guns were manufactured at the naval gun factory, seven at the Watervliet arsenal and two at the Midvale plant. They were fitted with breech mechanisms at the naval gun factory, making a total of 27 completed during the year. Twenty-four new 5-inch anti-aircraft guns were also completed.

Othello's Color Topic in Stage Argument

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Whether Othello was blackface or sun-tan, ebony or just a gentle dust color, was to be threshed out by a couple of experts today.

Charles Marshall, of the Civic Opera Sompany, has envisioned the Moor of Venice as an individual of coal black complexion. Tyrone Power, who is Othello in the Shakespearean repertoire company at the Civic Theater, enacts the Moor in coffee tan.

A pair of Iagos—Cesara Formichi of the opera and Fritz Leiber of the stage—were called in to offer their opinions.

The meeting was called, it was explained, because Shakespearean students have been "perplexed by the question of the Moor's makeup."

COAL OUTLOOK HELD BRIGHT

Faith in the future of the coal industry of the Pittsburgh district was expressed by Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, principal speaker last night at the midyear dinner of the Traffic Club in the William Penn Hotel. Norman Allderdice, president of the club, presided.

More than 500 persons were in attendance, including members of the Allegheny County regional advisory board, who are present in Pittsburgh to attend a meeting of the board today. The subject of Dr. Baker's address was "Coal and the Future of Pittsburgh."

Wooster College Gets $125,000 Gift

WOOSTER, O., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Announcement of a gift of $125,000 to Wooster College by a New York man whose name was not revealed, was made by President Charles F. Wishart.

65 PIANOS LOANED

FREE

Sixty-five Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments) will be placed in homes of Pittsburgh and vicinity and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. We have discontinued eight of our large branch stores, and are placing these instruments in our "Frederick's Annex," located at 915 Liberty Avenue. Instead of storing and holding these pianos for the regular price, we are going to slaughter the prices and take our loss now. If you have ever thought of buying a piano, now is the time. We do not wish to place our instruments in storage and all Pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

Positively No Charge For Anything

CHEER 3 FREED REPORTERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Citizens of Washington have paid tribute to three reporters of the Washington Times who served a jail term for contempt of court in upholding the freedom of the press and the ethics of the newspaper profession.

At a mass meeting which filled to the doors the large Belasco Theater, the three reporters were cheered to the echo when at the climax of the rousing demonstration they were introduced.

The trio, Linton Burkett, Gorman Hendricks and John E. Nevin, Jr., were released yesterday after serving 40 days.

'TOLD TRUTH'

As Representative LaGuardia, of New York, declared in a brilliant address they were sentenced to jail for "telling the truth."

The reporters exposed a startling array of bootleg activities and prohibition law violations in the nation's capital in a series of articles in the Times, one of the 28 Hearst newspapers. Then, haled before the grand jury to give personal testimony as to their investigations, they refused to turn prosecuting witnesses, with the result that Justice Peyton Gordon adjudged them in contempt of court.

TRIO DEFENDED

Col. Frank Knox, general manager of the Hearst newspapers, introduced them to the audience after ringing speeches in support of their action had been delivered.

In behalf of William Randolph Hearst and the Hearst newspapers, Col. Knox presented each of the reporters a check for $1,000 and a gold watch as a token of "recognition of the debt which the newspaper profession owes them."

JAPAN FAVORS NAVAL SLASH

SEATTLE, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Reduction of all naval armaments, not merely limitation, is the announced goal of the Japanese delegation for the five-power conference in London next month, it was learned today from former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki.

In an interview last night in his hotel suite here, Wakatsuki, present head of Japan's dominant political party, made clear Japan's attitude as follows:

1—Japan will oppose the Hoover-MacDonald plan for abolition of submarines, insisting that it needs undersea craft for defensive purposes only, but will be willing to accept a submarine limit considerably below that of the other powers.

2—In the range of "auxiliary" craft generally, cruisers, destroyers and submarines, Japan will be content with a 70 per cent strength in comparison with Great Britain and the United States.

3—Japan will seek no reopening of the 5-5-3 ratio applied to capital ships—battleships and battle cruisers—by the Washington conference.

The former premier admitted frankly that political considerations at home entered into the Japanese efforts for absolute reduction of navies.

INSURANCE BAN SET ASIDE

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—A temporary injunction was issued in Federal District Court here by Judge John C. Pollock against the temporary receivership of the Federal Reserve Life Insurance Company, with headquarters in Kansas City, Kan. The restraining order was made returnable in two weeks.

Judge Pollock issued the order on the application of the Fire Insurance Company of Chicago, a large stockholder in the Federal Reserve Company, the application alleging "irreparable loss" would result from the receivership.

The temporary injunction which halted the receivership instituted in State Court restrained James L. Beggs and J. K. Rankin, appointed temporary receivers by Judge W. H. McCamish in the Wyandotte County District Court, from interferring in any way in the operation of the company by its officers. Hearings in the receivership suit also were halted pending the hearing of the injunction proceedings.

The temporary receivers were appointed on a petition of a group of stockholders, alleging fraud in connection with the management of the company and asking a reorganization.

The Federal Reserve Life Insurance Company is rated as the largest organization of its kind in Kansas. It conducts business in several states.

SCHOOL POST IN CABINET URGED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(US.)—Representative Daniel A. Reed (Rep.), of New York, has moved on the floor of the House to speed creation of a federal department of education, headed by a secretary in the President's cabinet.

Though this issue has been before Congress for many years, it has yet to reach a vote in either the Senate or House. Prolonged hearings have been held by Senate and House committees.

Reed, who is chairman of the House Education Committee, served notice that he will call a meeting, probably tomorrow, to lay plans for "a hearing and favorable report on the bill."

Several bills have been introduced embracing establishment of such a department to serve as a clearing house for educational practices for the benefit of the states. The present Bureau of Education in the Interior Department would be taken over by the new department. Reed said:

"The public school is now recognized by the majority of the people as the chief agency for fostering and perpetuating democratic ideals and for laying a solid foundation for the economic development of our country."

Club Votes Cash To Fire Companies

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 12.—Directors of the Nemacolin Country Club have voted $25 each to the Brownsville and Bentleyville fire departments for their work at a fire which razed the old country club several days ago.

A&P IS THE WORLD'S LARGEST RETAILER OF COFFEE

Down Come Coffee Prices!

Right at a time when saving is uppermost in the minds of millions . . . A&P makes deep cuts in the price of coffee.

THE prices of raw coffee have tumbled! A&P, with its foresight into market conditions, is able to immediately take advantage of this. Consequently, down go A&P coffee prices...and these prices are not sale prices. They are A&P's new, low, regular prices.

Undoubtedly, you know that A&P buys only the finest grades of coffee from the world's greatest coffee-growing countries—Colombia and Brazil. Therefore, these coffees are guaranteed "highest quality." A&P's own purchasing offices in South America give A&P a coffee-buying advantage unequaled by any other chain of food stores in America.

All America knows that coffee bought at an A&P Food Store is sure to be "fresh roasted" coffee. Direct and frequent deliveries in small quantities from nearby roasting plants, is your assurance that the pound of coffee you buy at A&P is bound to be fresh from the oven.

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859 "WHERE ECONOMY RULES"

OUR GUARANTEE

...buy a pound to-day. If you are not delighted with the quality, freshness and flavor... return the unused portion and the full purchase price will be cheerfully refunded.

EIGHT O'CLOCK

This coffee is the cream of the Brazilian coffee crop. It is the largest selling high-grade coffee in the world. Its quality won the gold medal at the Sesqui-centennial Exposition. Favored by millions for its distinctive full-bodied flavor. A sensational value at this new, low, regular price. . . .

RED CIRCLE

This coffee is a blend of the finest coffees grown on the high mountain plateaus of Colombia and Brazil. Blended for those who enjoy a mellow flavored coffee of smooth richness and delightful bouquet. Selected, bought, blended and roasted by A&P's own organization. Extraordinary value at this new, low, regular price . . . .

BOKAR

This coffee is the personal blend of the world's greatest coffee buyer. A coffee that attains new heights in richness and mellowness. New heights in flavor. The equal in quality of America's finest package coffees and far superior to anything less than the finest...and sold at a price at least 20c below the finest...Bokar is America's greatest package coffee value.

Grove City Man Weds Butler Girl

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 12.—Word has been received here of the marriage in New York City, of Dr. E. J. Fithian, chairman of the board of the Cooper-Bessemer Corporation, Grove City, and Miss Ethel M. Limberg, of Worcester, Mass., formerly of Butler. They left on a Western motor trip and will return to Grove City about January 31.

Farrell Police Miss Yearly Venison Feast

FARRELL, Pa., Dec. 12.—The annual venison dinner planned by the Police Department, may not be held, this year, as none of the officers was successful in bagging a deer. Phil Chaussard, "Uncle Joe" Lewis, Sam Leyshock and Frank Osterlich all have returned from camp, empty handed.

5 SAFE AS LAKE BOAT UPSETS

SANDUSKY, O., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Thrown into the icy waters of Lake Erie when the 65-foot boat, the Mascot, capsized, its two passengers and crew of three men were saved from death in a thrilling rescue performed by the crew of the Messenger, a sister ship.

The Messenger was breaking a path through ice toward Kelley's Island, where the boats were taking the passengers, freight and mail. Off Marble Head, the Mascot apparently struck a big cake of ice and started filling with water.

The five persons aboard had time to grab life-savers, but a moment later the boat turned over. Capt. J. J. Frederick, of the Messenger, which was a mile away, turned his boat as shortly as possible, and went full speed to the rescue, braving the dangers of ice and high waves.

Suffering badly from exposure, the five men from the Mascot were pulled from the water and taken to Kelley's Island for medical treatment.

BUSES REPLACE TROLLEYS

CUMBERLAND, Md., Dec. 12.—The Potomac Edison Company announced after a conference with Mayor Thomas W. Koon and other citizens that all street cars are to be eliminated in the city and motor buses substituted next year, and also there would be a readjustment of light and power rates with the lowering of lighting rates in an amount yet to be determined.

The company has already abandoned the entire railway system with the exception of the Center street line and the elimination of that line will go far toward adjusting severe traffic conditions on that street, through the heart of the city. It is a one-way street.

State Bank Tester Succumbs on Car

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—State Bank Examiner John B. Dunlop, 47, of Muncy, Pa., died suddenly of heart disease on a Laurel line car late yesterday at Avoca. Dunlop, who was the senior examiner of the State Banking Department, had been examining a bank at Simpson, Pa., and was on his way to this city when his end came. The body was brought here and prepared for shipment to his home.

Dunlop had been a bank examiner for six years. His widow, three children, two brothers and a sister survive.

Police Seeking Pair In Shoe Store Holdup

Police today were on the lookout for two bandits who held up the Dixie Shoe Store, at 611 East Ohio street, and escaped with $80 last night.

Richard Hannon, the manager, and Edward Dixon, a clerk, were forced into a rear room by the pair and ordered to lie on the floor. While one covered them with a revolver his accomplice looted the cash register. They escaped in an automobile.

Propeller Kills Plane Mechanic

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 12.—John Tsionek, 24, of Lansing, O., an aviation mechanic, was killed here when struck by a propeller. Tsionek was employed by the Hopkins Motor Company and was tuning up a plane motor, when he slipped and fell into the propeller.

GETS 10 YEARS IN $2.19 THEFT

MIDDLEBOURNE, W. Va., Dec. 12.—(AP.) Convicted of armed robbery in connection with the holdup of a gasoline filling station at Paden City, near here, Barton Collins, 17-year-old farm boy, was sentenced by Judge James F. Shipman in Tyler County Circuit Court to 10 years in the state prison. The defense filed a motion for a new trial.

The holdup, according to evidence submitted, netted only $2.19.

Collins will be taken before Judge Shipman for sentence on a charge of breaking jail following his arrest on the banditry charge. The maximum penalty on the charge to which he pleaded guilty, is one year.

Man Swims River To Get Deer He Wounded

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP.) Faced with the alternative of swimming a river or walking 15 miles to reach a large buck he had fatally wounded but which managed to cross the Lehigh River before it died on the river bank, Martin Densmore, of this city, chose to swim the river and brought the deer back, his gun tied to his back. He then built a fire along the river's edge and dried his clothes before starting for home with his trophy.

Woman Injured As Cars Collide

ERRORS SHRINK WARREN RICHES

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 12.—(AP.) A check of the bequests in the will of the late Senator Francis E. Warren disclosed an estimated valuation of $1,594,449 instead of the approximately $6,000,000 first reported.

Bequest of 7,500 shares of stock in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, left the widow, was read 75,000 shares by a reporter for a local newspaper and was so given to the Associated Press, and a misunderstanding of the value of United States Rubber Company stock combined to cause the discrepancy.

The inventory shows these values of the various bequests: Mrs. F. E. Warren, the widow, $803,000. Frederick E. Warren, the son, $365,000. Francis Warren Pershing, a grandson, $350,000. Other relatives and friends, $18,100. Insurance, $67,349. Total, $1,594,449.

For that INDIGESTION

For 56 years, men and women by the million have settled stomach disturbances with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. A reliable remedy; a real relief. And you have never tried them! In 1891 a druggist sold his first package of Stuart's. Today they are a drug-store staple. The first thing that comes to mind when the stomach needs a sweetener. No hurrying soda. Just a happy combination of Calcium Carbonate (2½ times more effective than soda) Magnesia and other valuable ingredients. In ten minutes—or less—acidity is overcome; all that sourness dispelled.

Many parents have come to realize these tablets are ideally suited to children's digestive disorders. The tremendous sale of the family size boxes is proof of that. Next time a young stomach is complaining, think of Stuart's.

MAKE THIS TEST!

Purchase a 25c handy pocket tin of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from your druggist, use after meals and be convinced it is not necessary to suffer the distresses of indigestion.

MAN ARRESTED IN CHECK FRAUD

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 12.—Robert E. Sherwood, 31, Homestead, was stifled in his attempt to put the phoney check business on a quantity production basis here yesterday. Sherwood had piled up a profit of $23.65 in cash and several thousand dollars worth of merchandise when he was arrested by Columbus detectives. His method, officers say, was to buy merchanise, giving checks in payment, and taking some cash in change.

In this manner he paid a year's rent on a house in Bexley, one of Columbus' exclusive suburbs, bought two pianos, an automobile, a monkey, two love birds, gold fish, silk underwear, magazines, a life insurance policy, a traveling bag and—a check protector.

Civil War Veteran Dies in Washington

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 12.—A Bryan Marsh Fullerton, 85, veteran of the Civil War, died yesterday at his home here. He was born in Westmoreland County, and at the age of 18 enlisted in Company K, Fifteenth Pennsylvania Cavalry, August 19, 1864, serving until the end of the war.

Nightshirt Used By Man to Kill Himself

MARTINS FERRY, O., Dec. 12.—William Ringwaldt, 49 yard foreman at a box factory here, raised a canopy over his bed with a nightshirt and comfort, placed it over a gas connection and asphyxiated himself. He had been bedfast. The coroner said Ringwaldt had been despondent since his wife died last year.

President Baker Reported Improved

Dr. S. S. Baker, president of Washington and Jefferson College, was reported improving this morning in the Allegheny General Hospital, where he has undergone two major abdominal operations. The first operation was performed December 2, and Saturday the college head was operated on for the second time. It was said at the hospital he was doing as well as could be expected.

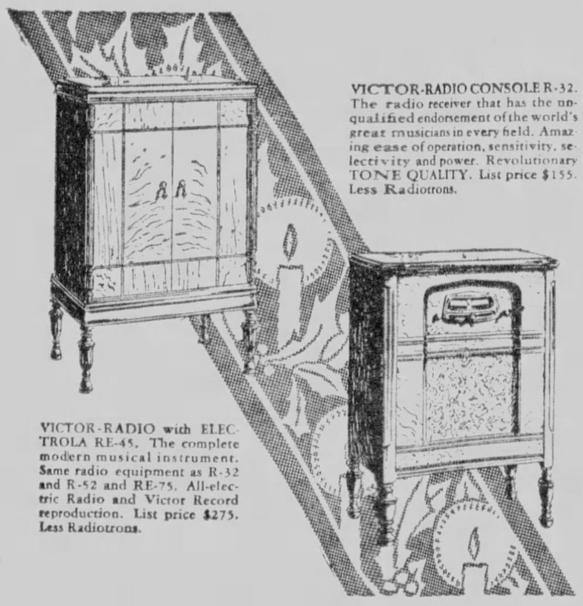
Prove it yourself!

All this week, thousands of people are investigating for themselves the startling VICTOR-RADIO TONE-TEST. This is the test that, by performance and comparison, definitely establishes Victor-Radio Tone supremacy. At All Victor Dealers—now!

Believe nothing but your own ears. Listen to music! Operate the Victor-Radio yourself. Compare it, point for point, with any radio at any price. Judge it, most carefully, for Tone—the final reason for buying any musical instrument. Don't wait! Hear the Victor TONE-TEST today!



VICTOR-RADIO CONSOLE R-32. The radio receiver that has the unqualified endorsement of the world's great musicians in every field. Amazing ease of operation, sensitivity, selectivity and power. Revolutionary TONE QUALITY. List price $155. Less Radiotrons.

VICTOR-RADIO with ELECTROLA RE-45. The complete modern musical instrument. Same radio equipment as R-32 and R-52 and RE-75. All-electric Radio and Victor Record reproduction. List price $275. Less Radiotrons.

LISTEN TO VICTOR-RADIO side by side with any other radio, no matter what it sells for! The first few notes will tell the story! For no other radio can bring you Victor tone perfection . . . breath-taking TONE QUALITY that surpasses all previous Victor achievements . . . TONE that is flawless through the entire musical scale . . . even at full volume!

By TONE COMPARISON, Victor has made the whole country TONE-WISE! Victor has proved that the radio of today must have keen sensitivity, extreme selectivity, giant power—and, above all—TONE! In radio's fundamentals, Victor-Radio is the peer of any—and Victor-Radio, in its absolutely convincing Tone-quality and Tone-realism, is not approached by any other radio at any price.

You are going to live with your radio a long time. You will be as proud of your Victor-Radio as every home was of its Victrola 20 years ago.

You can have Victor-Radio alone . . . or with the astounding new Electrola—the superb Victor TONE from air or record . . . the music you want when you want it! Here is the greatest of all musical instruments!

Easy for anybody to buy—now

There is no need to be content with less. Thanks to unlimited Victor resources and skill, the price of every Victor model (of world-famous Victor craftsmanship throughout) is scarcely greater than that of the most mediocre set. And most Victor dealers have financing plans that enable you to have Victor-Radio on the payment of a very small sum . . . without strain on the most modest budget!

You don't need to wait to enjoy Victor-Radio in your own home! Have it this Christmas. There is a model for every decorative scheme. Place your order now. Victor Talking Machine Division, Radio-Victor Corporation of America, Camden, N. J., U. S. A.

MARGARET ANGLIN CAN SEE NO MENACE TO THEATER IN THE TALKIES

By GEORGE SEIBEL

MARGARET ANGLIN is not the least bit in doubt about the future of the "flesh-and-blood" drama, or even of the "literary drama." When she heard yesterday afternoon that a New York producer was getting ready to revive all the old Oscar Wilde plays, it filled her with satisfaction. She had just played "Lady Windermere's Fan" in Montreal for a week before coming to Pittsburgh to take part in the new comedy, "What a Woman Wants," at the Pitt Theater. And she thinks all Wilde's plays will find responsive audiences wherever there are educated people who think and can enjoy the play of wit.

George Seibel

"Being somewhat of a devotee of the talkies myself," she said, "I am familiar with their audiences and their bills. That is why I feel so strongly that the ultimate outcome of the present situation will benefit the theater.

"Let us not forget that a large proportion of the audiences at all times have been people who wanted nothing but an evening's entertainment. They went to the theater because it was there. They wanted to go somewhere. Often they did not know what they were going to see. This was the fringe or tail of the theatrical audience.

"As prosperity increased, this tail nearly wagged the dog—this fringe began to infringe upon the art of the stage."

Segregated Now

Now the two diverse audiences have been segregated, thinks Miss Anglin, and the thoughtful writer will have a chance to write plays that appeal to a smaller and more fastidious group.

"The result will be a return to such standards of acting as we used to have when every person in the audience was a critic and knew how certain parts should be played.

"And the personality of the actor will count for something again. The old theater-goer loved Joe Jefferson and Sol Smith Russell; he made idols of Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett. This was because of what these men were, as well as what they did.

"Now that the commerical aspect of the theater has been transferred so largely to the screen, acting will again become an art, instead of mere entertainment.

"And the great old plays of the past will again find their interpreters. Walter Hampden, I hear, is planning a revival of 'Richelieu.' Fritz Leiber's Shakespearean season in the new Chicago Civic Theater has received almost as much attention as the opera."

Reaching for Schiller

Miss Anglin has achieved success in productions of Greek masterpieces, and now she has another ambition to play Schiller's great tragedy of "Mary Stuart."

Modjeska used to play this drama—it was one of her famous roles. Booth in his early years appeared as Moor in "The Robbers." Aside from these there have been few attempts to put Schiller on the American stage. Mansfield acted "Don Carlos," but took Carlos instead of the Marquis de Posa, which is the important character.

Having come to Pittsburgh to appear in the play at the Pitt, Miss Anglin's old friendship for George Sharp, who played with her in "The Woman of Bronze," has turned this into a pleasant week of reunion and memories. Some day she may be seen here in a revival of "Green Stockings," the comedy by A. E. W. Mason which is now being put into the talking films. She will be among the first to see it, for the talkies do not worry her. She knows the future of the literary drama is not in the past.

Aldine Ballroom Has Dance Contest

The first elimination event in a contest to determine the best dancing couples opens in the Aldine ballroom today. Other eliminations will take place on December 19 and on December 26, with the finals scheduled for the night of December 26 also. Al Bonach, manager of the ballroom, announces six loving cups will be awarded as prizes.

Melodrama

Evelyn Brent helps with the melodrama and the romance in "Woman Trap," which will open Monday on the Aldine screen.

BARRYMORE IN TWO PLAYS

G. Martinez Sierra, who wrote "The Kingdom of God," the drama to be acted by Ethel Barrymore during the week of December 23, in the Shubert Alvin, is the author of over 40 plays, all of them produced in Spain. During the week of December 30, Miss Barrymore and her company will be seen in Lili Hatvany's "The Love Duel," adapted by Zoe Akins.

During the performance of "Earl Carroll Vanities," which comes to the Nixon for one week only, commencing December 23, 45 scenes and episodes are shown and many remarkable fast changes of scene are made. More than 25 novelty mechanical devices are employed, each one of which is patented and can be used only by "Earl Carroll Vanities." Seats go on sale December 16.

Mabel Kroman is having a lively time this week rehearsing the role of Sis Hopkins, the little girl with the pigtails, who furnishes most of the fun in the play "Sis Hopkins," to be presented by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt next week.

MONTE BLUE COMING

"Tiger Rose," featuring Lupe Velez, Monte Blue and Grant Withers, will open as the talking attraction on the Stanley screen tomorrow. On the stage Dick Powell will present "Jazz Mania."

"Sailor Billy" Vincent, retired lightweight champion of the Pacific fleet, and now a professional fighter for the motion picture screen, is said to put up a real fight in one of the stirring scenes of "Woman Trap," Paramount's latest all-talking feature, with Evelyn Brent, Hall Skelly and Chester Morris, which comes to the Aldine Monday.

"The Return of Sherlock Holmes, which will come to the Penn Monday, brings this famous sleuth to the United States for the first time. The reason for his leaving the retired life is the murder of his faithful friend, Capt. Longmore. Clive Brooks portrays Holmes.

FILMS OPEN SATURDAY

"Jealousy," starring Jeanne Eagels, will open as the all-talking attraction on the Enright screen Saturday. Jay Mills will present "Night Life" on the stage.

Glenn Tryon will come to the Harris Saturday in the talk film, "Skinner Steps Out."

The picturization of Flo Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita" will open a fourth week in the R-K-O Sheridan Square Saturday.

Film Sleuth

Clive Brook puts A. Conan Doyle's famous sleuth on the screen in "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," which comes to the Penn Monday.

Radio Fan Saved After Taking 2,600 Volts

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Unable to release his hold on a radio aerial which crossed a high tension wire, Ralph W. Little, 29, withstood 2,600 volts of electricity for several minutes until a neighbor cut the wire.

Little was erecting the aerial when it came in contact with the charged wire. He shouted for help and his father, John Little, who is 73, was knocked to the ground when he attempted to cut the wire. He summoned an electrician. Little escaped with slight burns.

Will Use Theater at Grotto Ceremonials

Islam Grotto will hold ceremonials next Tuesday evening at the New Kenyon Theater, North Side. The theater will be closed to the public at 5:30 p. m.

PEOPLE — We understand that R-K-O plans to open Saturday with a new film to follow "Rio Rita." We have tried for three weeks to see "Rio Rita" only to find the Theatre so crowded that we returned to our homes. We demand that the R-K-O Sheridan Square hold this production for a FOURTH WEEK to give us an opportunity to see this remarkable Ziegfeld film.

R-K-O—If the court pleases: R-K-O has Rudy Vallee, in "The Vagabond Lover," "Hit the Deck," "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and a host of other big productions and stars to introduce to Pittsburgh. We knew you would like "Rio Rita" but we can't play it forever. Accept our regrets. We're sorry.

COURT — You say, R-K-O, that you are "A Month Ahead of Downtown," that means our people have to come from all parts of the City to see "Rio Rita." You are in error in not taking these things into consideration.

DECISION—The Court decrees that Florenz Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita" be held over for a Fourth week at the R-K-O SHERIDAN SQUARE.

CANDLE LIGHT FOR ELK FETE

The large ballroom of the William Penn Hotel will be lighted entirely by candles Saturday night at the Golden Jubilee banquet of Pittsburgh Lodge No. 11, B. P. O. Elks, when representatives of lodges from three states and from the Gand Lodge of America will pay tribute to the "absent brothers."

Daniel Winters, past exalted ruler, will be toastmaster. Joseph H. Dye, esteemed leading knight of No. 11 lodge, will be chairman of the program committee. The speakers will be Lawrence A. Rupp, of Allentown, chairman of the judiciary committee of the Grand Lodge, and Grand Exalted Ruler Walter P. Andrews.

Richard Brown Now Manager of Enright

Ace Berry, general manager of the Warner Brothers, has appointed Richard E. Brown as the new manager of the Enright. Dick Brown, as he is known to his friends, is the son of Harry Brown, manager of the Nixon, and has been in the show business for many years. He was manager of the Cameraphone for four years, and for the last year he has managed the Liberty.

W. Va. Steel Plant To Resume Work

WEIRTON, W. Va., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The Clarksburg tin plant of the Weirton Steel Company will resume operations in full Monday after a partial shutdown since early in September, company officials announced here. The shutdown was necessitated for the making of general repairs and adjustments. Approximately 1,000 men will be employed.

'QUEEN KELLY' IS DUSTED OFF AND GLORIA AND WALTER AT ROMANCE AGAIN

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 12.

FILLED with movie aspirations, it was natural to find her in a casting director's office. She took several pictures of herself from an envelope. She wrote across the back of each her name and her salary—$150 a week. And then aded: "Two hundred dollars with tights." Which isn't why Hollywood boolvard is now yclept Santa Claus lane.

It may be of interest to know that "Queen Kelly," the million dollar plus Von Stroheim shelf rester, has been dusted off and placed into production again, with Miss Swanson the star, and Walter Byron carrying on where he left off as her leading man. Mr. Byron was imported from England by Sam Goldwyn. Sam loaned him for "Queen Kelly," not realizing this would become the current celluloid derby. Walter's contract with Goldwyn recently expired. Kennedy took pen in hand and snapped him up. So "Queen Kelly," direction of a Russian megaphoner, goes merrily on. The cry of the set is: "Out of the scenery by Christmas." If this happens, Miss Swanson, 'tis said, will spend the holidays at Palm Beach.

Gloria Swanson

Mexican Girl With Dolores

THERE'S a little Mexican girl playing extra in Dolores Del Rio's initial outloud. "The Bad One." She's the niece of a former Mexican president. For the past few days, she has been trying to get a line to speak. She finally got it. The line begins: "Where's Jerry?" She tried terribly hard to speak it correctly. Missed, and had it taken away from her. Shades of "The Gold Diggers!"

At the local premier of Ronald Colman in "Condemned," the theater announcer boomed through the loud speaker "Joseph Schildkraut and Laura La Plante walking down the center aisle." Bill Seiter and Laura looked at each other hard. Joseph turned around to be sure his better half, Elsie Bartlett Schildkraut, was still with him. These little mistakes do—

Dolores Del Rio

Operetta Offered For Half Million

"BITTER SWEET" is the all-Noel Coward operetta now knocking them for the smash hit in London. It has also opened in New York. This bureau hears tell that the picture rights to "Bitter Sweet" are placed at the staggering figure of half a million dollars. As yet, no buyer.

"Street Scene"—the Elmer Rice hit in New York—isn't any slacker either when it comes to asking picture prices. 'Tis reported it can be purchased for the screen for $300,000.

With this and that of a terribly sober nature staring Hollywood in the face, it is charming to learn that optimism is not yet three feet under. Here's Raoul Walsh, Fox director. Raoul is in Paris and believe it or not he's looking for a French girl to traipse in another marine outloud with Victor McLaglen and Eddie Lowe. The invading crop of Europeans has proven no huzzah success up to now. Yet the producers are still optimistic. There's something downright beautiful about the enduring quality of such optimism. Even though, in the majority of cases, they forget the unfortunate imports once they arrive at the studio.

PAROLE BROKER AT FRANKLIN

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—J. Willard Nixon, of Titusville, convicted of embezzlement in connection with the $450,000 failure of the local brokerage firm of Cadigan, Nixon & Co., two years ago was paroled. He had served 12 months of a 22 month sentence.

Last Saturday he was acquitted of a charge of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the firm's failure. The trial, in which one of the concern's bookkeepers was a co-defendant, was one of the longest in Venango County history. Two other cases of embezzlement pending against Nixon were nolle prossed yesterday.

James Not Involved In Auto Accident

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Through acting the part of the good Samaritan by stopping on a highway near his home town, Plymouth, to aid a motorist and an injured man the motorist's car had struck, Lieut. Gov. Arthur James' car became confused in the early police report as the machine figuring in the accident. It was car licensed No. 2, the lieutenant governor's car, which delivered the victim to a Wilkes-Barre hospital. Otherwise the lieutenant governor was in nowise involved in the accident, contrary to earlier reports.

Baltimore Mayor Confined by Fall

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Mayor William F. Broening, injured yesterday in the fall of an elevator at the City Hall, will be confined to his bed for several days, and it will be at least two weeks before he may return to his office, it was said by his physician.

Fayette Red Cross Total Near $12,000

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 12.—A total of $11,046.83 was subscribed in the Red Cross roll call in Fayette county, John Davis, county chairman, announced yesterday. The final mark should exceed $12,000, he said, as a number of districts still remain that have not reported.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 12.—Nomination of Thomas J. Langfitt to be postmaster at Washington has been sent to the Senate by President Hoover. Langfitt has served two terms.

WRECKED TRAIN ALONE, HE SAYS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Tom Vernon, suspected wrecker of a Southern Pacific passenger train near here on November 10, in a new confession shortly after his arraignment here in Superior Court told deputy sheriffs he perpetrated the derailment unaided.

Vernon, who was arrested at Pawnee, Okla., and returned here yesterday, previously had contended that two accomplices were involved.

The former cowboy and railroad fireman, who was ordered at the arraignment to plead on December 12 to three counts of robbery and one charge of train wrecking, said he wrecked the train for revenge, claiming the company had refused him a job because of a prison record.

Vernon made no reference to a similar wreck near Cheyenne, Wyo., two weeks later, in which authorities implicated him, although he has denied participation in it.

GERMANY FOR FISCAL REFORM

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—On the eve of the presentation of the government's financial reform program to the Reichstag as a question of confidence, observers were of the opinion that the government would escape a crisis such as has embarrassed it at several Christmas seasons.

The consensus was that the recent memorandum of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht criticizing the government and demanding full support for the Young plan for reparations at home and abroad, would not only prove influential in speeding financial reform, but in establishing once and for all the independence of the government from the party interests of the various factions in the Reichstag.

Financial Minister Hilferding has made 14 points of financial reform, chief among which is a proposed increase in tax on beer and tobacco to balance a corresponding reduction in income tax.

Greensburg Youth Held in Auto Theft

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 12.—State police arrested Ted Wright, 21, of Greensburg, while driving an automobile alleged to have been stolen from G. Evola, of Wyandotte, Mich. In the car with Wright at the time was Wilhemina Horner, 21, who said she was an actress of Greensburg. The girl was released.

Man Warning Autos Run Down, Killed

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 12.—Standing on the highway with a flashlight to warn oncoming cars that his own machine was being pulled out of the ditch, Renwick Scott, 56, was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Gilmore, Mahoningtown, Pa., and died a few hours later. Gilmore was exonerated.

City Link in New Airmail Route

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

CHARLIE SCHWAB, the Homestead boy, telling stories over the radio:

"When my wife and I went to our home at Loretto last summer, Mrs. Schwab brought along a maid from New York. The maid and our gardener fell in love and wanted to be married right off the bat.

"We decided to have them married in the mansion, and so they were. The gardener, a country boy, was delighted with his bride, a city girl, and she was pleased with the unsophisticated country boy.

"After the wedding everybody trooped by and congratulated the bride. I noticed that the bridegroom himself hadn't offered best wishes, so I reminded him of his duty. He walked up to his new wife and said:

"'Lady, I'm damglad to meetcha.'"

"One day years ago I was showing Andrew Carnegie through the Homestead plant. I was the superintendent, Mr. Carnegie was my boss and I wanted to make a good showing.

and smoking his pipe contentedly, his thoughts far from work.

"'Hey!' I yelled at him so that Mr. Carnegie might hear. 'Why aren't you working?'

"'Who are you?' he called back.

"'I'm the superintendent,' I told him.

"'Well, young man, that's a pretty good job; see that you take care of it.'"

"IT wasn't long after that we had another romance on the estate. A young man and his sweetheart were enjoying the moonlight. He proposed, she accepted him. There was silence for a couple of minutes.

"Finally the prospective bride asked, 'Elmer, why don't you say something?'

"'I'm afraid,' Elmer spoke up, 'I've said too much already.'"

Among the recent gifts to Carnegie Museum are these:

Passengers Flee When Bus Burns

Passengers on a crowded Detroit-bound bus of the Nevin line were compelled to make hasty exits shortly after 9 p. m. yesterday when the coach caught fire on the Chartiers Country Club hill. Firemen of the Crafton Volunteer Department answered a still alarm and extinguished the fire. Later the passengers were transferred to another bus.

PITTSBURGH PORT URGED AS STOP

Stop Here Advocated on New Postal Route From New York to Points West

With the recommendation of the interdepartmental committee on airways for the establishment of a new airmail route from New York via Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Indianapolis to St. Louis, this city is assured of a place of importance in the aeronautical world. The recommendation was made to Postmaster General Brown and Secretary of Commerce Lamont yesterday, culminating unceasing agitation from this quarter ever since the first transcontinental mail plane flew across the northern borders of Pennsylvania from New York to Cleveland on the first lap of the coast-to-coast hop.

The recommendation comes as the result of a conference held in Washington several weeks ago. Representatives of the various interests in cities along the proposed route attended. Pittsburgh was represented by Albert J. Stowe, secretary of the aviation section of the Chamber of Commerce.

IMPORTANCE OBVIOUS

No action on the part of the Postoffice Department in receiving bids for the new route is expected before next spring. Some of the largest commercial aviation concerns in the country are expected to enter the bidding.

The importance of this new air route to Pittsburgh is readily seen in a glance at the air map. Located in a strategic position for the mid-west distribution of mail, express and passengers, this city in a few years will be the hub of aeronautical activity, according to leaders of the industry here.

New materials needed for the manufacture of airplanes; factories in which to build them, with natural river and rail facilities necessary to the efficiency of any manufacturing center, already are available. With the completion of the new county municipal airport next year, Pittsburgh will be second to none as far as flying facilities are concerned. In addition to the municipal field as a port of call, there are Bettis Airport, Mayer Field, Rodgers Field and Highland Field within a few miles of the business section of the city, and the Pittsburgh-Butler Airport and the Pittsburgh-Greensburg Airport within a few minutes flying time from the city.

EXPECTED TO BID

Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, it is expected, will be one of the principal local bidders on the new mail route. With their Pittsburgh-Butler airport as a base of operations and the river seaplane base in the heart of the Golden Triangle, their operations are expected to get under way in full force by spring.

Another local concern expected to enter the bidding between New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh is Pittsburgh Airways, Inc., which is now operating scheduled biweekly passenger service between these cities.

Clifford Ball, present holder of the Pittsburgh-Cleveland airmail contract, is also expected to be a bidder.

POLICE CRUELTY CHARGES TO BE INVESTIGATED

Prisoner Tells Walsh That He and Other Prisoners Were Beaten in Station

Charges that seven or eight prisoners had been given fist-beatings, and one of them knocked unconscious, by a policeman in the South Side Police Station were ordered investigated today by Supt. Peter P. Walsh.

Patrick Scanlon, 22, of 5 Bigelow street, suffering a possible broken nose, and John Yanick, 19, of 49 Acorn street, Greenfield, with an opened lip, today revealed that while attempting to adjust the carbureter on the former's car Saturday, they had been arrested, jailed, and beaten.

GLASSES KNOCKED OFF

Scanlon said a patrolman ripped his glasses off, struck him between the eyes and rendered him unconscious for a time. The same policeman struck Yanick in the mouth, when the latter started to revive Scanlon, Yanick said.

"Every prisoner we saw brought into the South Side Police Station after 5 o'clock Saturday night was given the same treatment," Scanlon declared.

While debating suit for false arrest and assault and battery, both Scanlon and Yanick will present their complaints to Superintendent Walsh. The police executive, informed of the charges, today ordered John McArdle, police inspector for the South Side, to make a complete and thorough investigation and to submit a report as soon as possible.

FINED $3 EACH

Scanlon said that at the hearing Sunday before Magistrate J. J. Sweeney they were fined $3 each for disorderly conduct.

"A watchman at Gimbels' warehouse testified that we were creating a disturbance around the place — at Twenty-first street. We had never seen the man before, and leaving my home at 4:30 and being arrested at 5 o'clock didn't leave much time. We had started out to try out my car, which wasn't working right."

Getting back his car Tuesday from Whitmer's garage, 1750 Carson street, Scanlon charged that he had to pay $5.50 and that electric bulbs, a jack, pump and other equipment had been taken from it.

RAILROADS GET CAR ORDERS

Request by Shippers Show 4.3 Per Cent Increase In Demand for Freight

Improvement in business is forecast for the Pittsburgh district during the next three months by reports submitted at a meeting of the Allegheny Regional Advisory Board.

Shippers in the tri-state region have asked the railroads to furnish 1,038,303 freight cars in January, February and March, 1930, which is 4.3 per cent more than they required in the first quarter of this year.

COAL, COKE INCREASE

Coal and coke operators said they expected an increase of 6.3 per cent in their shipments. Other shippers expecting an increase in business are producers and manufacturers of petroleum and petroleum products, machinery and boilers, cement, brick and clay products, lime, agricultural implements, paper, aluminum, canned goods, castings, pottery, electrical goods, flour, glass containers, sand and gravel, building tile, leather, sewer pipe and slag.

IRON, STEL NORMAL

The iron and steel business is expected to be in about the same volume as a year ago, while slight decreases are forecast in the lumber and glass industries.

Chamber of Commerce reports, presented to the board, showed manufacturing plants in the district operating at an average of 78 per cent of capacity. Retail business was described as fair. Labor employment was given as about the same as last year, which was satisfactory, and the commercial outlook was reported good.

MINE EXPERTS ELECT OFFICERS

Need for more technically trained men, and progress in reducing fatalities in the coal mining industry were described at a dinner in the Chamber of Commerce last night, which officially opened the forty-third annual meeting of the Coal Mining Institute of America here.

"Pennsylvania, ranking above every other state in the output of minerals, stands almost at the bottom of the list in percentages of students engaged in learning the technical side of industries," was the statement of Dean Edward Steidle, of the school of mining industries of Pennsylvania State College.

Today's all-day sessions were devoted to technical discussions. An inspection trip to the Butler Consolidated Coal Company mine at Wildwood will be the only event on the closing day's program tomorrow.

INNOCENT SHOT, NEGRO CAUGHT

A persistent sub patrolman "got his man" but only after wounding a gas company foreman as he emerged from a manhole in Ross street, between Water street and First avenue, early today.

The wounded man, Phillip Perry, 27, of 454 Pearl street, was taken to Mercy Hospital with a bullet wound in his left arm. His condition was said not to be serious.

Perry, employed by the Philadelphia Company, was hit by a bullet fired by Sub-Patrolman Edward Werner, who, with Patrolman Charles Newbauer, was chasing a Negro who had escaped from Werner after being arrested at Second avenue and Grant street, according to the police report. Werner fired four shots and Newbauer one.

After helping take Perry to the hospital, Werner went to his home, 1347 Spring Garden avenue, changed to plain clothes, and with Sub-Patrolman Harry Sauslein, returned to the scene, renewed the hunt, and captured the Negro near Fourth Avenue Station.

The Negro gave his name as George Johnson, 22, of Burgettstown, Pa.

He admitted being the fugitive, police say.

He said he had started to swim across the Monongahela River after his escape, but the water was too cold.

His clothes were wet.

He was lodged in Central Station.

Werner reported the Negro had offered him and Newbauer $10 to release him.

Rum So Powerful Dry Destroyers Wear Armor

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Whatever they are putting into the stuff, confiscated liquor lately has evinced a dangerous kick; so dangerous, in fact, that government men who destroy it have been ordered to wear armored chest, plates and masks.

Deputy United States marshals yesterday had experience with the exploding liquor. One deputy lost the tip of his nose and another was wounded in the leg as the liquor exploded and hurled glass in all directions.

Hurt at Playground, Boy Awarded $243

Council has ordered legislation granting $243 to Mrs. T. J. Buckley, of 4632 Carlton street, as compensation for injuries to her son, James, 10, who suffered a broken arm in a fall last August 22 from a swing in Leslie playground.

HEINZ PREDICTS RECORD YEAR

A prediction that 1930 will see a larger amount of business than in 1929, which has been the largest in the company's history, was made yesterday by Howard Heinz, president of the H. J. Heinz Company, speaking at a convention of salesmen in the Heinz auditorium, Progress street, North Side.

"I look at the future with absolute confidence," he said, basing his optimism on reports he had received from representatives of his company in various cities during the last several weeks.

Last night he spoke at a banquet for the visitors. Others making short addresses were G. R. White, A. E. Cutcliffe and L. A. Jeppe, of London; C. H. Pinch, of Hull, England, and Edward James, of Philadelphia.

Man Seeks $10,000 In Auto Crash Suit

Max Rand, of East Liberty, filed suit against the American Reduction Company in Common Pleas Court, seeking to recover $10,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been received when his automobile was struck by a truck of defendant corporation at Friendship avenue and Cedarville street September 24. He alleged the truck suddenly turned and crashed into his car after it had proceeded past the center of the intersection.

GARDNER HURT BY TABLE FALL

The fall of a heavy table caused the injury to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, confined to his home in Tarentum, it was learned today. The injury will keep the district attorney away from his office for an indefinite period, it was said at his home yesterday.

Saturday night Mr. Gardner attended the annual play night and initiation of the "Jesters" in the William Penn Hotel. The Jesters is a Masonic fraternity. During the course of the evening it was decided that the floor should be cleared of the tables.

The district attorney, with other members present, immediately began moving the furniture. While Gardner was adjusting a trestle under one of the tables, a companion leaped on the table top, causing the heavy top to crash down on Gardner's left leg.

Emsworth Churches To Sing Carols

Wilkinsburg Girl Believed Working

The Missing Persons Bureau today were searching for Helen Stephens, 16, of 1508 Marie street, Wilkinsburg, who is believed to be working in Pittsburgh. The girl disappeared Tuesday night en route to a store. The girl's mother, Mrs. A. J. Stephens, believes that the girl came to the city to obtain a place against her parents' wishes.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: How Can This Bandit Problem Be Solved?

Libby Dingfelt

MISS LIBBY DINGFELT, North Side, stenographer: "Prosperity would cure it. But why should people work when they can bootleg? That, at least, is the way lots and lots of people look at it. If you modify prohibition and give the working man and woman decent wages, the criminal will go to work."

Mrs. Farbacher

MRS. CYRIL FARBACHER, Sharpsburg, housewife: "Get rid of some of our foolish laws. Keep the sensible ones that the public recognizes and will respect. Enforce them rigidly. Catch and convict all the bandits quickly. That's how to solve the problem."

Doris Summers

MISS DORIS SUMMERS, Brookline, telephone operator: "The authorities show partiality to bandits with political pull. Impartial justice would solve a large part of the problem. Modification of the prohibition laws might help.

Max Kramer

Max Kramer, East End, salesman: "It's all due to prohibition, I think. The young fellows are leading fast lives. They take their flasks to parties and want to show their girls a big time. Then they find they don't have the money to keep up the fast pace. They hold somebody up, or steal some money some place. Beer and light wines would solve three-fourths of the banditry problem by cutting down the fast pace of the younger generation."

Nellie Lynch

MISS NELLIE LYNCH, East End, stenographer: "Give bandits less publicity, and people won't think they are all heroes. Just now, their deeds get all the publicity and their convictions (if any) get mighty little. Another thing: it's too long between their apprehension and their trial. Speed up justice!"

G. J. Hyland

G. J. HYLAND, Chicago, executive secretary: "Speaking for Chicago, and I suppose that applies to Pittsburgh as well, politics should be taken out of the police department. Educate the people to the feeling that banditry is not a profession, but a crime. Those two things will help as much as any other two I know."

Custody of Children Given To Young Mother

A contest between the mother and grandmother of four small children for their custody was decided in favor of the mother in Common Pleas Court when Judge James B. Drew handed down an order transferring custody to the mother, Mrs. Ursula Griffiths, 21, of Coraopolis.

Her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Griffiths, of 2015 Texdale street, has had possession of the children and resisted the mother's plea to regain them under a writ of habeas corpus. Mrs. Griffiths, the younger, who bore five children during the five years since her marriage at the age of 16, and her husband, Benjamin Griffiths, who died February 17 last, lived with Mrs. Griffiths, the elder.

The mother and her four surviving children, Dorothy L., Benjamin B., James E. and June M. Griffiths, whose ages ranged from six months to four years, continued to reside there.

November 24 last, the mother alleged she was forced from the home by her mother-in-law. She denied charges she had neglected the children, maintaining that her relatives-in-law were unfriendly to her. She asked to be allowed to take her children to the home of a sister in Coraopolis, where she is living.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 12.

While giving tremendous publicity to men and industries for assisting in "maintaining prosperity," let's don't overlook the part some states are playing.

Florida, Alabama and Georgia, during this return to normalcy, are the largest producers of distilled liquors, while New York, Pennsylvania and little Maryland lead the consumers.

The statistics also shows that prosperity from this industry would have been even greater, was it not for the fact that in order for the product to go from the southern producer to the northern consumer, it had to pass through Washington, D. C., and that it was almost impossible to get liquor past Washington.

Yours, WILL.

PROPERTY OWNERS PROTEST FIFTH AVENUE WIDENING

PLANS' FRIENDS OUTNUMBERED AT HEARING

Planners Predict Long Delay To Actual Work, But Fail To Win Those Opposed

Objectors to the widening of Fifth avenue from 60 to 80 feet between Shalom street and Point Breeze, 3½ miles, outnumbered supporters about three to one at a hearing last night before the city planning commission in Council Chamber.

Invitations had been sent to 240 property owners abutting the proposed improvement, and 163 responded. Requests for expressions on the proposal resulted in 41 speakers opposing it, 12 favoring it, and 12 who will reply later. A printed questionaire was distributed and will be tabulated later.

L. W. Monteverde, chairman of the commission, explained the state law permitted Pittsburgh, through its adoption of a major highway plan, to initiate surveys for the relocation of streets.

He declared the commission was attempting merely to establish set back lines for future protection. He implied the improvement might be deferred for years.

COUNCIL TO DECIDE

Frederick Bigger, of the commission, declared that City Council would make the final decision on the project and that the planners' duty primarily was to recommend lines.

James Francis Burke favored the widening, and declared that abutting property would be benefitted thereby.

Others urging the improvement were: R. A. Phillips, speaking for R. B. Mellon; Dr. E. R. Weidlein, of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research; Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh; E. W. Mudge, W. J. Guthrie, John E. Born, W. Heber Dithrich, solicitor for Allegheny County; E. C. Weffing, F. W. Boland, A. Goldstein and the General Outdoor Advertising Company.

OPPOSED BY AARON

The project was opposed by Marcus Aaron, president of the Board of Public Education, who said the widening would cut 20 feet of lawn from the H. C. Frick Teachers Training School. He also protested on behalf of Rodef Shalom Congregation, and explained that the widening would compel the rebuilding of the synagogue at a cost of $1,000,000.

Attorney A. M. Ambrie, speaking for himself and W. E. Conroy, opposed the widening, as "it would take every tree off Fifth avenue from Point Breeze to Neville street."

Dr. F. H. Fundenberg said he objected because it would convert Fifth avenue into a speedway."

P. F. Gallagher and Charles W. Houston, representing the congregation of St. Paul's Cathedral, explained that the improvement would seriously interfere with the entrance of the church.

OWNERS PROTEST

Mrs. M. K. Caughey would withdraw her opposition, she said, if the city would move her house back far enough to allow the same size lawn as now exists.

C. M. Best was "strenuously" opposed to "losing any part of my lawn." He said he could not see the necessity for the project.

READING 80,000 PITTSBURGH PUPILS' TRAFFIC ESSAYS

TRAFFIC ESSAYS SCANNED

The selection of winning essays in the Better Traffic Committee Essay contest in Pittsburgh schools is nearing completion. Almost 95 per cent of the eligible school children of Pittsburgh took part in the contest, writing more than 80,000 compositions.

The Better Traffic Committee is meeting regularly in an effort to complete the selection as rapidly as possible.

Contestants in all grades of the public and parochial schools, excepting the first three grades, submitted essays. They wrote on three subjects. The fourth, fifth and sixth grades had for subject, "What are the most dangerous traffic points in your neighborhood and what can be done to improve them?"

The seventh, eighth and ninth grades wrote on "How can pedestrian accidents be reduced?" "With the signal system in operation in downtown Pittsburgh and East Liberty, what else can be done to improve traffic in these districts?" was the subject of the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades.

RAIDERS SEIZE FOUR STILLS

Raiding two dwellings, prohibition agents yesterday seized two 50-gallon stills and arrested two men.

A still and 75 gallons of moonshine confiscated in the home of Carmelo Laquatro, 51, of 1215 Franklin street, resulted in his arrest, according to the agents. Laquatro was released on his own recognizance.

Frank Aliato, 30, was arrested, agents said, in a raid on a house at 112 Twenty-fifth street. A still and a small quantity of moonshine was found on the third floor, raiders declared.

Motorcycle, Auto Hit, Rider Hurt

Daniel Montenary, 25, of 658 Greenfield avenue, a switch cleaner for the Pittsburgh Railways Company, was probably fatally injured today, when the motorcycle he was riding crashed into an automobile on the Duquesne-Dravosburg road. He was removed to the McKeesport Hospital, suffering from a crushed skull. William Wunderlich, 123 North Second street, Duquesne, driver of the automobile, was unhurt.

38 EXECUTED IN KABUL PLOT

PESHAWAR, India, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Reports from Kabul, Afghanistan, said that Nadir Khan, recently elected king, has sent an expedition to the Koidaman district to suppress an insurgent movement against the government.

According to one report, 29 persons were brought to Kabul and beheaded. Nine others were said to have been executed at Kabul for conspiracy on December 5. Koidaman is in the northwestern part of the country.

NEW CAR BLAST PREVENTED

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Further street car dynamiting was believed by police to have been prevented last midnight when a passerby came upon three men laying explosive on car tracks.

William R. Diettel told the police of seeing three men get out of a large green automobile and place three sticks of dynamite on the tracks. When the trio saw him, he said, they jumped back in the car, taking the dynamite with them, and escaped. Diettel said that the license number of the car was covered with a white rag.

DRUGGIST'S END LAID TO POISON

Deputy coroners investigating the death of Irvin S. Smith, 39, a druggist, of 469 Mifflin street, Wilkinsburg, today said he died from the effects of poison.

His body was found yesterday in a room in the Shamrock Hotel, 604 Wylie avenue, where he registered Tuesday as J. Stoner, of Pittsburgh, morgue attaches said.

A note found beside the body led deputy coroners to believe that Smith had taken his own life. It read:

"Only a coward would do what I am thinking of doing, but everything is lost and doomed, so I can't see any other way out. Forgive me if possible." It was signed "I. S. S."

The disappearance of Smith, who was scheduled to be a commonwealth witness in a narcotic case in Criminal Court Tuesday, was reported to county detectives a few minutes before his body was found.

The victim's brother, John H. Smith, of 12 Alvin street, who identified the body at the county morgue last night, said his brother's mentality was affected at times by pain from an injury suffered in a fall a year ago.

YOUNG BANDITS GET TERMS

The bandit career of Richard Gussie and Alex Kerichner, 18-year-old Bairdford, Pa., boys, was short lived. After a wild career, extending over the last two weeks of October, they were arrested November 1, indicted by the December Grand Jury, and today began serving indefinite sentences at the Huntingdon reformatory, which will probably run until they are 21.

After serving six weeks in jail, the youths went before Judge Harry Rowand, and pleaded guilty to committing six holdups and highway robberies. They had an automobile in which they cruised from Pittsburgh to outlying towns in search of victims. Those robbed included the shoe store of Phillip Denmark, robbed of $65 while Denmark and his wife were held at the point of revolvers; Meyer Rosenthal, 2066 East Sixth street, Tarentum, $50; Saul Caplan, Natrona, $52; Karl Grucella, Springdale, $10; J. M. Schankweiler, barbecue stand, Harmer Township, $62, and Jacob Sloan, Plum Township, $27.

Contributions Announced at Celebration of Sixtieth Anniversary of School

Contributions totaling $100,000 have been made to the building fund of the Pennsylvania College for Women by the alumnae association, it was announced by Mrs. George M. Swan, president of the alumnae organization. The announcement was made in chapel yesterday at services marking the sixtieth anniversary of the granting of the charter to the college. The money is part of a pledge of $250,000 made to the fund in honor of the president, Dr. Cora Helen Coolidge.

GIFT TO LIBRARY

At the same time Miss Coolidge revealed that $100,000 of the one half million dollars given the college last year, had been contributed for a memorial library. Plans for the library are being prepared.

The library site on the campus has not yet been decided upon. The building will have a capacity of 35,000 volumes and probably will be the third unit in the building program begun last summer, including the building of an addition to Woodland Hall dormitory.

STEADY GROWTH

The institution, originally the Pennsylvania Female College, has grown from its four acre plot in 1869 to more than 10 acres. At first there was but one building, Berry Hall, but now there is a group of seven buildings.

The first year's graduating class in 1873 had six girls. Last year 70 young women were graduated from the institution.

DOG'S HOWLING REVEALS FIRE

Thanks to Ben's insomnia the loss was only $2,200.

At 1:20 a. m. today Ben looked out of his front door and saw flames shooting from the home of Robert McClatchie, at 3813 Pier street. He knew things weren't right.

Ross, roused from his sleep, heard Ben howling for all he was worth. Looking out of the rear window Ross discovered the cause. Then, rousing Mr. and Mrs. Cammillo Sandulli, living on the second floor, he awakened McClatchie, his wife andd aughter, Mary, who escaped from their burning home in their night clothing. Ross then sounded an alarm. Smoke drove Mr. and Mrs. William F. Laird and their infant daughter from their home at 3817 Pier street.

The fire spread to the Ross home, damaging it to the extent of $200. McClatchie's loss was $2,000, firemen said.

Pupils Hold Bake Sales To Provide Vets' Treat

Disabled veterans of the World War in Pittsburgh are going to have a merry Christmas, if pupils of the Jackson school, Bellevue, have their way.

The two divisions of Grade 8-A belong to the Junior Red Cross. This organization makes a practice of furnishing candy-filled stockings for the disabled veterans each Christmas.

The Jackson school pupils according to Miss Agnes B. Dickson, principal, have not only have filled stockings but they have raised the money to pay for the candy used and made the stockings.

About 40 boys and girls took part in the work. Miss Marguerite McMeekin and Miss Mary Graham, their teachers, supervised the work. They raised the money by "bake sales." Bellevue business men allowed them to use a store room on two Saturdays. There they sold cakes, bread, and other baked goods which they had made during their free hours at home. All told, these boys and girls secured about $70.

Then the children obtained net cut in the shape of stockings. Both boys and girls wielded needles making the stockings, stuffing and tying them.

Only part of their money has been used in this way. About $40 is left to buy candy for other hospitals and charities. Fruit and nuts will also be distributed

RODEF SHALOM MEN'S GROUP HEARS TALK

Church Leader Terms Chief Work That of Preserving Moral Thinking of People

Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of the New York area of the Methodist Episcopal Church and president of the Federal Council of Churches in Christ, was the first of a series of speakers to participate in the symposium on "The Place of Religion in the Modern World," being conducted under the auspices of the Men's Society of Temple Rodef Shalom, Fifth and Morewood avenues.

A large gathering heard Bishop McConnell, former head of the Methodist Episcopal Church here, in the temple last night. He was introduced by Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson, pastor. Louis J. Bloch, president of the Men's Society, presided.

The Bishop said in part:

"The greatest menace of religion today is the return or revival of the old spirit of heathenism, or the loosening of the bonds of discipline. The place for religion in the modern world, therefore, is to preserve the moral thinking, at the heart of the Hebrew and Christian religion, to neutralize the influence of the lack of discipline.

"For religion is to grapple with reality and not to deal with mere speculation; to control the material force of the world so that man might control the tools or influences of life and not be controlled by them."

2 FETES MARK ANNEXATION IN OVERBROOK

Officials, Politicians at Republican Meeting and Borough Officials' Party

Two political gatherings were held by city and county Republican leaders and officials and political leaders of Overbrook borough last night, celebrating the annexation of the borough by the city next month. One gathering, staged by the committee men and women of the Republican organization in Overbrook, was held in Eagles' Hall, Carrick, and the other, sponsored by borough officers, was held in the municipal building.

Attorney John J. McGrath, one of the leaders of the successful annexation movement, presided as toastmaster at the Eagles Hall. Peter G. Sehn was general chairman. The speakers were Mayor Charles H. Kline, State Senators Frank P. Harris and James J. Coyne, Councilmen W. Y. English, John S. Herron and P. J. McArdle and Councilman-elect Clifford B. Connelley, Director Edward G. Lang, of the Public Works Department, Controller Daniel Winters, City Solicitor Charles S. Waldschmidt and Representatives Michael A. Musmanno, Helen Grimes and Matthew Dunn.

At the affair staged by the borough officials, John R. Herring, president of council, presided. Approximately 400 persons were present. The speakers were Senator Harris, Councilman McArdle, Burgess Ernest Meier, and Councilmen Edward E. Meier and Harry Zoller. Annexation will be effective January 6.

Weather Conditions.

The Canadian high pressure area, which passed north of the lakes, is now centered over New England. It caused a drop in temperature over the North and Middle Atlantic Coast states. Elsewhere the temperature changes were slight and generally towards rising. The Pacific coast low pressure area is still centered in the far Northwest, but a center appears to be developing in its eastern extremity over Missouri. The weather is cloudy nearly everywhere from the central plains to the coast and misting rain is falling over the Ohio Valley states and eastern plains.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 4.1 feet; Lock No. 7, 12.2; Pittsburgh, 13.9; Dam No. 2, 11.3; Dam No. 6, 12.5; Dam No. 9, 12.3, and Dam No. 9, 9.7. The dams are down. The Allegheny ice is going out. The most of it is now in the Third and Fourth pools, although there is some as far down as Dam No. 4 in the Ohio. The ice is light, and while the river is covered over with ice at Lock No. 4, it will not seriously impede navigation.

Radio to Carry Ortiz Rubio's Talk Tonight

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., announced that Pascual Ortiz Rubio, president-elect of Mexico, will speak at 8 o'clock (Eastern Standard time) tonight over a nation-wide hookup from Station WABC, New York.

Senor Ortiz Rubio's speech will be delivered in English, and is expected to last about five minutes. The hookup will include the United States, Canada and part of Mexico.

DRY VIOLATORS SENTENCED

Thomas Miller, of McKeesport; Nick Monica, of 7313 Susquehanna street, and Nick Colbago, of Pine alley, Carnegie, convicted in Federal Court on charges of violating the prohibition law, were each sentenced four months to jail.

Pleading guilty to violations of the prohibition law, John Klenak, of McKeesport, was sentenced two months to jail; Bessie Smith, of Pittsburgh, was fined $200; Lawrence Ragni, of Carnegie, $200 fine and two months in jail; Thomas Smalls, $100 fine and one month in jail; Joseph Markowitz, of Pittsburgh, $400 fine; Gasper Markovitz, of Sturgeon, $300 and three months in jail, and Mary Markovitz, one year parole.

Morningside School To Stage Operetta

"A Dream Come True," a Japanese operetta, will be given tonight at the Morningside School auditorium by the primary department of the Messiah Lutheran Church. The children will wear Japanese costumes and will be directed by Rose G. Fossee and teachers of the primary department. Besides the operetta there will be included in the program several vocal solos, instrumental numbers and solo dancing. The proceeds from the event will be used to reduce the indebtedness on the church property.

PAGEANT WILL FEATURE TREE

A parade and pageant will mark North Side's Christmas celebration at the community Christmas tree being erected in Ober Park, opposite old City Hall.

Clustered about a 26-foot tree will be 125 smaller trees built into a huge display. The work is being carried out under direction of City Superintendent of Parks James Moore.

The program will be staged the night of December 18 under auspices of the North Side Chamber of Commerce, the North Side Market House Association and the East North Side Business Men's Association. Prizes will be awarded.

A huge parade with many floats planned will open the observance and the committee is now preparing for singing of carols and other musical features.

2 MEN FOR EACH BED IN JAIL

Jail Warden John McNeil's plea to Federal Court to decrease the number of prisoners given jail sentences in an effort to prevent further overcrowding today brought a counter plea from Federal authorities. They asked at noon that he try to accommodate just another dozen Federal prisoners.

That dozen, with eight more from other sources, would bring the jail population to 769, and will mean that two prisoners must be assigned to a single cell, Warden McNeil said. It will also mean that they must take turns sleeping, for there is only one cot to a cell.

PITTSBURGHERS ESCAPE FIRE

Little Lois and Jean Sterner, former students at the Liberty public school, East End, were among the score or more persons rescued from the fire which swept the studio of the Manhattan File Company, in New York, Tuesday. The sisters escaped uninjured with a number of other theatrical folk. Ten persons met death in the blaze.

The sisters, daughters of O. R. Sterner, East End manager of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, have appeared in numerous kirmesses and theatrical performances here. Some time ago they apppeared for the first time in the movies. Tuesday they were engaged in making a "talkie" when the fire interrupted their work.

Lois, 15, is a toe dancer and singer. Jean, 11, also dances. The children had been with their mother in New York for several weeks. They returned to Pittsburgh for Thanksgiving, visiting relatives in Homewood. They intended to return here for Christmas.

The children were well known in Pittsburgh and had appeared in shows presented by the Duquesne Light Company, the Philadelphia Company and several other local companies.

Cleaning Plant Robbed of Clothes

Robbers entered the Howard Cleaning Company's place, 5704 Penn avenue, last night, and carried off clothing valued at $2,200, according to a report of the company to the police today. Entrance was gained by jimmying a rear window.

Mrs. Wood, Radio Composer, Dies At Age of 63

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Vilpha Barnes Wood, composer and conductor, died at her home in Queens yesterday. She was 63 years old.

Mrs. Wood, who was known to radio audiences for her broadcasts of condensed versions of grand opera, once directed the activities of the Grand Opera Society of New York, which she organized in 1915 to promote grand opera in English.

STORE EMPLOYE HELD IN THEFT

Edward Lacher, 37, of 517 Avery street, arrested early today by Patrolman Joseph Scanlon at his home in connection with the theft of merchandise from a downtown store, was held for investigation when arraigned in North Side Police Court today.

Later in the day three other employes of the store were arrested. They said they were John Retsch, 45, of 2942 Azul street; M. T. Hurley, 30, of 2818 Eccles street, and William Beck, 32, of 1222 Warner street. Suspicious person charges were lodged agaist them.

Scanlon testified that after making the arrest he went to another apartment occupied by Lacher at 117 West Ohio street and recovered four trunks and three boxes of merchandise valued at $3,000.

Lacher said he has been employed in the marking and receiving department of Kaufmann's for seven years. He denied taking the articles, but police said he is suspected of stealing much more than has been recovered. The four will be arraigned Saturday.

2ND AVE. PAVING COST SOUGHT

Council has asked Public Works Director Edward G. Lang to submit an estimate of the cost of repaving Second avenue from Ross street to Greenfield avenue.

Lang was summoned when a delegation of Hazelwood-Glenwood residents appeared at a hearing of Council yesterday to urge the improvement.

The director admitted the street needed repairing and as a result of studies he recommended that the foundation as well as the surface be replaced.

Lang also said that consideration had been given to widening Second avenue at various points by reducing the width of the sidewalks where the existing area was not needed.

Estate Left Widow During Lifetime

The will of Donald McKaig, 6729 Penn avenue, filed for probate, today, disposes of an estate consisting of realty of unestimated value and $1,000 personal property. The estate goes to his widow, Frederica, then in equal shares to a son Donald and a daughter Muriel, who are not to receive the principal until they are 30. Donald Woodward, of Washington, is named guardian and the Peoples Pittsburgh Trust company executor.

Enthusiasm Marks Quest For Popular Teacher

The day is drawing near when East Liberty children will have their second free theater party in a week. All the boys and girls who are interested in the search for East Liberty's most popular teacher have been invited. Most of them, probably, will attend Saturday morning.

Enthusiasm among residents of the East End is high. Everyone is guessing, or trying to guess, the district's most popular teachers' names. There will be a lot more guessing after Saturday, when it is seen how many boys and girls are voting in the campaign.

The R. K. O. Sheridan Square Theater will be host to the throngs. "Rio Rita" is being held over especially for their guests. There will be no admission charge, according to J. O. Hooley, manager of the house. The film will start promptly at 9 o'clock in the morning and will only be shown once.

The Authorized East Liberty merchants participating in the quest give their customers one vote with each 10 cent purchase; or two votes with a 20 cent purchase, and so on. These votes may be cast for any teacher whom the customer wishes to have awarded a valuable Christmas gift.

One teacher will be chosen from every grade. They will not compete against teachers in grades other than their own.

The Christmas gifts which the Authorized East Liberty Merchants will award are high-priced radios. Philco DeLuxe Radios have been chosen.

The contest closes Christmas eve. The gifts will be awarded the day after Christmas, in a large East Liberty theater.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Folks Turn Out For Stage and Play Group's Opening

LAST night a great many society folks went to see their friends' brief hour upon the stage at the opening performance of the season in Carnegie Music Hall of the Stage and Play Society. And the plays were "Wrong Numbers," "Incorrigible," and "The Marble God."

Many social leaders were there last evening and a few of their sons and daughters, too. Arriving early were Mrs. Norwood Johnston and Mrs. Andrew Herron wrapped in black velvet. Mrs. Johnston's coat had a collar of white fox.

A vivid gown of orange chiffon, made very long, was worn by Mrs. D. T. R. Dickson. And her coat was grey squirrel.

Neil Stewart Zang wore a long black velvet gown in the princess mode and a coat of olive green velvet, with a sable collar. With her was her aunt, Miss Neil Stewart, in black lace, and Mrs. William S. Clark, of Bedford, Pa., Miss Stewart's house guest. And Mrs. Walter Chess was with them, too, wearing a gown of black velvet and net.

Among the late arrivals were the James P. Cassidys and Mrs. Matthew Taylor. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Cassidy wore black velvet.

Very striking was Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby in a gown of black chiffon, made with a long draped skirt ending in a brief train. She, with Mrs. William Moorhead, distinctive in a severely simple dress of black velvet, were taking tickets.

I caught sight of Paulin Bauersmith, in a black crepe gown, arriving with Mrs. Edwin H. Fisher. And earlier in the evening I saw Eleanor Grier in dahlia chiffon with a green velvet coat.

One of the debutantes there was Martha Edmondson in a long, clinging gown of green chiffon, and apple green velvet coat with fluffy white fox collar.

Just before the play began the I. A. Bennetts arrived with Lillian Roberts, Mrs. John Ricketson, Jr., and Mrs. H. Allen Machesney in pale blue chiffon. Mrs. H. C. McEldowney was there, too, and Mrs. John W. Lawrence, and Mrs. E. J. Keeble.

I saw Mrs. William J. Powell, the former Geraldine West, chatting in the foyer with her sister, Helen West, and Mrs. Arthur A. Little. Mrs. Powell wore a gown of eggshell satin and an ermine coat, and Helen chose a gown of apricot satin and a turquoise blue velvet wrap, furred in white fox.

And I also remember seeing Mrs. John L. McK. Yardley, the Carroll Fitzhughs, Mrs. Remmsen V. Messler and Mrs. William Penn Snyder. Mrs. Snyder wore red velvet.

Harriet Fickes, another bud of the season, was at the opening, wearing rose metallic cloth and ermine wrap and Betty McCance, a debutante of next season, arrived with her sister, Helen, and Mrs. Arthur A. Little. Betty was in blue metallic cloth wrap, and a brown chiffon gown, and her sister wore a gown of black fishnet and a vivid coral velvet wrap.

Mrs. A. Cameron Mann was in Nile green crepe; Mrs. Reginald G. Quaile in orchid chiffon and Mary McAteer, shell pink chiffon with a short coat of brown velvet. Mrs. Harvey Childs wore a black ensemble.

THE quickening tempo of the holiday season brings more debuts than ever. Yesterday in the home of the William Christopher Robinsons, of Ridge avenue, their daughter, Mary Franklin Robinson, made her bow to society. She received in the drawing room, which was lovely with the bud's gift bouquets and large silver urns of scarlet and yellow roses, which were also used in the reception hall and elsewhere in the house. Mary was vivid in a gown of deep coral chiffon velvet with the princess silhouette and a flaring skirt. And a lovely deep bertha collar of cream lace formed brief sleeves. Her bouquet was of coral Van Rossan roses and white spray orchids tied with wide streamers of coral ribbon.

Mrs. Robinson, who received with her daughter, of course, was stately in a gown of deep dahlia fishnet lace in princess mode, with full flaring skirt ending in a brief train and with a drape of the same material caught at the waist with a cluster of brilliants. And she wore a shoulder corsage of white gardenias. Mrs. Maitland Alexander, who received with her sister and niece, wore a simple gown of dahlia crepe.

In the dining room and adjoining sun porch, where tea was served, yellow chrysanthemums and roses were placed here and there in tall vases. On the tea table a profusion of Scott Key roses added a bright note and the tall cream-colored tapers in silver candelabra gave a soft glow. Crimson poinsettias and yellow roses made the sun porch bright and cheery.

Mrs. Robinson had asked to assist her, Miss Anne Robinson, Mrs. Alexander Laughlin Robinson, Mrs. Maitland Alexander, Mrs. Henry H. Robinson, Mrs. Stuart H. Robinson, Mrs. Robert Milligan, Mrs. John H. Ricketson, Jr., Mrs. Douglas Stewart, Mrs. Frank Scott Willock, Mrs. C. I. Shannon, Mrs. Carroll P. Davis, Mrs. H. N. Van Voorhis, Mrs. Frank Faber Brooks, Mrs. Frank N. Black, Mrs. G. Greer Coolidge, Mrs. Eugene L. Messler and Mrs. James Verner Scaife.

And then the bud had asked several sister debs to receive with her including Katherine Collin, Frances Forsythe, Marie Louise Bickford, Caroline Crittenden, Rebecca Doyle, Ruth Drake, Laura Evans, Rosamound Fitch, Helen Pendleton, Frances Reed, Margaret and Anne Rose, Anne Douglas Stewart, Virginia Wright, Emily Frew, Mary Elizabeth Floyd, Lydia Irish, Dorothy Jarvis, Peggy Milligan and Susan Potter O'Neil.

AND now St. Moritz, favorite for winter sports and Alpine climbing, is beckoning to the smart set, and Monday Jane Marshall, daughter of the Charles D. Marshalls, of Fifth avenue, who will be a bud of next winter, and her sister, Mary Margaret Marshall, a bud of last season, will arrive at the popular resort to participate in the sports. And I have heard that others who will go there are Mrs. Frank J. Kier, of Beechwood boulevard, and her daughter, Frances, who probably will be presented next season, too. Jane and Mary Marshall plan to return home in June, following the completion of Jane's studies in Paris.

And Madelaine Alexander, daughter of the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander and Mrs. Alexander, of the North Side and Sewickley, is studying in Paris this winter and will be formally presented next winter, and also in Paris is Virginia Drake, daughter of the J. Frank Drakes, of Pembroke place.

I also happen to know that next week there'll be several guests at the Marshall home, the William W. Darsies, of Baltimore. Mrs. Darsie was formerly Elizabeth P. Marshall. Lawrence E. Wilson and his bride, who was formerly Dorothy Marshall, of New York, will also be guests, and they plan to remain during the Christmas holidays.

ALREADY June debuts are being planned though winter activities are becoming more and more numerous. I've heard that the Frank Scott Willocks, of Academy avenue, Sewickley, will present their daughter, Ruth, who is returning a week from today from the French School in New York, in the June season. And at the same time another girl who will make her bow in June is Betty McCance, daughter of the Frank K. McCances, of Thomas boulevard.

New England Women in Drama

HEIRLOOMS, some of them more than 100 years old, served as properties for "Rose O' Plymouth-town," which the Pittsburgh Colony of New England Women gave last night in celebration of "forefathers' day." The play, which was under the skillful direction of Mrs. T. C. Clifford, was presented in East Liberty Carnegie Library before an appreciative audience of husbands, friends and families.

The cast, uniformly satisfactory in both interpretation and acting, included Mrs. Clifford, Mrs. George Pearson, Mrs. Edward B. Lee, Mrs. Charles Mundo, Mrs. Sarah C. Pettit, Miss Elizabeth Keith, Miss Georgia Pearson and Miss Lois Clifford.

As Rose, the heroine, Miss Keith wore a cape that has been in the Clifford family for more than 100 years, and others of the costumes were those used in the Plymouth centenary pageant of 1920. Brass candlesticks, ladder back chairs, a pewter mug, the spinning wheel (to use which Mrs. Lee had taken a spinning lesson) and the guns and pistols were all antiques.

THE annual buffet supper of the South Hills College Club will take place tomorrow night at 924 Washington road in conjunction with a Christmas and anniversary party. Miss Alice Schoenefeldt and Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine will sing and several readings will be given by Miss Iva Keefer. For several years this event has been one of the most popular of the season's program and is in charge of the social and program committees and the executive board of the club. As in previous years, the club will hold a reception to new members. Due to the holidays, no other meeting of the club will be held during December. On January 10 Dr. John Coleman, of Geneva College, will speak on "International Relations."

THE regular monthly meeting of the Kappa Delta Alumnae will be held at the home of Dr. Helen Gilmore, Walnut street, on Saturday afternoon.

SPORT CLOTHES OF TWEED TO DOMINATE THE MODE

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Dec. 12.—If Winter comes, can tweeds be far behind? This paraphrase of Shelley's lovely words is but an expression of assurance that Spring will see us well tweeded in suits, coats and ensembles, according to the prophecies of certain erudite stylists who watch and weigh the way of the mode. Tweeds in their new light and supple weaves are ideal for all garments designed for sports and spectator sport wear, being light, comfortable and warm, all good qualities on cool, brisk days. Not so many sports or semi-sports clothes have been shown this season, the present era of femininity relegating such clothes to their proper environment, which just now is not the restaurant or bridge table. Such sports wear as is shown is intended for strenuous wear later in the season at various Winter resorts, but not for urban wear, which is obvious in view of the long skirt and other evidences of the present trend.

THE always interesting house of Philippe et Gaston have just presented their attractive mid-season collection, and we have elected to show you a tweed costume that it is believed presages something of the fashion as it will be next Spring. It is an intensely practical ensemble in fine tweed of light weight mixture in red with a fine white thread. It consists of a frock, simply but effectively tailored, worn beneath a sleeveless full-length coat with a shallow cape. The wrap-over effect at the center of the cape and back of the coat is further accentuated by a row of red buttons. A slight circular movement is found in the cape and skirt of the coat.

DON'T you agree that the nice little frock of this ensemble deserves a sketch for itself? It is, of course, of the same red and white tweed as the coat, but has a yoke and sleeve-jabot of heavy white crepe georgette. Red buttons, similar to those on the coat, are used to trim the front of the bodice and skirt, and also add their quota of color to the sleeves. The skirt repeats the wrapped-over circular effect found in the coat.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Mary Patricia Dawn, young and beautiful, is in love with Guy Elliott, handsome aviator. Guy is perfecting a plane which old William Bryce is to manufacture. Pat meets Bryce's widowed daughter-in-law and wonders if Guy is intrigued by Barbara's beauty. Bryce sends Tom Burns, a workman, to jail for attempted robbery. Pat has gay times with Lee Templeton, young college student. Pat's father is stricken with pneumonia and dies. The family considers giving up the big house because of the heavy expenses. Guy, hoping to help the Dawns, tries to urge Bryce to manufacture his plane. He learns the old man has lost a fortune. Mrs. Dawn gives her life savings to Bryce to invest. Guy, fearing Bryce may use the money to cover his own losses, tries to recover it. Bryce reluctantly surrenders the bonds, swearing vengeance on Guy. He discontinues financing the airplane factory, but holds Guy to his contract which prevents another concern from selling Guy's plane. Billie Bryce is kidnaped. The same day a stranger makes off with Guy's plane with Pat in it. Guy disappears, the third person to vanish. Detectives find a few of Billie's hairs in Guy's abandoned automobile. Bryce receives a ransom note saying Billie will die unless $20,000 is paid. Bryce follows instructions given in the note and places the money at a designated spot. The money vanishes is spite of the fact that detectives have been watching the place. The kidnaper, however, fails to return Billie. Detectives discover that a dog like Guy's carried the ransom money away.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXI.

WHERE the dog had emerged there was no visible outlet to the flume; the top, the bottom and the exposed side were all intact.

The inner wall, wedged against the cliff, must either have rotted or been removed to permit the dog's egress.

They examined it and found that boards cut for a distance of two feet, the hillside against it scooped free so the dog had an easy path to the cliff below.

He had raced down the cliff, crossed a narrow gulley and with the thick underbrush for a screen made for the wooded hill opposite.

In a flash hill and canyon were alive with searching men. They went plunging down the rough slope and through the brush after the dog.

Just about here they lost sight of him. The trees were unusually thick. Suddenly one of their number raised his hand. Below them in a little clearing the dog stood at attention, motionless, nose and tail pointed. Long before they reached the spot the setter bounded away. They noted, excitedly, that he didn't have the box in his mouth.

Somewhere along this hill he had dropped it! Was this, then, the solution? This what had happened last Friday night when the ransom box with its $20,000 had vanished?

A dog has been trained to run through the flume, retrieve a certain kind of a package and bring it to a designated spot? From this spot, had the kidnaper of little Billy Bryce taken it and made good his escape? But how?

They tramped down underbrush. They kicked through the earth savagely. If they could only find this substitute box, they might come upon a clue, learn how the dog and his master made connections, how that fellow had eluded them.

Had he walked from this hill a full mile back to the highway, climbed in a machine and driven away? Almost in their hands, they had allowed him to pass?

But in the impenetrable darkness of that Friday night, no white man could have found his way.

It was about 5:30 now. Only half an hour ago the sun had set. Already the shadows were bewildering; already they had moments of odd uncertainty.

At midnight the hills were a wilderness, black, rolling, vast. And he would not have dared to use a light.

Their burning questions received suddenly an electrifying answer. Two men, dropping from the clearing, came abruptly upon an abandoned dirt road. It was rough; in parts deep with sand; the sides went down in ditches. But it was passable. It wound through little farms and truck gardens in and out over the hills. Four miles to the south it joined the main highway.

They hadn't known of this road. They hadn't guarded it. Were they on the right track then? The dog had stolen the ransom, sped noiselessly down the flume, laid it in his master's hands. And the dog's master had triumphantly made a getaway down this forgotten road.

Wait a while—very quietly; the dog was hungry and would return for the meat. Intelligent fellow—that setter.

Elliott had a brown setter—called him Jim. Was this Elliott's dog? Briefly he summed up facts. Whoever owned that animal had trained him well. Must have taken enormous patience. Dog hungry for the meat, but the moment he saw the box he went for it and left the bone.

And the man who used this dog had worked out incredible details. Like concealing the outlet and widening the flume so that two hundred yards from the mouth the dog was able to turn about. He didn't have to back three-quarters of a mile with the precious package.

Chase had ripped the covering and discovered a couple of boards taken from the inner side; the dirt of the hill scooped away so that for a brief space the flume was three feet instead of the 10 inches wide. The flume's top had been replaced with meticulous care.

This was the reason, too, why the kidnaper had sent the receptacle in which the money was to be placed. Better to have the box to which the dog was trained. And it needed the strong handle. Must have lain awake many a night planning this.

The one thing he couldn't fathom was this—why had the man allowed the dog to stray back here and give him away? In a very short time he came with shock upon an answer.

He had his light shining faintly on the flume's mouth—just enough to make sure of the dog's presence should he return. He left a little of the meat there at the outlet but the bulk of it was at his own elbow.

And now, sitting there motionless, he was again looking into the dog's eye. The dog sniffed, ran his nose along the ground, took one cautious step.

Tim Chase didn't stir, except lazily to move his pipe, blow a smoke ring upward. The dog was taking that first bit of meat. But all on guard—he was backing into the flume, eyes fastened on the inert figure five feet from him.

An interval of moments and again, with ghostly quiet the dog appeared at the flume. He thrust his head forward, low to the ground. Three or four times he repeated this maneuver.

Chase said softly, "S'all right, Jim."

The dog crouched back. Chase flung him a piece of the meat with a lazy: "Well—there you are, old fellow. If you want the rest come for it."

"Here you are, Jim," said the man, holding it in the palm of his hand.

Slowly, putting a paw forward and immediately withdrawing it, the dog advanced. As Chase didn't stir he grew confident; he began to wag his tail.

Chase talked to him, tore the meat into bits and held it out. The dog came up and ate from his hand.

"Pretty hungry, Jim?"

The dog licked his wrist. He answered to the name all right. Was he Elliott's Jim?

And he stood quietly when the detective fastened a collar to his neck. As Chase held the leash and ordered softly: "Let's fetch it, Jim! Go fetch it!" the dog jumped about impatiently.

But with the start toward the flume, he pulled back with all his strength. He hugged along the ground and could not be induced to follow.

"Now—what's up?"

With quick tugs, the dog pulled in the opposite direction. He pawed and gave sharp, imperious barks. Then he went up, took the detective's coat in his teeth and tried to yank him down through the thicket.

"All right, Jim—you lead!"

In the night, the scene had a wild, remote aspect. The bright strips of valley, the terraces with truck gardens and the great fields of artichokes dwindled away. The bare swinging hills closed about them. These hills marched down endless narrow gorges; up endless naked slopes. Ridge after ridge with deep pits where shadows thronged and made mysterious the almost total dark.

"Where is he taking me?" Chase wondered uncomfortably as he stumbled after the impatient and tugging dog.

They entered a canyon where the brush tore at the man's trousers and again and again the dog pulled him forward.

Chase halted. Perspiration ran into his eyes. They must have come a mile or more. Now he slipped a hand in his pocket and put his thumb on the trigger of his pistol.

He stood poised like this, resisting the frantically insistent dog.

Cautiously he moved on, playing the light over the ground. Abruptly they came upon it—the half prostrate figure of a man.

The dog broke free. He ran up and licked the man's face. The fellow stirred. He got to his feet. He began to mumble.

THE DEATH OF LOVE

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

WHAT price that peculiar joy of making up after a quarrel?

You may have fun fighting . . . there IS a tang to it, we will admit. Witness with what joy a little boy talks himself into one, and an Irishman wades into one even when it's a private fight and nothing to himself. And there is a delight that is close to tears in arms-all-round with the one that you have had a mad on after the quarrel is over and done . . . but the "fun you got" isn't worth it.

Do you know the price you pay, with repetition? Nothing less than the grevious one of the death of Love. Repetition of spats and pettings is the death of him.

After the first one he's quite bright, even hilarious, along with you and your Sweetie. It's the dazzling relief, you see, from pain, and hurt, and surprise, and fright, and suspense. NOW it's all over. No one meant what they said. You believe each other. Love believes you both.

Then there is a next time—and a next—and another. Tootie begins to believe what Sweetie says when he is mad, and he does the same. Sweetie begins to find it harder and harder to believe Tootie when she says she didn't mean it. He thinks she MUST mean it by this time—and then she doesn't look so good when she is mad as she did at first. And Tootie does the same in her thoughts of him.

And weeping between them, weary of the whole thing, hoping this is the last quarrel and make-up—for the sparkle is wearing off—Cupid, poor thing, sickens. When the petting time comes after the cyclone, and the sun comes out, and the dove of peace flutters on with the olive branch, and Tootie and Sweetie are sitting on a rosey cloud, he still sits with his head in his hands and can't summon a flitter of happiness to his pretty wings. He droops. And groans, "What price make-ups?"

And one fine day, after an orgy of uncontrol, just as the sky clears, Tootie and Sweetie will look about for their little beloved side-kick, and find him with his tiny hands folded, bright stars burning 'round him, the air still sweet, anguishingly sweet with the dreams he dreamed—dead.

What price the peculiar joy of making up?

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Plans for the Engagement Dinner Hit a Snag

WITH his arms flung wide in burlesqued protest, Harry Underwood looked at me reproachfully as I told him that he had a most important role in the betrothal announcement dinner which Lillian and I had planned for Princess Olina, Noel, Mary and Prince Georges.

"Say not so!" he pleaded. "I'll go out and do stunts with a machine gun or a bomb, but a dinner and me shooting my cuffs! Can't you—"

"Shut up," his wife commanded with a gamin grin at him, "and let a real lady talk. Didn't you hear Madge tell you that she's made me the mistress of ceremonies for tomorrow night? Here's one time the marriage ceremony is going to be put in reverse. You and the Dicky-bird are to do the obeying, meekly but with celerity."

"If you'll name a single instance, when the Dicky-bird and I haven't been 'yes-men' to you two dames," her husband retorted, but he dropped resignedly into a chair, and motioned Dicky to one near him.

"We're licked, lad," he said, "so we might as well let 'em rub the salt in. Shoot the works, Lil. I've got both ears pinned wide open."

"We'll break it to you swiftly," his wife told him, laughing. "As soon as the coffee has been served—we'll have to have it at the table because of the limited room—Dicky will rise on his hind legs and throw out a spiel that he, as host to the interesting gathering, has an announcement to make which he knows will delight, and so forth, and so on. But before he names Mary and Georges he will pass the buck to you, and you will arise and bring in some of your well-known comedy, you'll announce the double bethrothal."

"But why saddle the job on me?" Mr. Underwood demanded. "I suppose you figure I'm the only one brawney and shock proof enough to stand 'in loco parentis' to the explosive Princess Olina. But the Dicky-bird is Mary's own uncle. Why take his share of the fun away from him?"

"Heart of my life," Lillian drawled, "if your memory continues to go back on you, I shall have to call in an alienist. Must we tell you again that we want Prince Georges and Princess Olina to get the surprise of their royal young lives tomorrow night? Olina will expect to hear her bethrothal to Noel announced by you, and Georges will be waiting to hear his announcement from Dicky. But neither dreams of the other's betrothal, and it will be your job to bring in the four names at once, so they get the beautiful full force of it. You can amble around the world in your preliminaries, if you make your climax snappy."

"Of course, I'm not supposed to know why you've picked me," her husband replied with pretended bitterness. "The Dicky-bird has too much class for the clowning you want me to sling around, so their youthful attention will be distracted until the bomb is exploded. All right. I'll 'faw down and go boom' for you, but I'm not particularly stuck on the job, I can tell you."

"Neither are we on ours," his wife retorted. "But the end is worth it. Now shoo out of here and keep those romantic darlings in the other apartment company while Madge and I go on with the job of making this apartment into a bower with a capital 'B.'"

They departed, grumbling, for neither of them was in a bridge mood. But Lillian and I had no time to commiserate them, for we were pooling our resources of draperies and tapestries, bronzes and brasses, pictures and books in order to provide a home-like setting for the dinner.

We banished everybody but ourselves from the apartment the next day, Dicky renting an extra room upon the same floor where he, Harry and Prince Georges could dress, thus leaving the whole Underwood apartment to be converted into a feminine dressing room. But both Lillian and I feared that we would find our own dressing time cut short for the roses and table decorations which Edith Fairfax had been commissioned to order, did not arrive at the time I had named for delivery. Telephone calls to Edith brought expressions of concern, and assurances that she would immediately get in touch with the offending tradesmen. Later she telephoned that the things were on the way.

But when after another hectic hour of waiting, I telephoned the magazine office which she and Dicky shared, I was told that she had gone for the day. And she had not told me the names of the tradesmen from whom she had ordered the decorations for the dinner.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Sweet and Low-Down

MAD love, in 1929: Taking the same girl to tea two days in succession.

HELEN ROWLAND

Now that the feminine knee has slipped out of sight and once more become "just another joint," perhaps the knocked-kneed siren and the piano - legged beauty may hope to get a little "blind devotion."

* * *

Most of the "spotless reputations" of those in the public eye, these days, have been to the cleaner's at least once.

Somehow a woman never felt so tolerant and sympathetic toward her husband as she does in those moments, just after she has relieved her mind by telling somebody what a brute he is.

Most men go through life wearing neckties they hate, simply because they haven't the courage to look a haughty haberdasher in the eye and say, "Show me something else!"

It seems to be a positive obsession with the average man to marry a girl who is too young and unsophisticated to "understand"—and then go off and hunt up a woman who ISN'T—to relieve the boredom.

Even after a woman has reached the pearls and sables stage she still feels that she is being extravagant if she tips the taxi driver more than 15 cents or fails to use up her full 10 words in a telegram.

* * *

It is every man's divine right to think himself dangerous to woman, no matter what his mirror, his photograph or his wife may tell him.

* * *

Fools rush in and get by, somehow, while angels are making sure that the brakes are working, and putting the skid-chains on.

* * *

In her ability to weave beautiful illusions about a perfectly commonplace man and to cover with glamour his careless love-making, every woman is not only a romancer—she is a necromancer.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Card More Appropriate

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. If one goes out with a young man in the afternoon and intends to go out again in the evening with him, is one expected to ask him to supper?

2. If one knows a young man for three months, should a Christmas gift be given to him, and if so, what?

3. If, when you go to a theater, the usher asks how far down you wish to sit, who is expected to answer?

BILY AND MICKY.

THAT depends on circumstances. It would be hospitable and cordial.

2. A Christmas card would, undoubtedly, be more appropriate, or a Christmas note of friendliness and good wishes.

3. The man. The man always should take care of these social items.

A Gift for the Steward

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I live in a hotel, and we take our meals there also. I want to know what would be the right thing for me to do at Christmas time regarding our steward of the dining room? We tip him during the year and of course we want to do the customary thing at Christmas. He gets a dollar from us during the year, that is, every now and then. As you know, around the holidays one always has quite an outlay, so give me a suggestion that will fit my purse, but at the same time be the right thing.

BLUE EYES.

I SUGGEST that you give him a $5 gold piece for Christmas.

"Simplicity for Evening"

Pattern 1801

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

An evening gown which gracefully interprets the new feminine spirit in fashion is developed in flowered fabric. It favors the long, uneven skirt and moulded bodice. The narrow belt is decidedly tailored, one of fashion's newest whims on formal frocks.

Design 1801 would be charming made of flat crepe, satin, velvet, moire or chiffon. While prints continue in popularity among smart women, many plain colors are seen, particularly shades of green, red, yellow, blue and the favorite black. A jeweled ornament fastens the belt in front.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36 and 38. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 40 inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

The NEW WINTER FASHION BOOK is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West 17th St., New York City.

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

Good Health Acquired, It Is Not Bestowed Upon Us

IN a sense, health is something that is acquired. Are you doing what you should to give yourself health, vigor and length of days?

DR. COPELAND

A man's surroundings and daily walk have much to do with his length of days. They have much to do with his health, too. Even country life has its hazards. Rural dwellers, like the rest of mankind, are very likely to neglect their teeth, their eyes and ears, and fail to do many of the things which in the city are common practices. The city boards of health and other similar agencies are constantly teaching what to do for the improvement of health.

Strange as it may seem, the prospect of long life in the country is less than it is in the modern city. But of course you are not in a safe place merely because you live in a city. Health and long life are not bestowed upon men. They must be acquired by the observance of certain simple rules.

The rural dweller has to fight against certain conditions of his life. So, too, must the city dweller give attention to a number of things if he is to prosper physically. He must fight against certain tendencies which are truly urban.

To begin with let us consider the question of transportation. The country man walks a lot. He knows why Nature gave him his feet. The city man rides too much. He does not have the refreshing, life-giving exercise essential to health and length of days.

I venture to say there are men in every city who take a taxicab to cover the dozen blocks between the office and the club building. They are going to the club to exercise in the gymnasium, but they ride in a taxicab rather than take the out-of-door exercise which the walk would give them.

After he has exercised at the club he orders a big meal or a generous lunch. There is danger in the fact that the food is so good. It leads to the temptation of over eating.

Over eating and under exercising are the faults of the city man. Every city dweller, and everybody in the world, for that matter, should bear in mind the importance of hygienic living. If we do this we should become conspicuous examples of a superior physical type. We can be that when we live as we should.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, December 13

CONFLICTING lunar aspects may characterize this as a day of "mixed influences." Although new and sudden ventures should prosper, yet there may be delays and entanglements and employment may not give satisfaction. There may be irregular or sensational angles in purely personal relations.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of success in new ventures, but there may be some delays and complications. Sign papers carefully. Personal relations may assume the spectacular, with quite sudden developments.

A child born on this day may be gifted on unusual lines and should succeed best by unusual agreements or stratagem.

Every General Electric Refrigerator is hermetically sealed

Every day in the year a General Electric Refrigerator plays an important part in making life pleasanter, easier, safer. It guards your food from contamination, it eliminates waste, it adds to the festivity of any party, it makes every-day meals a tempting adventure instead of an uninteresting necessity.

Less work for the housekeeper, too. With its all-steel cabinet, this refrigerator is easy to clean, so completely sanitary that every woman will welcome it with a sigh of relief.

Since usefulness is always the measure of the value of a gift, what can even approach a General Electric Refrigerator? Come in and study its many superiorities. See its quiet, hermetically sealed mechanism, its sturdy all-steel cabinet. And remember that its efficiency has been proved by this amazing record . . . more than 350,000 in use and not one owner has spent a single dollar for repairs or service.

Now, with two down and the on the wild throw.

Yankees and Pirates tied at three. Remember? Forty-five thousand runs each in the last half of that fans already wild, went wilder memorable series came at the Ans Phillips Carlin will try to Yankee ball park in 1927 what recreate the scene for the Sparks happened? Miljus, who had been ers KDKA at 8:30 for the pitching wonder of ball striking Prosperity" is the subject of an address to be delivered by W. S. Gifford, president of the A. T. and T., at the Chicago Commerce dinner which will be broadcast in Pittsburgh by WJAS at 9:30.

Dave Olsen, who stunned radio men with his impersonations of Seth Parker at the Christmas party in the Keystone Club last night, will lead his Singing School over WCAE at 7:30.

We Now Present

Paul J. Miller will give us the Carnegie Tech - Southern California game play by play over KQV Saturday afternoon at 5:30 p. m.

Her name is Marian Catlin so the boys all call her "Kitty." If you ever write a letter to KDKA she'll see it first for it's her job to decide what letters go this way or that.

R. P. Griffith, more familiarly known as "Stockman Sam," is now doing the continuity for Dilworth Little German Band.

The occasional noise you hear on WCAE lately is caused by the moving of apparatus outside the studio. It will not last long.

SHURE OH SHURE! "Are Amos 'n' Andy the same fellows who played Sam 'n' Henry over a Chicago station about two years ago?" asks Bernard Lorch, of Knoxville. They are.

Turning through the pages of the log for a downtown station in the year 1924 we noticed some very amusing annotations, such as "Off the air for five minutes, something wrong with generator," and "Program didn't start on time, no announcer on the job." Those were the days!

And this calls to mind an oft-repeated question, "Who was the first radio announcer?" Now, who was? How many remember L. H. Rosenberg, the gentleman who gave the Harding-Cox election returns over KDKA in 1920? Alice King Roop tells us he was first.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

At the conclusion of the Rieck Revelers' program the other dusk, a listener inquired for the names of "the Greek Revelers."

Recall Miljus' Wild Pitch.
The dramatic climax of the 1927 World Series will be reproduced.
The last game of this series was called by recognized sports authorities the most thrilling game in baseball history.
The Yankees had tallied three successive victories over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Saturday brought a crowd eager to see the Yankees whitewash the Pirates. But Javo Miljus pitched a great game and the Yankee machine was held to a 3 to 3 tie.
It seemed the Pirates would come from behind to win, and there's can another chance to battle for the championship. Miljus was about to make a name that would go down in baseball legends.
At the close of the ninth, inning he fanned Lou Gehrig and Bob Meusel with the bases loaded and the crowd went wild. There was only Tony Lazzeri to account for, but Javo Miljus unleashed a wild pitch, the ball went far out of the catcher's reach and Earle Coombs on third came dashing home with the winning run.

"MY SECRET OF WASHING COLORFUL UNDERTHINGS DOUBLES THEIR LIFE,"

Says Mrs. James B. Brown, 1318 Alton Street, Pittsburgh

"I know that some married women get careless about the little personal things, but I think it pays to keep my wardrobe as fresh and charming as it was on my honeymoon," writes this local woman.

"To do this, I have to wash my things often and at the same time be sure that the colors don't fade.

So Easy

"With Lux, this is easy. After each wearing, my underwear and stockings go into Lux suds, yet Lux is so gentle, so safe, that they stay bright and new looking ever so long.

"I believe I make my washable things last twice as long as do some of my friends who still use ordinary soap chips or powders, or worst of all, rub with cake soap.

"Lux for everything I wash, from chiffon stockings to big, fluffy blankets—that's my rule! Dishes, too, of course, to keep my hands from getting red and rough."

Try Lux FREE

Try this wonderful Lux care for your clothes, at our expense. Just send us your name and address, and by return mail you will receive a full-sized package of Lux free. Write today to Lever Brothers Co., Department H-15, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

"Just look at this chemise I got for $2.79 last March. I've washed it in Lux over and over again and the color is still lovely"

Mrs. H. W. Watts, of Watervliet, writes:

"I'm astonished to find how much I can wash with one large box of Lux. I've kept careful count especially of the baby's things—and here's the list:

10 dresses	8 pairs men's socks
54 diapers	5 nightgowns
12 shirts	1 rayon bedspread
2 sacques	2 crib blankets
8 slips	1 silk kimono
1 silk blouse	1 wool sweater
9 pieces silk lingerie	1 lamp shade
10 pairs stockings	1 upholstered chair

"And 10 days' dishes as well!"

Other Women, too

And millions of other women throughout the world have learned to trust Lux—and only Lux.

Over 73,000 laboratory tests are made each year to insure that Lux does not vary from its highest standards, its dependable purity.

Inexpensive Clothes Need This Care Most

"It's the everyday dresses, inexpensive silk underwear and hosiery that need Lux most.

"Naturally, bargain clothes can't have as good dyes and fabrics as your expensive things. That's why you should Lux them, too. With Lux, their colors keep bright—they stay nice twice as long. And a little Lux goes so far, it's real economy to use it for inexpensive things—silks, rayons, woolens and, of course, everything colored!"

If it's Safe in Water it's Safe in LUX

All Healing Is Done Through the Blood Stream

A patient does one of two things after a disease process has invaded his system. Either he recovers or else he succumbs to the disease. (Chronic Stage).

There is no treatment that can have a healing effect until it reaches the blood. To strengthen the power of it—to make it nearly perfect as possible must be the basis of all treatment. No matter how radical may be the advocates of any particular science or mode of healing, there is the one great common premise which every system of treatment must acknowledge, and that basic element is THE BLOOD.

By administering BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS directly into the blood stream, their healing virtues are not lost. A great truth comes into view, and that is, intravenous therapy is fast becoming one of the prime autocrats of medicine. A method that is scientific while the results are more certain.

BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS affect not only one organ, but have a corrective influence on every part of the body. One serum frequently gives relief. Chronic and obstinate diseases often readily yield to the action of BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS.

Watch Your Blood Pressure

We invite you to call for a free consultation, no matter what your ailment is. No doctor charges. Patients pay for the serums only. We are successfully treating Anemia, Asthma, Rheumatism, Kidney and Stomach trouble, High Blood Pressure, Neuritis, Varicose Veins. All Skin Diseases yield quickly. Laboratory Examination Free. Come and talk to the patients. Results are what you want.

$25,000 UP FOR CHINA FLIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Col. W. E. Easterwood, Jr., millionaire sportsman, of Dallas, Tex., announced here today he had reopened his offer of a $25,000 prize to the first aviator to fly from Hong Kong, China, to Dallas. The offer was made in 1927, but was withdrawn after the lives of several contestants in the Dole race from Oakland to Honolulu had been lost.

Col. Easterwood said he was on his way to Hawaii to confer with James Dole, pineapple grower who posted the prize money in the Dole race, and expected the Honolulu millionaire to post another $25,000 in prizes for the Hongkong-Dallas flight.

"The prize offer will be effective this coming summer. The route includes stops at Tokio, Japan, Honolulu and one on the Pacific Coast," Col Easterwood said.

VIBRA-CONTROL FADA 25
Uses screen grid and new 245 power tubes in push-pull amplification. Fada full power dynamic speaker.
HIGHBOY $165 LESS TUBES
Fada radios are priced from $99.50 to $675. (Slightly higher west of the Rockies and in Canada.)

THOUSANDS of people... deluded by temporary "bargains," price cuts, or high pressure salesmanship . . . are robbing themselves of years of enjoyment to save a few dollars a month on their initial radio investment. They overlook the age-old fact that quality and performance have their price... and invariably are worth it. Oddly enough the slight difference between an ordinary radio and the unquestionably superior Fada is so trifling that no one can afford to waste their money on the common-place. For Fada is the greatest radio value on the market today. With the achievement of Vibra-Control it has attained a quality of reproduction that is little short of marvelous. Such fidelity of tone, such matchless realism is the only true measure of value today. It is the natural result of building every Fada, for nearly ten years, to a musical standard rather than to a price. It brings you a thoro satisfaction with your radio purchase that wipes out the first cost in a few short weeks. It demands only to be heard to prove its value. It asks nothing more than a fair comparison with any set you choose, to vividly illustrate the wisdom of paying a few extra pennies for the best. ● ●

Intimate Look Into Minds Of Big Employers

By B. C. FORBES

THIS column tries to keep in intimate touch with men who direct the destinies of pay envelopes. The spirit animating these men is revealed in expressions just obtained by letter or by word of mouth.

It will interest you—it will interest workers as well as employers and every class of business men—to get this glimpse into the present attitude of heads of enterprises employing large forces and controlling very vast expenditures. The fact that in many instances the observations were not made for the purpose of having them published does not detract from their value.

PRESIDENT H. F. PERKINS, International Harvester Company:

"It will not be our policy to contract our forward developments, as we don't believe the financial disturbance is going to materially affect unfavorably the agricultural situation."

PRESIDENT GEORGE B. EVERETT, Montgomery Ward:

"It is natural for us to be tremendously enthusiastic about the future of our company, particularly for the long-term development."

PRESIDENT Z. G. SIMMONS, Simmons Company:

"The panic we are now going through successfully as a nation is my fifth and I believe that this one will have the least effect on general business. What has happened is a marking-down of security values and not the destruction of property. I believe this will lay the foundation for a more diffused and better-balanced period of prosperity than the period we had before the smash."

PRESIDENT R. H. BALLARD, Southern California Edison:

"Everything in connection with our company's affairs is in good shape. We have plenty of power, tremendous increase in new business especially during the past two years, our cash position is very strong, and we have no floating debt. Our new construction budget for next year has just been adopted and totals $23,600,000, compared with a little less than $18,000,000 in 1929."

PRESIDENT C. F. KELLEY, Anaconda Copper:

"I have been interested in the constructive work you have been doing through your column since what was originally a desired deflation assumed the proportions of panic and hysteria."

GEORGE O. MUHLFELD, Stone & Webster:

"The Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, including its subsidiary companies, have on their books just slightly under $100,000,000 of uncompleted construction work. This is the uncompleted balance to be spent out of orders now on hand totaling about $160,000,000. Since the beginning of the stock market break we have taken on approximately $14,000,000 of new construction work."

PRESIDENT M. S. SLOAN, New York Edison:

"Our construction budget for the affiliated electric companies of New York for the year 1930, amounts to $75,000,000. We see nothing in the situation that should cause us to hold up any of our construction plans for the year 1930."

PRESIDENT A. E. DICKINSON, Indiana Limestone Company:

"This company has orders for a larger amount of fabricated work today than ever before in our history and we are very optimistic over the future."

ROBERT DOLLAR, head of Dollar Steamship Lines:

"I estimate our expenditures for New York and repairs for the coming year will be $18,000,000. We are about to let contracts for four other ships, which will amount to about $30,000,000. I was real pleased to see the efforts you made to stabilize conditions. To me the excitement throughout the country was entirely uncalled for, because I was, and still am, certain business conditions throughout the United States could not be very much better than they are."

PRESIDENT A. P. SLOAN, Jr., General Motors:

"Our program for 1930 will be to maintain our equipment, as we always try to, at the highest stage of efficiency. Expenditures on improvements, expansions, additional equipment, etc., must be predicated upon development of business as we see it from day to day or from month to month."

PRESIDENT H. T. PARSON, Woolworth's:

"We have already approved of over $2,000,000 expenditures on improvements for 1930, and this will be added to as the year advances."

Chairman B. C. Cobb, Commonwealth & Southern:

"Our group of properties will probably expend for construction purposes next year somewhere between $75,000,000 and $80,000,000, about the same as last year. You can therefore see we are not going to take a step backward."

President C. C. Conway, Continental Can:

President Philip G. Gossler, Columbia Gas:

"Our 1930 budget will about equal this year's, $28,000,000. Our policy will be to continue to expand all properties as necessary to meet fully the demands of our constantly expanding services."

President Frank A. Ketchum, Graybar Electric:

"We extend our facilities for distribution from year to year and expect to continue to do so at the same rate as in the past."

NOTHING panicky about all that, is there?

Ay check your numbers

BIG BUSINESS goes on as usual, notwithstanding the dread of a long period of financial depression, occasioned by the recent deflation of the stock market. Every day sees new and more conclusive evidence that the critical point is already past. Every important business barometer points to improving conditions, and an immediate future far more prosperous than any ever before known. The financial structure of the United States is on too firm a foundation to admit of a panic—especially one precipitated by a handful of bear operators in Wall Street.

President Hoover's business conferences, it is now realized, are having a wonderful effect in restoring the confidence of the country's business leaders, and, as the fundamental soundness of the country becomes more apparent, the clouds of depression disappear. The construction program for next year now reaches astounding proportions and this will have a stimulating effect on all industry. Henry Ford has already announced a wage increase, and it is understood his action will be followed by other larger employers of labor. A few of the weaker lines have been injured in the shake-up, but this only has the effect of forcing men into more productive occupations so that only good will result from what at the moment seemed to spell calamity. The President and many business dealers refuse to acknowledge a panic, because they know the impossibility of such a condition at this time. This is now becoming more evident to business in general, and it will take but little pressure to send the country booming along to new heights of prosperity. Evidence of confidence felt by eminent business leaders is shown by B. C. Forbes' article in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph: "Intimate Looks Into Minds of Big Employers," which appears alongside this reading matter.

SHIFTING WINDS DELAY WILKINS

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS,
Commander of the Wilkins-Hearst Antartic Expedition.

DECEPTION ISLAND, Antarctica, Dec. 12. (Via S. S. Melville and KUP San Francisco Wireless Station)— High winds today interrupted and delayed our preparations for departure southward.

The winds this year have been exceptionally changeable and uncertain. Not since our arrival has the weather permitted one full hour of good flying.

A short test flight from our field today revealed a weak condition in the tailskid of the plane. This is being repaired tonight. And we hope to have the ship in readiness for final trials tomorrow.

If everything is all right, we will immediately start loading the equipment.

CARRANZA AIR SHAFT BEGUN

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Coincidental with the inauguration of National Air week at Valbuena flying field here, the cornerstone of a monument to Capt. Emilio Carranza was laid at the exact spot where that good will flier's plane left the ground on his flight to Washington in 1928. He crashed and was killed in New Jersey when on a return flight from Long Island.

The monument will be 70 feet high and surmounted by a beacon light. It was paid for by popular subscription.

Democrats Oppose Wyoming Election

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The Democratic state central committee has taken a stand against a special senatorial election in Wyoming, although such action would prevent the party from contesting for the seat now temporarily held by Senator Patrick J. Sullivan, Republican, until the regular election next fall.

The Democrats opposed the calling of a special election to choose a successor to Senator Sullivan on the announced grounds that such an election would cause needless expense to the taxpayers.

Blanton Will Run Again for Congress

ABILENE, Tex., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Thomas L. Blanton, former congressman from this district, who voluntarily vacated his seat last year to run for the United States Senate, announced that he will seek to regain his seat in Congress next year.

Blanton, who will be opposed by R. G. Lee, of Cisco, incumbent, was first elected to Congress in 1917 from the old Sixth District, which since has been made smaller by the creation of the Seventeenth District, in which he now resides.

SISTERS PRAISE NEW MEDICINE

Local Young Lady Claims Ten Herbs Relieved Chronic Health Troubles

Many people express astonishment at the remarkable success of Ten Herbs in Pittsburgh and vicinity. The great popularity of this new herbal medicine here is no exception to the rule. Wherever Ten

MISS HAZEL PRYOR

Herbs has been introduced it has met with tremendous success. All Ten Herbs needs is a public test—and a great demand follows, as it is a great boon to men and women whom modern life has led to various forms of debility—stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, nervousness and a general weak, rundown condition. Get a bottle of Ten Herbs today and test its tonic goodness—your druggist can supply you.

"Ten Herbs proved to be the proper medicine for me when I was troubled with my stomach and with nervousness," was the recent statement of Miss Hazel Pryor, 520 Arch street, Pittsburgh. "My sister also was greatly benefited by Ten Herbs, and we both praise your medicine very highly. I had been troubled with constipation for nearly five years. Although I tried all kinds of laxatives, I did not get proper relief. My appetite was poor, and food would not digest properly. Gas crowded around my heart, making me feel distressed after eating. I had headaches for hours at a time. My nerves were so troublesome that I did not rest well at night, and I felt depressed and out of sorts when I arose in the morning.

"My sister induced me to try Ten Herbs, and it worked fine for me. My stomach is in good condition again, and I relish my food. I can eat what I like without having gas or any other distress. I am not subject to headaches, nervousness, or sleeplessness like I was. Constipation has been relieved. Your medicine worked wonders in cleansing and toning up my system, and as a result I feel in good spirits all the time. I am pleased to endorse Ten Herbs to the public."

The amazing results Ten Herbs often gives is due to its ten wonderful natural ingredients, which cleanse and invigorate the whole system, and relieves rheumatism and neuritis. This modern liquid medicine is helping many local people and why not you?

Ten Herbs is sold at all drug stores in Pittsburgh and by all druggists throughout this entire section.

BREAKS UNDER TORTURE QUIZ

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Dec 12.—(AP)—Unnerved by questioning designed to identify him as a former inmate of the State Hospital for Nervous Diseases, a man claiming to be Connie Franklin, whom five men are charged with murdering, was taken back to the St. James mountain community for rest and seclusion from questioners.

He admitted authorship of a letter mailed from St. James last January to Dr. L. R. Brown, superintendent of the State Hospital, and signed "Connie Franklin," but persisted in his denial that he ever was an inmate of the hospital.

If he can be definitely identified as the M. Franklin committed to the State Hospital in November, 1926, from White County, defense lawyers believe the murder charges against Alex Fulks, Hubert Haster, Herman Greenway, Bill Younger and Joe White will be exploded.

This, however, would still leave unsolved the mystery surrounding the story told by Tiller Ruminer, former sweetheart of Franklin, that she saw him mutilated and burned alive last March 9.

Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang, today, will make an inspection of the section of Saw Mill Run boulevard from Liberty tunnel to Overbrook that will be opened to the public on Saturday.

The city contributed $650,000 toward the cost of the physical work that was done by Allegheny County with the provision that the city would maintain the thoroughfare.

Tallest Prisoner Admitted to Bail

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 12.—The largest prisoner ever admitted to the county jail here has been admitted to bail on a liquor charge.

Olaf Alexander, 35, Negro, of West Virginia, stands 6 feet 7 inches and weighs 258 pounds. He was arrested while transporting whisky through North Belle Vernon, it was alleged.

Zoning Classification Changed by Council

Council has affirmed an ordinance changing the zoning classification of property bounded by Fifth avenue, Thomas street, North Linden avenue and June way from a "B" residence, 35-foot height and first area district, to an "A" residence, 100-foot height and a fourth area district.

Passage of the ordinance was urged at a hearing granted by Council to property owners of the district including William Gillespie, George Ahrends, Samuel Woods and J. D. Strain.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

"WONDERFUL IS KONJOLA," SAYS PITTSBURGH MAN

Nervousness and Indigestion Readily Yield to Powers of New and Different Medicine

One of the amazing properties of Konjola, the new and different medicine, is the speed with which it works and the thoroughness of the results it brings, even in cases that have defied and resisted all else tried.

MR. JAMES SKERRETT

Yet it is not so surprising that Konjola is such a success when you stop to think that it is really 32 medicines in one. Learn how these 32 ingredients go to the root and fount of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Get the facts about Konjola from the two Konjola Men in Pittsburgh. One is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and the other is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets. They are here to point the glorious road to health to all who suffer and who would be well again. They will tell you of countless cases like that of Mr. James Skerrett, 116 Meridan Street, Pittsburgh, who made this statement to a Konjola Man a few days ago:

"Wonderful is Konjola, the first and only medicine that benefited me. I know a lot of suffering and distress could be escaped if all the world knew of Konjola. For many months I was afraid to eat any food for fear of the dreadful distress that was sure to follow. Daily I was miserable and finally my nerves became affected. I could not sleep soundly at night and was becoming weaker and more rundown each day. I tried medicines and treatments without end but I might as well have taken water for none of them did any good.

"Then Konjola was recommended and when I read of case after case as severe as mine that had yielded to this medicine I realized hat I would be making a mistake not to give it a trial. I secured several bottles and started the treatment. Just as I was told it would do, Konjola went to the source of my troubles. My system was cleansed and my organs were invigorated. Now it is a pleasure to work for I have a wonderful digestion and my nerves are calm and collected. Not a trace of my ailments remains. How glad I am that I found Konjola—the world's finest medicine."

Every day of delay in giving this medicine a trial simply means another day of needless suffering.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where they are meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. Konjola is sold also by all Dow Drug Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

Give Orange AMERICAN GAS a chance to prove its worth

WE did a lot of experimenting--and spent a lot of money doing it--before the first gallon of ORANGE AMERICAN GAS was put on sale.

Now we're suggesting that you make just one experiment--and it won't cost you a penny more than you're accustomed to pay for gasoline. It doesn't call for the nerve that is needed to make a transatlantic flight. And we guarantee that you'll enjoy every moment of the experiment!

Just roll up to the nearest Yellow and and Black Pump where ORANGE AMERICAN GAS is sold. The lower your gas supply is at the time the better! Have your tank filled up with ORANGE AMERICAN GAS--and hit the highroad or tackle the traffic jam.

That's all we're saying! We're not using a single adjective to describe the quality of ORANGE AMERICAN GAS. All we're suggesting is that you give this "orange juice" a chance to speak for itself!

DREYFUSS SEES MANY COME AND GO

THIRTY years ago today Barney Dreyfuss was elected the seventh president of the Pittsburgh National League Baseball Club, and the fact that he is still holding that office makes him the outstanding figure among the team owners of the present, the dean of the club heads in the senior major circuit. Even in the American League only one club president remains whose term of office has extended over as long a period as that of Dreyfuss. The lone survivor in that loop is Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox.

Barney Dreyfuss

At that the American League, though it had begun its expansion movement, was far from its present major leaguee proportions when Comiskey became head of the Chicago club in 1900. Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit were in the girdle that year, but the remainder of the circuit was made up of Kansas City, Indianapolis, Buffalo, Milwaukee and Minneapolis. Philadelphia, Boston and Washington did not come in until 1901, St. Louis not until 1902, and New York not until 1903. The Pirate owner has another edge on Comiskey as a major league club president, as he was president of the Louisville National League club in 1899, giving him a total of 31 consecutive years.

DREYFUSS alone remains of the old school of magnates in the National. When he became president of the Buccaneers in 1900, the New York club was headed by Andrew Freedman, Boston by Arthur H. Soden, Chicago bly James A. Hart, Philadelphia by Alfred J. Reach, Brooklyn by Charles H. Ebbets, Cincinnati by John T. Brush, and St. Louis by Frank De Haas Robison.

All of these are dead, and each has been followed in office by new presidents ranging in number from one in Brooklyn to nine in Boston. There have been several changes in the National League presidency itself in the meantime. Nicholas E. Young was the league leader when Dreyfuss was made chief executive of the Pittsburgh club. Young was succeeded by Harry C. Pulliam, and after the latter's death on July 29, 1909, John A. Heydler served out the remainder of that year. Thomas Lynch was elected next, was succeeded by John K. Tener, and when the latter resigned on August 16, 1918, Heydler, who still holds the office, stepped in again.

SINCE Dreyfuss took charge of the Bucs in 1900, Boston has had nine presidents in Arthur H. Soden, George B. Dovey, John S. C. Dovey, William Hepburn Russell, John M. Ward, James E. Gaffney (a former Tammany politician, which connection gave the Boston club its present nickname of the Braves), Percy D. Haughton, George W. Grant, Christy Mathewson and Emil Fuchs.

Charles A. Comiskey

St. Louis ranks next with eight, including the only woman president in the history of the majors. The list includes Frank De Haas Robison, M. Stanley Robison, E. A. Steininger, J. C. Jones, Schuyler P. Britton, Mrs. Schuyler P. Britton, Branch Rickey and Samuel Breadon.

PHILADELPHIA has had seven presidents in Alfred J. Reach, James Potter, William J. Shettsline, Israel W. Durham, Horace S. Fogel, William H. Locke and William F. Baker; Chicago has had six in James A. Hart, Charles W. Murphy, Charles H. Thomas, Charles H. Weeghman, Fred F. Mitchell and William L. Veeck; New York has had four in Andrew Freedman, John T. Brush, Harry N. Hempstead and Charles Stoneham; Cincinnati has had four in John T. Brush, August Herrmann who succeeded Brush when the latter obtained control of the Giants and supplanted Freedman in New York, C. J. McDiarmid and Sidney Weil, and Brooklyn has had two in Charles H. Ebbets and Wilbert Robinson. Dreyfuss has seen 34 of them come and go in three decades, a record without a parallel in baseball. Many of the star big league players of today, including some on his own team, had not yet been born when Dreyfuss was first elected to the office he still holds with great credit to the city, the club, the league and the game.

APART from the sensational interest that attaches to another step in the outbound travels of a pair of popular veterans who have ranked with the greatest stars of their time in the major leagues, there is little to become excited about in a baseball way in the two trades put through yesterday at the New York meetings after Pittsburgh had released Catcher Claude Linton to Baltimore to complete the dicker for Catcher Al Bool.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, in his heyday one of the greatest pitchers of all time, passes from the Cardinals to the Phillies with Catcher Harry McCurdy in exchange for Pitcher Bob McGraw and Outfielder Homer Peel, while Catcher Wally Schang goes from the Browns to the Athletics for Third Baseman Sammy Hale.

ALEXANDER will be 43 years old next February 26, and Schang will be 40 on August 22, so it is clear that each is near the end of his string. McGraw was discarded by Brooklyn, and for the Phillies last season he was little more than a relief pitcher.

Grover Alexander

Though used in 41 games, McGraw started only four and did not go the distance once during the season. McCurdy, sent back to the minors twice, evidently did not impress the White Sox or the Cards, and Peel is a rookie gardener who batted only .277 for the Phils in 155 times at bat. The deals are not likely to change the betting on the outcome of next year's pennant race.

ONE unusual feature of the trades, aside from the fact that the same two cities, Philadelphia and St. Louis, were the principals in both, is that the two veterans involved, Alexander and Schang, in being sent to the same town, are returning to their first loves in the major leagues. "Aleck" started with the Phillies in 1911, pitched next for the Cubs, then for the Cards, and now goes back to the Phils. Schang broke in with the A's in 1913, was transferred to the Red Sox, then to the Yankees, next to the Browns and now rejoins the Machmen. Each has traveled in a circle and his first stop in the big show will also likely be his last. Alexander at least deserved an unconditional release, but evidently the Phils refused to waive.

WHETHER he ever does anything for the Phils or not, Alexander has placed to his credit a record that will be shot at for some little time without success. It is that of having won more ball games in the National League than any other pitcher. Last season he won only nine against eight defeats, but those nine victories gave him a total of 373 for 19 seasons.

That set a new mark for the older league. The previous record was 372, established by Christy Mathewson in 17 seasons. Alexander has lost 203 games, making his all-time percentage .647. The American League record is 416 victories, set by Walter Johnson in 21 years. Dividing his work between the National and American, Cy Young won 511 games in 22 seasons. Alexander was also the only pitcher except Mathewson ever to win 30 or more games in three consecutive seasons.

PLAID GRIDDERS PAY VISIT TO GRAND CANYON

By JESS CARVER
Staff Correspondent.

WILLIAMS, Ariz., Dec. 12.—The yawning maw of the Grand Canyon (geological expression for one heck of a big ditch) awed the touring Tartans of Carnegie Tech today as they made their last stop of the long journey from Pittsburgh to Los Angeles where Saturday the Plaid footballers battle Southern California in the Coliseum.

The Plaid party pulled into this hot spot last night, coming here from Winslow, Ariz., where the final practice of the trip was staged. Coughing and spitting the last grains of dust acquired in Winslow from their throats while performing their abolutions this morning, the boys were tumbled into buses and driven about the rim of the famous canyon. Take a tip from an experienced traveller and don't miss this sight if you ever come to the coast. It is more inspiring than a straight flush.

FINAL HOP TODAY

From now on, it is the task of the Tech coaches to wean the boys away from the thrill of seeing new scenery and visiting strange towns and get their minds right down to the business at hand; namely, beating U. S. C. Saturday. They'll hike out of here early this afternoon and begin the final hop of the westward trip, aiming for Pasadena, where the squad will go into seclusion tomorrow to remain until game time.

Advisory Coach Wally Steffen is working on a two-lineup plan for the game with the Trojans. In the event Tech wins the toss, the judge plans to start young Red Kennedy, the speed merchant of the club, along with Dutch Eyth, Harry McCurdy and Joe Morbito in the backfield. Pete Flanagan and John English, fast wingmen, will be at the terminals. The remainder of the line makeup will depend entirely on whether or not the injured Tank Highberger, he of the bum ankle, can get into the action at the start. Tank is the big problem of the coaching and medical staff. They've used everything on his twisted limb but voodoo.

If Tank comes around o. k., he'll get the call at left tackle. Otherwise, Bob Fletcher, who has been working at guard most of the time, will be shifted out to a tackle position and the hefty Mr. Stauffer will go at guard. This will give Tech two strong reserve linemen, Andy Yerina and Len Schnupp.

HEAT HINDERS DRILL

Yesterday's drill in Winslow was hindered somewhat by the heat, which, while not intense as far as Arizona natives were concerned, was great enough to bother the unfamiliar Easterners no little. The boys are still having trouble getting full breaths, and notice it particularly in the wind sprints given by the coaches as part of the practices.

The idea of starting Kennedy, if the Tartans get the chance to receive Saturday, is a good one. Kennedy is plenty fast—there is no denying that—and if they can shake him loose a la Pitt and Uansa, Southern California may find itself with its trousers picking splinters out of the goal posts right off the bat.

This is a very embarrassing position for a team to find itself in early in the game. Sometimes it tends to shatter the morale of the boys and at the same time make the team holding the long

FRED FUSSELL SOLD

By Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Fred Fussell, lefthand pitcher of the Pirate squad, this morning was sold outright by Pittsburgh to the Buffalo club of the International League. Bill Clymer, manager of the Bisons, and his associates completed the deal with the Pittsburgh officials before the start of the joint major meeting today. The purchase price was not announced.

Fussell came to the Pirates in the spring of 1928 from Wichita Falls, champions of the Texas League. The slim southpaw was a big factor in the winning of the flag for Wichita Falls and in his first year with the Buccos he turned in some clever slab performances, by winning about half of his games.

Fussell did not pitch a complete game last year. He seemed to lose much of his spirit in the spring training period after being fined $100 for breaking training rules. During the regular season he was suspended and sent home from New York after a group of the players had raised a racket in their rooms of their hotel.

Fussell has a lot of stuff and should be a big winner for Buffalo.

The sale of the pitcher cuts the Pirate squad to 35 players.

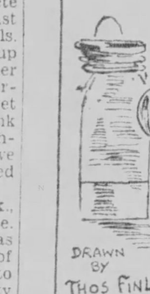
'SCOTCH' BOXING BILL CARDED TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

This is the night the boxing fans of McKeesport get a break in the way of a special anniversary program marking 16 years of activity for Jim McGirr's Palisades roller skating rink as an arena. Three 10-round bouts and a six-round opener make up the card and an 11-piece orchestra will provide music and the rates have been cut to 75 cents and $1.50 for the evening.



Mickey Russell

Jim McGirr, the promoter, is calling this Scotch week at the Palisades, offering dances and roller skating as well as boxing at reduced prices, but he himself is enacting the part of a Big Hearted Jim to the fans.

Ike McFowler, Johnstown Negro heavyweight, who has fought some of the good ones, meets Chuck Taggart, of Butler, Pa., a youngster with a string of knockouts to his credit, in the windup. Cuddy DeMarco, of McKeesport, and Mickey Russell, of Baltimore are in another 10-rounder, as are also Eddie Brannon, of the Hill, and Georgie Safron, of Canton, O. Johnny Smackey, of Cannonsburg, meets Tommy Heilman, of Donora, in the preliminary.

Bucs May Screen Rightfield Wall At Forbes Field

By Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Pirate officials are considering the advisability of erecting a screen atop a part of the rightfield wall of Forbes Field in order to curtail the home-run output of the Oakland orchard.

"We have not yet decided to place a screen on this section," said Sam Dreyfuss today. "But it may be put up. However, it would run only from the foul line to a point where the stands straighten out."

TITLE AWARDED ROCHESTER

AMBRIDGE, Dec. 12.—Rochester High School's football team was awarded the gridiron championship of Beaver County at a meeting of the executive committee of the Beaver County Schoolmen's Club.

Aliquippa was given second place, with Midland and Ambridge tied for third. For first place Rochester wins 10 points, Aliquippa 6 and Midland and Ambridge receive 2 points each in the annual competition for the silver cup awarded each year by members of the Schoolmen's Club.

Ranking of other schools according to their record on the gridiron during the past season is as follows: Ellwood City, Beaver, Beaver Falls, New Brighton and Freedom.

FINTEX, ROSIES CLASH HERE TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

The feature attraction of the local basketball season will be presented at Duquesne University tonight when the Morry-Fintex team oppose the incomparable Cleveland Rosenblums, champions of the American League, in a benefit contest for Pittsburgh orphans. The contest has attracted widespread attention in local basketball circles and should pack the spacious Duquesne University gym to capacity.

Sammy Klateman.

The Morry-Fintex aggregation, leading the race in the Allegheny County League as a result of impressive victories over Charleleroi, Homestead and Elizabeth, will present a strong front against the Rosies, who include in their floor machine such prominent names as Carl Husta, Joe Lapchick, Dutch Dehnert, Pete Barry, Johnny Beckman, Wickerson, Red Skurnick and Dave Kerr. Lapchick, Dehnert, Barry and Beckman are former members of the Original New York Celtics, former world's basketball champions.

Among the spectators will be Dr. Clifford Carlson and members of his University of Pittsburgh varsity squad.

One of the features of the Morry-Fintex play so far this season has been the work of little Sammy Klateman at forward. Not

Dukes and Layden Silent on Grid Offer

Athletic authorities at Duquesne University see no reason to take any action at this time in regard to the offer received by its football coach, Elmer Layden, from Georgetown University to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Lou Little. Layden admitted receiving an invitation to succeed Little, but announced that he has not given the matter any serious thought.

John D. Holohan, graduate manager of the Dukes, is with the basketball team on a tour through the Middle West and will not return until Sunday.

SUHR TO WED SATURDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—Gus Suhr, first baseman for the San Francisco Seals last season, and Miss Helen Hart will be married here Saturday.

Suhr recently was sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Suhr, who hit 51 home runs for 'Frisco last season, was obtained last Saturday when officials of the Coast League club came here for a parley with Barney Dreyfuss. Jewel Ens and Sam Dreyfuss. Tom Sheehan and a sum of money, estimated at $20,000, were given in exchange for Gus.

CHEAP HOMERS HIT BY N. L. IN NEW RULE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The "quack doctors" and those specialists who appear to know something about their diamond patients' troubles will get together in joint session today while 101 real experts await on the outside, denied the right to sit in on the sport they helped to make. It is not surprising to hear that baseball has been having some tough sledding when one observes the manner in which the councils of the sport are conducted. Where you have one McGraw or Mack properly accredited to the inner sanctums, you have three or four magnates who, in the language of the day, "don't know what its all about." They have little or no baseball background, yet they parade themselves and prescribe medicine which would sicken a less hardier sport than the grand old national game.

These interlopers try to make the newspapermen feel their importance as they discuss various phases of the sport, where, if you put them to the test, they would not be able to identify the various big league baseball players. And these are the fellows who are trying to tell the players what's what. Meantime, the lobbies are full of speakers, Cobbs, Evers, Collins, Tinkers and a score of others, some of whom don't even know where to look for baseball employment, while the pretenders are cutting in on world series money and that sort of thing.

TRY TO OUST ROBBIE

Over in Brooklyn, an opposing faction is trying to get Uncle Robbie out of the organization. If it succeeds, it may be a sorry day for the National League. When the senior circuit of the game calls its roll, the hall should ring with the names of Wagner, Clarke, Robinson, McGraw, Tinker, Evers, Bresnahan and others who quicken the memories of the fans who read of these great performers and realize where they fit in the sport. The major league have talked of this and that in the past two days. Finally the magnates have become aware of the harm which cheap homers have wrought on the sport, but as usual, the fellows who have little sympathy for the skill and artistry of the game as long as the shekles roll in, waited until the horse was stolen before locking the old barn door.

Thousands of fans who know baseball have soured on the fluke homers and many are not coming to the parks as regularly as of

November 27, Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh.

CHICAGO LOYOLA TRIMS DUKE'S FIVE, 29-13

LOCALS BEATEN SECOND TIME IN MID-WEST

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Loyola University handed Duquesne its second trimming of its Western trip last night, 29-13. The win over the Pittsburgh school marked the nineteenth consecutive victory for Loyola, the Ramblers being undefeated in 18 starts last year.

Bob Schuman, Loyola sophomore, starred for the Ramblers with four baskets and one free throw. Benedict was the Dukes' best bet with a pair of baskets and one penalty throw.

The Dukes were held to one basket in the first half and scored only four additional field goals in the second period.

The battle started slowly with Loyola and Duquesne alternating a one-point lead. With the score 4 to 3 in favor of the Westerners Loyola drew away, on baskets by Schuman and Butzen. The Ramblers led at the half, 12-3.

In the second half Bob Schuman scored six points to bring his team's total to 18.

The Dukes began to flash their real form in the middle of the second period. Benedict dropped in two shots from the side and Stephans added another free counter. Coach Davies sent in Abele to replace McGeever, who left the game on fouls, and also replaced Wilder with Parry. Parry contributed immediately with a free throw after Waesco fouled.

The Dukes lost, 35 to 26, to Iowa Monday night. They complete their trip by playing Elmhurst College at Elmhurst, Ill., tonight.

Loyola—29.		Duquesne—13.

IOWA DECLARES 14 ATHLETES INELIGIBLE

IOWA CITY, Ia., Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Fourteen University of Iowa athletes today were announced as those hit by last night's ruling of the Hawkeye athletic board declaring ineligible all men who borrowed money from the "trust fund" which figured in the Big Ten ouster charges.

Twenty-eight athletes borrowed from the fund, C. C. Williams, chairman of the Iowa eligibility committee, said, but only half that number now are in school. Amounts due the fund range from $10 to $80. Some of the men have paid back part of the loans.

The athletes involved—and the amounts due the fund are:

Mike Farrell, football co-captain-elect, Michigan City, Ind., $45.
Pete Affa, Quincy, Ill., $45.
Lawrence Benson, Michigan City, Ind., $25.
Floyd Mitchell, Richmore, S. D., $45.
Marvin Schmidt, Moline, Ill., $80.
Doyle Plumkitt, Frankfort, Ind., $35.
Francis Wallace, Fort Madison, Ia., $15.
Theron Boyer, Cedar Rapids, Ia., $25.
Seward Leeks, Independence, Mo., $45.
Charles Stewart, Iowa City, $25.
Irving Nelson, Omaha, $45.
Boyd Liddle, Davenport, Ia., $35.
Homer Musgrave, St. Louis, $45.
Oran Pape, Dubuque, $25.

The Iowa board, in declaring the men ineligible last night, reaffirmed its belief "that it was not fair or just to the individual athlete to penalize him for innocent participation in an irregularity of a past administration," but yielded to "the superior authority of the conference to reverse the ineligibility findings of any member institution."

Six of Coach Rollie Williams' basketball team, four of them regulars, were affected by the ruling.

The board, which met in the afternoon and continued in session until after midnight, drafted a resolution inviting the Conference to "send a committee to Iowa City within the near future to review the situation for the purpose of ascertaining whether essential justice due these men may not warrant their reinstatement."

GRIFFITH STEPS IN

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—Critics of the Western Conference have been invited to produce whatever evidence they claim to have on subsidizing and proselyting of athletes, or to stop "whispering, gossiping and scandalizing."

Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Conference, which severed athletic relations with the University of Iowa on similar charges, said his organization would investigate every charge and promised swift action if it was needed.

"If anyone has information that any member of the Western Conference or any alumnus of any conference school is conspiring to or violating conference rules, let him come to us with his information. We will investigate it thoroughly and in confidence. Any one who is a friend of clean athletics will do that. Those opposed to clean athletics will whisper and gossip about. It's time for the gossipers to stop gossiping."

STATE TO PLAY IOWA

IOWA CITY, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The University of Iowa, chastised by the Big Ten for admitted irregularities in its athletic department, yesterday accepted the hand of friendship extended by schools outside that conference.

While the council in control of athletics deferred action on whether Iowa would withdraw its membership until it resumed a huddle that officials said would last into the morning hours, Hawkeye coaches announced scheduling of two important football games, one an intersectional classic.

The football games booked definitely were with Penn State here November 15 and Nebraska here November 22. The possibility was held out that the former might be played at Soldier Field, in Chicago, for use of which the Hawkeyes have tentatively contracted.

Resumption of football rivalry between Iowa and Nebraska renews a series of 18 games that ended 10 years ago.

The possibility of the Penn State game played in Chicago, athletic officials said, depended on whether Iowa could arrange another to be played in Iowa City late in October. The Hawkeyes are dickering with the University of California for a local appearance.

PIRATES MEET AMERICANS SATURDAY

By CARL W. SHATTO.

An injury a day keeps victory away.

Manager Frank Frederickson's Pirate skaters were not moaning this battle dirge when they returned from Boston last night for the simple but sufficient reason that they didn't think of it. Pilot Freddie today is in a position to put a lot of feeling into such a chant. He is the latest addition to a Pirate hospital squad which has been an impressive aggregation ever since the season opened, and, as manager of the Bucs, he is the man in the best position to realize that a pilot returning from a road trip without victories but with a fresh consignment of injuries faces a rocky road.

WANTS COMPANY

The Pirates returned here from Boston for several reasons, the most important of which is that they are to do battle with Lionel Conacher and his New York Americans at Duquesne Garden Saturday night. The former Pittsburgh defense giant put over a fast one on the locals Tuesday night when he scored a goal, and gave his Yanks a 1-0 victory over Toronto and left the Bucs to occupy the National League cellar without the consolation of company. Until Tuesday the Pirates and Americans had been in a last-place deadlock.

Holding the world champion Bruins to a 5-4 score in Boston, as did the Bucs, is a more impressive feat than beating the Leafs by 1-0, however, and the local puckmen are confident that they again will have company in the cellar when they have finished with the Americans here Saturday. A victory over Conacher's men will enable the Bucs to pull up even with the New Yorkers again, and a standing deadlock with the Americans is the Pirates' immediate, if not particularly, lofty aim.

INJURIES BIG HANDICAP

Whether or not the Pirates are able to snap their losing string of seven straight games depends largely upon the speed with which Frederickson's injured knee responds to treatment. Freddie had to be carried from the ice after twisting his leg early in the game with the Bruins.

Dr. Wuerthele, Pittsburgh club physician, examined Frederickson this morning and found that several ligaments in his leg were badly sprained. Ice packs were applied to the injured knee throughout the day, and late this afternoon it was reported that the Bucco skipper would not be able to don skates for some time.

Broken ribs sustained by Darragh, ankle sprains sustained by Smith and Lowrey and a broken hand sustained by Drury are other injuries of recent vintage which have not tended to help the Bucs in their victory quest.

A glance at the Pirates' individual scoring record proves that which needs no proving: that Frederickson's absence would be a severe blow to the Bucs' victory chances. The list follows:

	Goals	Assists	Pts.
Frederickson	1	7	8
Darragh	4	3	7
Mules	3	4	7
MacKinnon	5	2	7
Lowrey	6	0	6

PITT COURTMEN OFF FOR WEST TONIGHT

Coach Carlson will truck his University of Pittsburgh basketball squad to the Union Station this evening and pack them on the 11:48 train West for Bloomington, Indiana, where they are scheduled to combat Indiana University in their first game of a western tour.

According to Carlson, the Panther basketeers will depend mainly on their speed to win their games this year, big men on the order of Eddie Baker and Pay Montgomery having been lost to the squad. Carlson will open his western invasion strutting a new trick passing game, which he claims is a world beater.

The local team probably will line up against Indiana as follows: Hyatt and Zehfuss at forward; Le Cohen at center, and Doc Kowallis and Arture at guard. Strong reserve material will be on hand in the faces of Al Wrobleskie and Milton Cohen, with a possibility of Milton Cohen starting instead of Arture.

Balloting will be close to fill the post to be vacated by Capt. Buff Donnelli when elections are held by Duquesne University's undefeated Red and Blue gridders at the annual Alumni football banquet in the William Penn Tuesday night. There are many candidates for the post of 1930 leader.

Among the more likely candidates, all lettermen, are George (Ganzy) Benedict, back; Jack (Doggo) Burns, back; Richard (Babe) Kelleher, guard; Pat Lally and Maesh Silverstein, twins of the center post; Joe McCarthy, quarterback; Kass Kovalcheck, fullback, and Sammy Pratt, who received game-winning passes four times. All of the men will be seniors next year.

Mehlhorn to Play On Ryder Cup Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—William (Wild Bill) Mehlhorn, star pro golfer left off last spring's United States Ryder cup golf team, will be a member of the team when it is assembled in 1931, it was said yesterday.

The final practice before the game will be held tomorrow afternoon in the famed Rose Bowl of Pasadena, where another Pittsburgh eleven, the Pitt Panthers, will battle this same U. S. C. eleven in the Tournament of Roses game, New Year's Day.

used regularly, the former star of the Somermans and the Young Men's Hebrew Association has shown enough class in the early-season games while serving as a substitute to stamp him among the best in the County League this season. Many of his friends will be out tonight to see how he performs against the American Leaguers.

The Rosies are appearing here through the efforts of Morry Goldman, who is staging the benefit game at his own expense. Arrangements for the contest were completed by John J. Freund, Jr., local representative of the American League.

Nate Lippe, coach and star forward of the Morry-Fintex aggregation, reports his team in excellent shape for the battle tonight. In the preliminary game the Lou Gordon Juniors, directed by Dr. Lewis A. Singer, club advisor, will meet the Penn Cadets.

Dribbles

The Ray F. Schneiders undefeated leaders in the West Penn League will invade the Youths Negro Belgrade Association to battle to meet the Pennfolders in one of the two games on the league card. In the other contest Edgewood appears at North Side Turn Hall. Harry Hoyt, chief Safeguarder and the Y. M. H. A., has his team on edge for the battle with Joe Cohen's smooth-working machine.

There is an opening in the Commercial-Industrial League for a basketball team. The team, at present includes Crucible Steel, Pittsburgh Steel, Carnegie Steel, Heppenstall, Pyle, Pyle and Penn Rail Electric Steel and National Tube. Any business teams interested may get in touch with President John J. Freund at Lafayette 4250.

Rieck-McJunkin appears at Carnegie Steel tonight in the only Commercial-Industrial League game on the program. This team shapes up as one of the best operating this season.

Firemen to Meet Majesties Saturday

The East Pittsburgh Firemen and the Hope-Harvey Majestics will clash at the Hunt Armory Saturday night in the second indoor independent gridiron battle of the season. This game will give the fans a chance to see just how good Chile, East Pittsburgh crack end, is. The Valley fans are rating Chile a better end than Wild.

The armory is situated at Alder and Emerson streets, just behind East Liberty Station, and the Majestic management is looking for another banner crowd. The game will be called at 8:15.

BASKETBALL RULES QUIZ

PLAY NO. 16.

The umpire calls a personal foul on Mills, of Illinois, for blocking Spradling, of Iowa. An appeal is made through the captain to the referee that there has been no personal contact on the play.

What is the correct ruling?

ANSWER.

The referee rules that a personal foul has been committed even though there has been no contact. Blocking is the only personal foul in the rules possible without contact. All others are considered technical fouls.

Major Leagues May Cut Rate For Children

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—School children may be admitted for 25 cents each to all major league baseball games in 1930 excepting those played on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

At the suggestion of Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, Alderman Thomas J. Bowler, of Chicago, was bound for the joint meeting of the majors at New York today with the plan of cut-rate tickets for youngsters.

"The youngsters are losing interest in baseball because they can't pay high prices for tickets," Bowler said. "If the rate is cut to 25 cents for them, they will become interested in the game again."

NATIONAL SOCCER CUP TIE CARDED SUNDAY

BIG LEAGUE TILTS SLATED SATURDAY

By TOM BIRKS.

A flock of league games and one lonely cup tie is scheduled for local soccer fans this week end. The cup tie is scheduled for the Monongahela Speedway on Sunday, when the Cecil Club meets Gallatin in the National amateur tourney. It is possible another Chartiers Valley club will bite the dust.

The District League will show some real battles Saturday afternoon. The meeting of Clan Douglas and the Pittsburgh Celtics should pack in the fans at Leslie Park. This game will be handled by the president of the Referees' Association, Paddy O'Conner.

FAN MAIL

Fan mail concerning soccer conditions in the district is flooding the office. The last one, signed "Club Manager," hits on the connection between a local club, the secretary of the West Penn Football Association and the president of the Referees' Association.

The letter accuses the Pittsburgh Celtics of refusing to abide by the decision of the cup committee of the West Penn Football Association to play in the final, that is, should it win its semi-final game, if Referee Brannigan handles the game. The letter states that the Celtics refused to appear in a previous round of the cup ties at McKeesport against National Tube if Brannigan refereed the game, and that President O'Conner, of the referees' body, supplanted Simpson in Brannigan's place, and the game went along.

Then comes the query: "Are the Celtics dominating local soccer because the secretary of the club is also secretary of the West Penn? Will O'Connor take Brannigan off the final game if the Celtics require it?"

In answer to the last question we might state that it was the cup committee of the West Penn cup which appointed the semi-final and final referees at the last meeting. So O'Connor, not having put on the referees, cannot take them off.

PAT OVERLOOKED

This selection of the final game referee certainly looks like a crack at O'Connor. Pat has been one of the best presidents the association has known and worked hard for the cause. It has been the maxim of the local cup committee to honor the president of the Referee's Association with the final game. This has been done on numerous occasions, but seeing that O'Connor has been president for two years, and not even considered for the final, seems like another case of playing politics.

Referee Brannigan has refereed no finals since he joined the association some years back. But this decision is in keeping with other foolish decisions made this season. "Club Manager" should wait until the bridge is reached before crossing it, regarding what the Celtics will do when the final comes around. The Celtics have yet to win the semi-final battle, and that will give them plenty of concern.

MAJORS OPEN JOINT CONFAB

yore it would seem. The National League discussed the unearned home runs yesterday and, while it took no direct action on the short fence parks, the league did move to give the pitcher an edge that should have a good effect in this direction. Beginning next season, the league will play its games with balls from which the gloss has been removed.

TO REMOVE GLOSS

The idea now is to have the manufacturers take off the shiny coat before the spheres are delivered to the clubs. In the latter half of last season the league officials directed the umpires to remove this gloss and the arbiters acted accordingly by applying damp soil to the cover of the ball. The result was an appreciable reduction in homers during the remainder of the season and thankfulness on the part of the pitchers.

John A. Heydler president of the National League and Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates, are capable officials who are trying to remedy the condition. At the conclusion of yesterday's meeting of the National League, Heydler stated the next campaign would see the unglossed ball in force. The move should bring about better baseball as the lively sphere and short fences have taken so much skill out of the sport that there no longer is any premium on science. Dreyfuss has long protested the cheap homers and he thinks the new legislation on the balls is a step in the right direction.

LINTON TO ORIOLES

The Pirate management last night released Catcher Bob Linton to the Baltimore club of the International League, and thereby paid off part of a debt incurred when the Pittsburgh team purchased Catcher Al Bool, star receiver of the Orioles.

Linton is the big collegian who performed as third-string catcher for the Buccos last year. He was one of the most popular members of the squad, but had little chance to get in much duty as a Pirate. Bob, a lefthand hitter, weighs almost 200 pounds in condition. In his college days he starred in baseball, football and boxing.

Moose Temple tomorrow night with the signing of Georgie Chambers, of the North Side, to box Carl Montebana, of Braddock, in the second bout and Paul Balint, of the North Side, to box Frankie Lanz, of Sharpsburg, in the opener. Young Saylor, of Charleroi, boxes Tom Malco, of Soho, in the 10-round windup and Dominick Profio, of Cecil, meets Joe Zink, of McKees Rocks, in the semi-final. Profio, through his manager, James (Red) Mason, wanted to take a runout on this bout, as he did on Young Joe Walcott at Motor Square Garden last Monday night, but he has been ordered by the boxing commission to go through with it.

George Panka, of Homestead, and Harry Williams, of Rankin, heavyweights, will top the Moose card Friday night of next week and, on Friday, December 27, Mickey Solmen, who knocked out Buck McTiernan in the Moose ring last Friday night, will return to oppose Rudy Ceder, of Tarentum, in the main bout. Solmen also is matched with Joey Feldman, of Cleveland, at Washington, Pa., next Monday night and with Young Guido, of Sharon, at Oil City, Friday night of next week.

BELMONT TO BOX RANDALL

Despite the fact that Jimmy Belmont made a disappointing showing against Farmer Joe Cooper in their bout at Motor Square Garden last Monday night, he has been booked right back against Tiger Joe Randall for the main bout Christmas afternoon, which is hardly giving the fans a break in the way of a holiday bill. Something better than that ought to be available with two weeks in which to arrange the card for such a special occasion.

The Motor Square Club and the Moose Temple are vieing for Jackie Rodgers' services to start off the new year. The Garden is planning on bringing a good opponent in from out of town for the Negro knockout artist on New Year's afternoon, while Promoter Flynn claims to have first call on the services of Rodgers by contract and is seeking an opponent for him for January 4. If the Moose contract is recognized by the commission it will not be possible for Rodgers to fight at the Garden three days before, as five days must elapse between main bout appearances of boxers.

Between Rounds

Young Joe Walcott, Negro welterweight, of Washington, Pa., will oppose Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the semi-final of the Christmas card at the Garden. Both turned in victories in the same ring last Monday night, Walcott stopping Gene Reed and Rudy handing Jackie Herman a beating.

Howard Mayberry, of Donora, boxes Eddie LeRoy, of Williamsport, in the main bout of a show at DuBois next Tuesday night.

Johnny Windsor, local middleweight, who is campaigning in Florida, is matched to box Jimmy Sullivan in a 10-round bout at West Palm Beach next Tuesday night. He was supposed to box on the Sammy Mandell-Manuel Quintero card at Miami Tuesday night, but the promoters could not dig up an opponent for him.

FRANKLIN CLUB MAY QUIT

Unless the patronage improves, the Franklin, Pa., boxing club likely will fold up after its next offering, which is planned for New Year's Day. Promoter Leo Beatty has given the fans two good shows this season, but has been unable to break even on expenses.

Phil Goldstein, Hill lightweight, is back in town scaling 147 pounds after his rest in Ohio. He plans to stay here until after Christmas unless he gets word to head East for bouts in the meantime. He says he will have no trouble getting down to his fighting weight of 135-47 pounds.

John Nagy has been picked as the opponent of Fritzie Zivic, brother of Jack and Pete Zivic, in a special 106-pound bout at the Keystone A. C. tomorrow night. This will be Zivic's second appearance there, he having recently made his debut at the club and turned in a victory. Other bouts arranged are: 135-pound class, Joe Speer, Uniontown, vs. Ray Windbush; 160 pounds, Mike Choymiak, Willow Club, vs. Carl Cesko, Uniontown; 118 pounds, Mose Butch, Willow Club, vs. Frank Rosana, and 126 pounds, Larry Dowling, Clairton A. C., vs. Frank Totomer, Willow Club. Simon Brown, Willow Club 126-pounder, also will be on the card.

SMOKER BOUTS CARDED

Six four-round bouts will feature the third annual benefit smoker and entertainment to be given by the Sixth Ward Republican Club in Eintracht Hall, Thirty-sixth street and Bandera way, Saturday evening. Jack and Pete Zivic, Johnny Haggerty and Tiny O'Neil are some of the battlers who will take part.

The Churchill Downs meeting will extend from May 10 to May 31, with 19 racing days, it is announced. Friday, May 9, has been allotted to the Maryland Jockey Club for the Preakness Stakes, which event usually precedes the Kentucky Derby by eight days.

Elmer Layden

WHILE there is a tribute to Elmer Layden in the fact that Georgetown University has made the Duke mentor its first choice for the filling of the coaching vacancy caused by the departure of Lou Little for Columbia, the average fan may be pardoned for wondering what has become of the respect that football contracts, like contracts of any other kind, ought to command. At the Dukes' gridiron banquet a year ago it was publicly announced that Layden had been signed to a new five-year contract as coach of the Bluffites. That agreement still has four years to run. It is both unsportsmanlike and unethical for any college to make an offer to a coach who is under contract at another school unless it has received permission to dicker with him from those to whom he owes his services for a fixed period, and it would be equally unsportsmanlike and unethical for a coach bound by such a contract to entertain a proposition of that kind unless the college employing him has volunteered to release him from his obligations. Layden very properly says he has taken no action on the offer received.

Wills Knocks Out Castano in Third

DICK BUCKLEY, OLD CATCHER, SUCCUMBS

Richard D. (Dick) Buckley, one of the most famous big league baseball catchers of the old days, who retired from the game after the season of 1900, died last night at his home, 1815 Davis avenue, Bellevue.

He had been ill only a few days with intestinal trouble, and as late as last Thursday had been at his post of duty as an elevator operator in the Union Trust Building. He was 64 years old.

SANDLOT PRODUCT

Buckley was a product of the sand lots of this section in the days when baseball catchers had the protection of only a small fingerless glove, and his gnarled fingers attested the injuries he suffered from many a fast pitch.

From the diamonds hereabouts Dick advanced in the diamond profession until he became a major league fixture and was recognized as one of the greatest backstops of his time.

He began his professional career in 1885 with the Binghamton (N. Y.), club, and in 1886 and 1887 he caught for the famous Syracuse Stars. The following year found him in the big show, as he was a member of the Indianapolis club of John T. Brush, then in the National League.

Buckley remained with Indianapolis in 1889, and when that city withdrew from the National League in March, 1890, he and eight other players were transferred to the New York Giants.

TRANSFERRED EAST

Those transferred with Buckley were Catcher John Sommers, Pitchers Amos Rusie and Henry Boyle, Infielders Jack Glasscock, Jerry Denny, Charles Bassett and Mike Scanlon, and Jesse Burkett, who was being converted from a pitcher into an outfielder.

Dick remained with the Giants throughout 1890 and 1891, being a regular catcher along with the great Buck Ewing. After the 1891 race he was released to the St. Louis Nationals, then owned by Chris Von Der Ahe, and continued with that club until the latter part of the 1894 season, when he was sent to the Philadelphia Nations.

Buckley caught for Philadelphia during the remainder of 1894 and also in 1895. In 1896 he was back with Indianapolis. He started the campaign of 1897 with Grand Rapids, but before the season was over he was sent to the Baltimore Nationals, remaining with the latter team until the middle of the 1899 season, when he returned to Grand Rapids.

JOINED CLEVELAND

He was signed by the Cleveland Nationals for 1900 but before the season began the National League was reduced from 12 clubs to eight, Cleveland being dropped along with Washington, Baltimore and Louisville. The leading Cleveland players were transferred to St. Louis, but Buckley joined the Chicago club of the American League, which had just begun its invasion of National League territory. He caught and played first base for Chicago that year, and at the end of the season retired from baseball.

A brother, John, also was prominent in the game for a time in the 90's. He pitched for Manchester, O., the Brooklyn Players' League club, Peoria and other professional teams.

Butler Y Noses Out Waynesburg

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 12.—Butler Y opened its season here last night by turning back the Waynesburg College quintet in a fast battle 28 to 26, featured by the strong comeback of the Yellow Jackets in the third and fourth quarters. The locals enjoyed a 21 to 9 lead at half time. Lefevre and Rose led the locals, while Avery and O'Connell were the leading scorers for the invaders. The lineup:

Butler Y—28		Waynes—26
Avery	F	Avery
Lefevre	F	O'Connell
Rose	C	Ufema
Storey	G	Ullom
Zinn	G	Smith

Substitutions—Potter for Avery, Sparde for O'Connell, White for Smith, Smith for Ufema. Field goals—Avery, Lefevre 5, Rose 4, Avery 3, O'Connell 2, Smith 2, Sparde. Fouls—Butler Y, 8 out of 11; Waynesburg, 10 out of 14. Referee—Calbolster.

The SUNSHINE SPECIAL
(NO EXTRA FARE)
To Southern CALIFORNIA

STRAIGHT South, into the land of balmy sunshine, speeds this famous train, then West to the Pacific Coast . . . It's the low altitude, mild weather route, for years the preference of experienced, discriminating travelers.

The SUNSHINE SPECIAL leaves St. Louis at 6:30 pm, via the Missouri Pacific Lines. Daylight finds it entering sunny Texas. The route leads west through Dallas, Ft. Worth, El Paso, Tucson, Phoenix and into Los Angeles, with arrival there at 9:15 am the third morning out, or San Diego at 10:30 am.

A two hour stop over at El Paso permits a side trip to Juarez. Passengers may also make a side trip to the Carlsbad Cavern, "the Grand Canyon underground", or tour the Apache Trail, Globe to Phoenix, at small additional cost. All year tourist fares with stop over privileges now available.

This season better and faster than ever . . . Sunroom lounge-observation service and modern drawing room-compartment sleeping cars . . . . Oil burning locomotives all the way . . . Excellent dining car meals.

No change of station necessary at St. Louis. All trains from North and East connect in Union Station with the Sunshine Special

'Human Nature Is Everywhere Same'—Untrue

—By B. C. FORBES—

"HUMAN nature is the same everywhere." That is true—and it isn't true.

In certain cities the atmosphere is entirely different from the atmosphere in certain other cities. In one you find an admirable spirit of friendliness among the leading citizens; in another you encounter little but backbiting. In one place you discover an excellent civic spirit, a readiness and eagerness to cooperate for the benefit of the community; in another, each man is out for number one.

So, it is as untrue as it is true that "human nature is the same everywhere."

I have just had a delightful experience in Detroit.

The Detroit Times has just opened a beautiful $2,000,000 new plant. In a mammoth issue devoted to "Progress," there is a full-page advertisement which reveals the existence of this amicable attitude among leading citizens toward one another. Theodore F. MacManus, one of Detroit's outstandingly successful citizens, pays this tribute to fellow citizens; there is room for only brief extracts and for only a few of the names mentioned:

"There are no three men associated in business in America who work any harder than Joseph, Robert and Ray Graham, of the Graham-Paige, Libbey-Owen and other large interests. They are not only 'raised on a farm'—they raised a farm of 5,000 acres and still operate it. So, they know what hard work means. And yet, at the height of the recent unpleasantness Ray Graham telephoned me: 'We thought we were working hard. Now we find that we have not been working at all. We are going to work. Remember it is not the victory but the fight that counts.'

"When I think of Frederick J. Fisher and his six brothers I think particularly of their capacity for thinking and working. When I think of Walter P. Chrysler I think of the bulldog determination and the fierce energy which will now be given a reincarnation. When I think of Dubois Young, of Hupmobile, I think of him for what he is—an indomitable worker risen from the bench to a corporate presidency—with his pride aroused and, metaphorically speaking, his overalls on once more. And besides and behind him I think of the sane, sober, solid counsel of Charles Hastings, with his great fund of human sympathy and understanding.

"I respect Alvan MacAuley, of Packard, for all that he has done. I respect him especially because he was able at the very height and head of the battle to steal a weekend and calmly go hunting to collect his thoughts and chart his plans.

"Some men work so quietly that the shallow and the superficial miss their real worth—until a crisis comes. Charles T. Fisher is such a man, but the way he has risen to his responsibilities is too complimentary to be told. Walter Briggs is not a spectacular person but the things he has been doing at his desk from early morning till far past the dinner hour every day have been spectacular in their significance to Detroit — and would be spectacular in the telling if we would permit them to be told.

"Clem Miniger, although still young in years, has been handling his vast interests with the ease and calmness of a veteran operator. I am not capable of speaking of or for Henry Ford. He speaks for himself."

Railroad Mergers Far From Completion

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE solution of the railroad consolidation problem is still as far away as it was when the question first became a national issue. In addition to its extremely difficult task of deciding which lines to link together, the Interstate Commerce Commission finds its hands completely tied by the widespread development in the use of holding companies.

Unless the commission secures the help of new legislation permitting it to control these organizations, it will be in a helpless position. It has the task given it by the Transportation Act of working out a national consolidation plan but it is powerless to put its orders into force.

While it is true that the railroads have been guilty of violating the spirit of the Transportation Act by forming new corporations to hold the securities of strategically located lines, the carriers have so much at stake that it is hard to blame them for taking steps to fortify their positions while the entire question is in such an unsettled state.

Formulating Plan

AFTER a delay of several years, during which the commission insisted that it was incapable to carrying out the instructions of Congress to make a general consolidation plan, the commission has at last gotten down to business and will publish its ideas on the subject within a short time. But the proposal to be made will not be final. It is almost certain that every railroad in the country will find some phase of the plan which it does not like. All these lines must be allowed to present their cases so that a long period will elapse before even the commission can clarify its ideas on the subject.

After these difficulties are ironed out the completion of the mergers will still be far away. Under the present law the commission cannot make any railroads merge if the lines do not wish to do it. All that it can do is to permit the roads to consolidate where such actions fit in with the general plan.

Holding Companies

THE commission has the right to force a railroad which holds stocks of another system to dispose of them. This would be a powerful weapon to prevent carriers from blocking desired consolidations were it not for the subterfuge of the holding company. The commission in its annual report admitted that it can not force any of the holding companies affiliated with railroad systems to sell their stock.

The commission is also powerless to make an industrial organization sell the stock of a railroad which it holds. As an example, the Pittsburgh Coal Company owns the Montour Railroad which has been mentioned in several of the plans submitted to the commission by the carriers, but the commission cannot force this carrier into any consolidation.

Legislation Expected

IN view of the commission's confession of inability to cope with the situation, it is quite likely that congressional investigations will follow and that attempts will be made to pass new legislation which will again put the commission in control of the consolidation problem.

Until this is accomplished the only chance the commission has to enforce its demands is through action under the Clayton Act. This law applies to the acquisition of control of one corporation by another through the purchase of stock. In some cases there is a possibility that the commission can control the actions of holding companies by this means.

Schulte-United Passes Dividend

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Directors of the Schulte-United 5-cent to $1 Stores, Inc., today omitted declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 due at this time on the preferred stock. In view of the fact that the stock had dropped from $89 to $24 a share this year, omission of the dividend was not unexpected. The company, organized about two years ago, operates a chain of about 60 stores, some of which are in Canada.

Rediscount Rate Cut To 5 Pct. in England

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(INS.)—The Bank of England today announced the reduction of its rediscount rate from 5½ per cent to 5 per cent. Further reduction from the 5½ per cent rate to which the bank rate was reduced on November 21 was regarded here as evidence of gradual readjustment of financial conditions and the flow of gold between the United States and Europe.

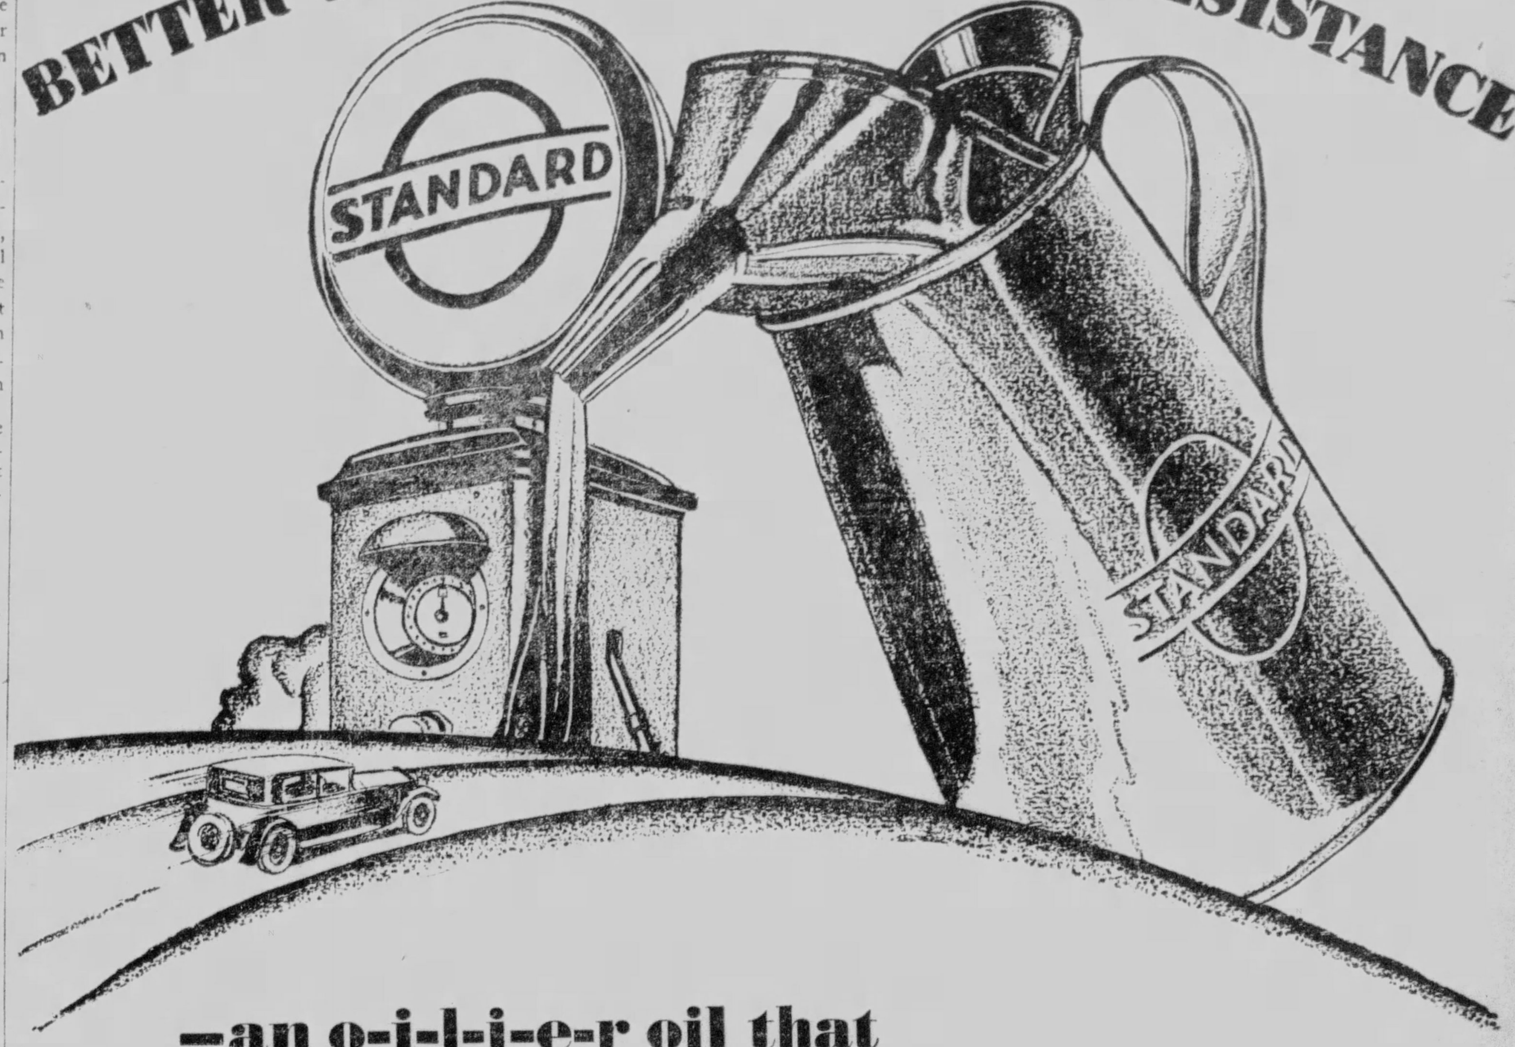
BETTER BODY AND GREATER RESISTANCE



—an o-i-l-i-e-r oil that is tested for friction

Friction hasn't a chance with "Standard" Motor Oil. This new especially-processd, oilier oil, stands up and flows between the hot sliding pistons and cylinder walls—cooling, soothing, and protecting them. "Standard" Motor Oil is tested for friction before it leaves the plant. That's why "Standard" never falls down on the actual job.

There is no other motor oil exactly like "Standard." It flows freely. It clings to the metal parts. It is there to protect even before the motor starts turning over. Before the force pressure pump or the splash system starts working. And "Standard" is an honest oil. It resists heat. That's why "Standard" users find so little carbon in their motors.

Why pay fancy prices for inferior oils when you can now get "Standard"—the oilier motor oil? Why say "Give me a quart of oil," when you can now put the most popular motor oil throughout the Eastern seaboard states in your crankcase? Drain your car today. Fill up with "Standard" Motor Oil of the proper consistency for your car. Watch how your oil mileage goes up, and your repair bills go down.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Drift Lower — Fuel Stocks Dull Here

STOCK MARKET PRICES DRIFT DOWNWARD

Pools' Sporadic Attempts To Rally General List Fail—Trading Moderate

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The stock market continued to drift lower today despite sporadic attempts of pools to rally the general list. Trading, however, was not very heavy in volume, indicating that "bear" operators, who have been hammering the market at intervals for the last few days, apparently were having difficulty in dislodging any great volume of stock.

There were several disappointing developments in the day's news. Publication of copper statistics, showing a large increase in the amount of stocks on hand, confirmed widely circulated reports that buyers were still holding to the "hand-to-mouth" policy, and that a substantial percentage of recent production was piling up.

GOLD SHIPMENTS

Heavy withdrawals of gold for shipment to England offset the announcement of a reduction in the Bank of England discount rate which, however, is expected to have a retarding influence on further exports of the yellow metal. Omission of the United-Schulte preferred dividend furnished further proof that prosperity this year was by no means general.

Public utilities, which enjoyed a temporary outburst of strength earlier in the week, were sold rather freely, although recent news from the electrical industry has been favorable, and prospects generally promising. Stone and Webster dropped 9 points, North American Company 7½, Standard Gas and Electric 6¾ and American Water Works and several others 2 to 4 points.

Rails also fell back sharply despite widely circulated reports in the financial district that the Interstate Commerce Commission's revised plan for the consolidation of eastern railroads into five large systems would be made public over the week-end. Union Pacific fell 8 points, Atchison 7 and several of the other leaders yielded 1 to 3 points.

AUBURN DROPS

Auburn Auto, after running up 13 points to 225, fell back to 200½. Renewal of selling pressure against Fox Film carried that issue down 7 points before it met effective buying support.

U. S. Steel sold down to 173 after touching 177¾ in the early trading, which contrasts with Monday's high of 189. Air Reduction, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical, Johns Manville and J. I. Case sold down 5 to 8 points.

Leading stocks sank rapidly under the pressure of large offerings of both accounts in the last hour. U. S. Steel sold below 170, and declines of 5 points or more were numerous. J. I. Case slumped 17½ points under the previous close, Auburn Auto 16½, Otis Elevator 16¼, and General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak 10 to 11 points each. The closing tone was weak. Total sales approximated 3,800,000 shares.

Willys Overland Expects Lower Output

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—L. A. Miller, president of Willys-Overland Company, stated that estimates of automobile output in the United States and Canada next year range from 4,600,000 to 5,000,000 units, but he is inclined to believe the lower figure will be established, compared with estimated output of 5,700,000 units this year, the largest ever reported.

Keeping of production within retail demand, he thinks, should result in moderate upward trend in automobile prices.

Willys-Overland production this year, he estimated, at about 275,000 units, including exports, against 314,000 in 1928. Export sales this year will amount to over 40,000 units, an increase of 20 per cent over 1928. Further increase in exports is expected in 1930.

The company's plants are now operating five days a week and producing 500 cars daily against 2,000 daily at the peak last spring.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP.)—The curb market, after milling about uncertainly all the week, turned distinctly heavy today, most of the popular shares losing from 1 to more than 10 points. But trading remained dull, bearish attacks failing to bring out any large volume of liquidation and most shares displaying considerable resistance after moderate declines.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

SPECULATIONS INCREASE AT HIGH PRICES

Rally Following Recent Market Crash Indicates Faith in Investments

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The rally from the recent Wall Street debacle, amounting to nearly 30 per cent above the November lows, emphasizes the extent to which investors as a class habitually profit at the expense of speculators.

Odd lot investors, who seized bargains on the days of panicky liquidation already have reaped substantial rewards, although they were doubtless motivated by a desire to make long pull commitments, rather than to take quick profits. To some extent, the little fellow, who took stock out of the market in small lots put it over the big fellow who dumped stocks during the panicky days in huge blocks.

As a matter of fact, this profiting by investors at the expense of speculators is customary in Wall Street. Commenting on this fact, one Wall Street economist remarked to me that speculators are martyrs to progress. He added that, instead of being nagged in Congress and out they really ought to be subsidized by society, for they are the goats who make it possible for investors to make sizable profits.

SURVEY IS MADE

In order to get some actual data on this subject, the New York Stock Exchange made a study of the changing floating supply of United States steel stock through the years. The steel corporation, which has been exceptionally liberal in divulging significant information concerning its affairs, publishes figures showing the amount of stock held in "Street" names—the speculative floating supply—and the amount held in the names of actual investors.

In pointing out that the study revealed a significant relationship between price changes and the percentage of investment holdings, J. E. Meeker, economist to the New York Stock Exchange observed:

"In general, investment holdings in both issues show increases as prices decline, and show decreases as prices advance. On the other hand, speculative holdings are usually larger at high prices and smaller at low prices.

INVESTORS PROFIT

"The natural inference from this striking relationship is, that investors usually profit and speculators lose, when the former exchanges securities with the latter. But it cannot similarly be concluded from the evidence, that all investors usually profit and all speculators sometimes exchange securities through the stock market with other investors, and speculators frequently do so with other speculators. During advancing prices, for example, the profits of 'bull' speculators may be offset by the losses of the 'bear,' and vice versa during declining prices."

Investment trusts and trading companies are seeking to engage in what window dressing is feasible before the end of the calendar year, for which period they are expected to make accountings to their shareholders. If such reports are confined to a statement only of realized profits and losses, they will conceal as much as they will reveal. The stockholder is equally interested in the present worth of the portfolio which has been retained. Unrealized losses could easily offset realized profits. What the stockholder really wants to know is the net liquidating value.

The huge quantity of odd lot investment buying of shares since the October-early November crash indicates that the public has not wholly turned its back on common stocks as long term investments. The point is that such securities must be regarded as long term commitments, and are rarely suited for investment purposes if the holder has any intention of liquidating at times of stress. Numerous premier stocks at the low point on the recent setback showed substantial advances over the peak prices attained in the 1919 bull market. Moreover, many industrial leaders at the recent low prices showed very substantial gains over the 1923 peaks.

The recent setback has shown the wisdom of a balanced investment diet, rather than the unsuitability of common shares. The investor with a portfolio of short and long term bonds, preferred stocks, common shares, and cash is hedged against contingencies.

To the extent that the rally has fed on short covering it has weakened the technical structure of the market. This key to the future of the market will be in investment buying, which will be contingent on expectations concerning the general business outlook and the prospects for profit making on individual corporations.

Recent market history has been extraordinary in respect to the speed of the decline and the celerity of the subsequent recovery. Both were unusually rapid.

As a clue to what scientific investors are doing, the post's compilations of purchases of fire insurance companies are significant. In the week ended November 30, such companies increased their purchases of railroad common stocks, as compared with activity in the previous week, and reduced their expenditures for utility shares.

The drop in the British discount rate is expected to postpone gold shipments to London unless there should be a lowering of the New York Federal Reserve rate.

A shipment of $11,000,000 in gold bars to London has been arranged, it was learned today, marking a resumption of the movement of yellow metal to England for the first time since the outflow of approximately $500,000,000 in gold during 1927 and 1928 ended in the early summer of last year. The shipment, to be made on the S. S. Bremen, is being sent by the Irving Trust Company to the Midland Bank, Ltd. In addition, $1,300,000 in gold is being sent to Sweden, the first movement to that country since 1927. About $10,000,000 has been sent to France during the past fortnight. It is also unofficially reported that the Midland Bank is arranging another shipment of approximately $7,000,000. These various shipments will bring the total loss of gold so far this month to approximately $29,300,000.

IT is calculated that between now and the middle of January a total of around $1,750,000,000 in new money will be seeking employment in the security markets. December 15 Treasury operations, it is figured, will release close to $400,000,000 net, with corporation dividend and interest payments due about that time adding another $300,000,000. End of the year disbursements, normally the largest in the 12-month period, it is calculated, will reach in excess of $1,000,000,000. With new issues rather slow in coming on the market, it is contended the bulk of such funds will have to go into existing securities. The followers of the long side of the market consider a strong bull point on the immediate future.

It is not unusual after such a break as the market experienced during October and November to have new names cropping up in connection with speculative activities. That is the case at present, and just now the old "bears" of much renown are being forced to share laurels with new aspirants to the seat of prominence on that side of the picture. Selling which forced the leading stocks down sharply during the session, ultimately unsettling the general list, was ascribed as having been influenced in a large way by the renewed activities of a strong group working on the side of the decline. A trader little heard of prior to the big break, but about whom considerable has been written in the few weeks since, as the winner of a large fortune, was reputedly very active on the selling side.

FRESH reaction which has developed in the market was not in the least unexpected. It had been recognized as far back as the middle of last week that the market had completed the normal phase of recovery from the lows of the break. The truth of the matter is that its ability to push ahead until the end of last week the more surprising, the rapidity of the recovery had rendered the rank and file cautious, but the tendency to follow the line of least resistance was still the rule as the market continued to force ahead. The turn since the beginning of the week naturally has influenced the liquidation of much stock which had been bought for quick turns at lower levels.

A sharp break in Fox Film A, under pressure of fresh heavy selling which developed soon after the opening, forced that stock down close to the low levels reached a few weeks back. Aside from the formation of a stockholders' protective committee to work together with the trustees recently appointed for the company there was nothing in the way of fresh news to explain the weakness which incidentally was duplicated in Fox Theaters on the Curb. Fox Film has been under presistent pressure since the regular quarterly dividend due at this time was declared by directors last week.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—The quietness that has characterized bond trading this week was still in evidence today. Most departments had a firmer appearance however and volume picked up a little in the rails and utilities. Time money was unchanged.

Absorption of several large municipal loans in the last two weeks, including the $63,000,000 New York City issue, has taken care of a large volume of funds seeking short term employment.

The new government financing has attracted widespread interest and with the Treasury apparently anticipating lower money charges there has been no disposition to make large commitments in long term fixed charge securities.

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.

A Form of Criticism

SIDNEY SKOLSKY jots down the one about Jack Pickford who made an announcement to the effect that he had permanently retired from the screen.

"Dear me," murmured Willie Collier, "I was hoping they'd be able to keep it from him a little while longer."

NIFTIES

(By Floyd Ayers)

He who laughs last reads The Literary Digest. . . . It is a year since a woman in Spain gave birth to a child with five arms. Yet the scarcity of first-class football players seems about the same . . . Years will pass and millions of dollars will be spent before the great monument to the Confederacy on Stone Mountain is completed. And within half an hour of its official unveiling someone will climb up and pencil a mustache on General Lee.

OBSERVATION

A FEW Monday nights ago the Silver Slipper cafe reopened after a fill with the Willebrandt regime and the great gathering of local notables contained George M. Cohan. In response to the popular demand Mr. Cohan obliged with his song, "45 Minutes From Broadway," and thrilled his listeners.

Mr. Cohan's immediate response was somewhat of a relief from the usual thing that happens at special occasions on Broadway. The average Nobody invariably stalls when called on but then again, George M. Cohan isn't a Nobody.

IT HAPPENS DAILY

Recently one of the better producers heard of a youth in London who was a show-stopper with his exciting dance routines. The producer sent his representative to England to bargain with the fellow, who agreed to come to New York for a stiff wage, feature billing and transportation over. It appears the lad was here two years ago and the same producer wasn't impressed favorably enough.

When the actor arrived he called to see his new boss. The secretary said: "So you're the famous person we sent to England to get, eh? Well, I must say you certainly don't talk like an Englishman."

"Why should I?" was the semi-bitter retort of the chap who had to go to England to be appreciated by Americans, "I'm an Oklahoma cowboy."

ADD SIMILIES

RECOMMENDED for Frank J. Wilstach's Dictionary of Similes: R. E. Sherwood's: "Absurdly transparent as an average musial comedy plot" .... Lawrence Lee's: "Still as music in a dream" .... Norman Douglas': "Convincing as a treasury budget".... Bugs Baer's: "He has a body squeak like a middle-aged flivver" .... H. J. Phillips': "Terrified as a mouse at a Cat Show"....Rose Nadlin's: "So tired she could curl up on a Red Cross button".... and "Short as a traffic cop's answer" .... Irving Bachellor's: "White whiskers, like the first six inches of water that hisses out of a hose at high pressure" .... and Dayton Stoddard's: "As depressing as a fallen arch."

THE MORNING MAIL

"My dear Mr. Winchell," affectionately write Allen Cleaton, the managing editor of the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch. "I notice that in a recent column you said that when a horn-tooter 'goes to town' it means he is stepping on it. It may amuse you to know that 'going to town' is an expression that has been used by Virginian and Kentucky mountaineers for decades. It means, to them, getting drunk and burning the town down."

THE MODERN VERSION

BROKEN Down Patient: Have I any chance at all, doctor, to recover my health?

Physician: Well, I'd say if you give up all intoxicating beverages, stop smoking so many cigarets, cut out late hours, lay off the bright lights, try eating some good home-cooked foods, I can make a new woman out of you.

OOP!

Guy Fawkes in the current New Yorker quarrels with the very odd McIntyre over This and That and concludes: " . . . But the joke about the news-photographer who asked for 'the big smile, please,' was not directed at Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, as Mr. McIntyre had it, but at a quite imaginary cardinal. That is just slip-shod reporting, Mr. McIntyre, and you know it."

IS MY FACE RED?

The height of something or other, according to the girl next door, would be for Walter Winchell to get sore because somebody said something about him.

Real Estate

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany has sold to Howard F. Walker their former church building, a frame structure at the southwest corner of Lemington and Montezuma streets, East End. The lot fronts 20 feet on Lemington avenue and 86 feet on Montezuma street. It is understood that the buyer will construct stores on the property. The church recently dedicated a new stone building at Lemington and Paulson avenues.

The Fisher Scientific Company has purchased from E. U. Snaman 20x43 feet on the north side of Forbes street near Hooper street. The company now owns the entire block on the north side of Forbes street between Hooper and Boyd streets. No immediate construction is contemplated, officials stated.

A house in Norabell avenue, South Hills, lot 30x100 feet, has been sold by Virginia E. Trinkler to Mary A. Mangan.

A seven-room brick and shingle residence and three-car garage in Foliage street, Wilkinsburg, has been sold by Margaret Orr Lockard for Pearl O. Kramer to Andrew Sirtosky, for $6,500. The lot is 50x100 feet. The same broker sold for William J. McCully to Hugh J. Ryan three acres in McCully drive, Penn Township, for $3,850.

Three brick duplex dwellings and six garages at 820-24 North Beatty street have been sold through the Union Real Estate Company for Jacob Laderman to Samuel Horovitz for $37,650. The lot is 60x126 feet. The same brokers also leased to Howard Cleaners, Inc., locations at 115 East Eighth avenue, Homestead; 564 Homewood avenue; 2012 Center avenue, and 5151 Butler street.

In Lawrenceville, the Gribbin Company sold for Adam Ramski to Agnes Los 53x100 feet with four brick houses at 264-68 Thirty-eighth street for $12,500.

Fourteenth Ward—M. L. Lewis, two brick dwellings and garage, Heberton avenue and Jackson street, $19,000.

Eleventh Ward—J. F. Austin and A. Nicholls, brick dwelling and garage, 1418 Greystone drive, $10,000.

Nineteenth Ward—A. J. Stremel, brick dwelling, 2099 Pioneer avenue, $6,000; D. G. Newcomer, brick dwelling, 2402 Edgebrook avenue, $5,000.

Raphael Nursery Plans Donation Day

Visiting and Donation Day will be held next Sunday at the Raphael Temporary Home and Day Nursery, Thirty-eighth street and Penn avenue. Sisters in charge of the institution are making pleas for gifts of food or clothing for their charges.

A concert will be given tomorrow evening by the Pittsburgh Scottish Choir, under the direction of J. M. Ferguson, in the Brookline Methodist Episcopal Church. The choir will be augmented by guest artists.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES

DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

ALONZO EVADES ARREST; AUTHOR DENIED WARRANT!

"Palaces of Sin" Review Gives Inside of Society Shooting

NOTE—The author of "Palaces of Sin" has revealed how he was shot by Alonzo A——— while trying to protect Ruth Willmore from his advances. Later the word is cast about that the author shot himself while "toying with a target pistol." Of course our readers know better, nevertheless—

"NOW, reader, you may think this strange, but I was actually 'whipped' into giving the story of the 'accidental shooting' the color of truth, as I tried in every conceivable manner to secure the arrest of Alonzo, but I could not, as he had money, therefore he was proof against arrest in the glorious city of Washington, the capital of the United States, and after I could not secure his arrest, I actually told my friends that I accidentally shot myself. After I could not get a warrant for Alonzo, I concluded to do the next best thing, so I made up my mind to tell Ruth's uncle and aunt and warn them about Ruth's drinking."

Naming of Lobbyist Grundy to Senate Defies Public Opinion

Flaunting public opinion, Gov. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, has appointed Joseph R. Grundy as junior United States Senator from the Keystone state.

It was hardly to be believed that the governor of Pennsylvania would appoint as a Senator from that state a man who has just been exposed as a lobbyist by a committee of the United States Senate engaged in investigating the very activities of the lobby.

The Republican machine of Pennsylvania is known to be a more or less discreditable political organization, largely in the control of the privileged interests.

Yet it seemed hardly possible that this machine, for its own sake, or for the sake of the privileged interests which control it, would wish to incur the resentment of the people of the whole country. This it has done by naming an exposed lobbyist as a representative of the state and people of Pennsylvania in the United States Senate, which has just exposed this particular lobbyist.

The privileged and protected interests are not too popular throughout the country at best at this time. These privileged and protected interests have been held up to the public gaze as backing and financing the various activities of lobbyists in Washington, even to the extent of securing the appointment of lobbyists on the public payroll, in the hope of influencing Senators in their legislation.

These predatory and protected interests have been shown to have taken advantage of the desire of the President and Congress and the people of the United States to help farmers, and have tried to pervert this laudable object into an attempt to secure more governmental favors for themselves, and more exorbitant tariff rates upon the things that farmers have to buy and the public generally has to buy.

These privileged interests are known to be making huge combinations to create monopolies and raise prices and further plunder the public. And some of them, at least, are known to have swindled the public in stock manipulations, running comparatively worthless stock up to high figures and then unloading the stocks upon the public, and then allowing the prices to drop in value and the public to carry the bag.

And finally, these privileged financial interests and great banking interests are trying to involve the country in foreign entanglements in order to facilitate their international financial program of floating foreign bonds in this country.

With all this evidence of brutal selfishness and indifference to public welfare piling up against these predatory interests, and adding to their unpopularity, it certainly would seem unwise to give further evidence of their defiance to public opinion and public benefit. But they defy public opinion and defy public benefit by demanding and obtaining through their control of the Pennsylvania machine the appointment of an exposed lobbyist to represent them publicly in the the United States Senate as he has hitherto represented them privately.

Codified Traffic Law Is Excellent Proposal

Council has received from the Better Traffic Committee a tentative city ordinance which, if made law, would repeal the 100 or more separate ordinances covering traffic. Instead there would be this one ordinance, codifying all the desirable principles of the discarded ones, with the addition of such provisions as have been included as a result of study of laws of other cities and the principle of the Hoover model ordinance, approved as a standard by the National Council of Street and Highway Safety of 1928, under Herbert Hoover, as secretary of commerce.

In the letter to Council, submitting the codified ordinance, it is stated that it represents all of the traffic ordinances and amendments now in force, "a number of which were found to include conflicts of ordinances, and many of them were found to be in conflict with the new state vehicle code." In preparation of the ordinance, the Better Traffic Committee was aided and guided by the law department of the city, the recommendations of which were accepted, "with a few minor exceptions," and "with one major exception," the latter relating to "procedure on arrest."

It is evident that the committee had the intent of putting teeth into the proposed law. So it would guard against "fixing" of violation charges by means of accounting and publicity. Hence, the proposed ordinance provides that full monthly reports of all traffic charges and their disposition, together with ...as therefor, in short a complete summary of violations, ...ints issued (served and unserved), tags issued, and the ...utcome, shall be given to the city controller. He, in turn, ... make report to the mayor and city council monthly. "Every such report shall be public information," according to the proposed ordinance.

The conflict between the committee and the law department is in the repository of the magistrate's reports, stipulated as the city controller by the committee and recommended by the law department to be the mayor. A copy of the law department's wording is attached to the ordinance submitted by the committee.

This proposed ordinance has everything in its favor in so far as form is concerned. There is no doubt that one law covering all traffic problems will be much more desirable than many laws, the existence of some of which the motorist does not know. The only difference of opinion that could arise reasonably relates to specifications and regulations, and they are subject to amendment after experiment proves their worth. From a public standpoint, the expectation will be that Council do its best to see that they are made effective. It will be hoped that a way will be found to do away with "fixing," the extent of which at present is a scandal.

Education Admitted to Be Only Cure for Crime

Among the bitterest disappointments in the President's message is his do-nothing policy with respect to education.

Six in every 100 Americans of adult age are unable to read or write in any language, the census tells us.

But all the President can think of doing is to "appoint a voluntary committee of distinguished membership to assist in a nation-wide movement for the abolition of illiteracy."

The Wilson watchful waiting policy of the administration is illustrated anew in this naming of an additional committee TO AVOID DOING WHAT EVERY COMPETENT AUTHORITY SAYS SHOULD BE DONE.

They all unite in urging a federal department of education to attack the problem of illiteracy and speed up the halting American educational machine.

Such a department is provided by the Capper bill, which is indorsed by the following organizations, among others: The National Education Association, the American Federation of Labor, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National League of Women Voters, the National Council of Jewish Women, the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, the National Board of Young Women's Christian Associations, the American Library Association and the National Churches of Christ in America.

In the same message which refuses federal aid to education, is a recommendation for bigger, better and busier federal prisons. The President says:

"Our federal penal institutions are overcrowded and this condition is daily becoming worse. . . . We need some new federal prisons. . . . Authorization for the improvements should be given speedily, with initial appropriations to allow the construction of the new institutions to be undertaken at once."

No one familiar with the facts doubts the wisdom of this recommendation of President Hoover. The need for new prison accommodations is appaling.

But three out of every four inmates of prisons in the United States are illiterates. These unhappy victims of PREVENTABLE ignorance form SIX per cent of the adult population AT LARGE but SEVENTY-FIVE per cent of the adult population in JAIL. No wonder criminologists are agreed that education is the cure, and the only cure, for crime.

But all we can get from the Hoover administration is two new committees.

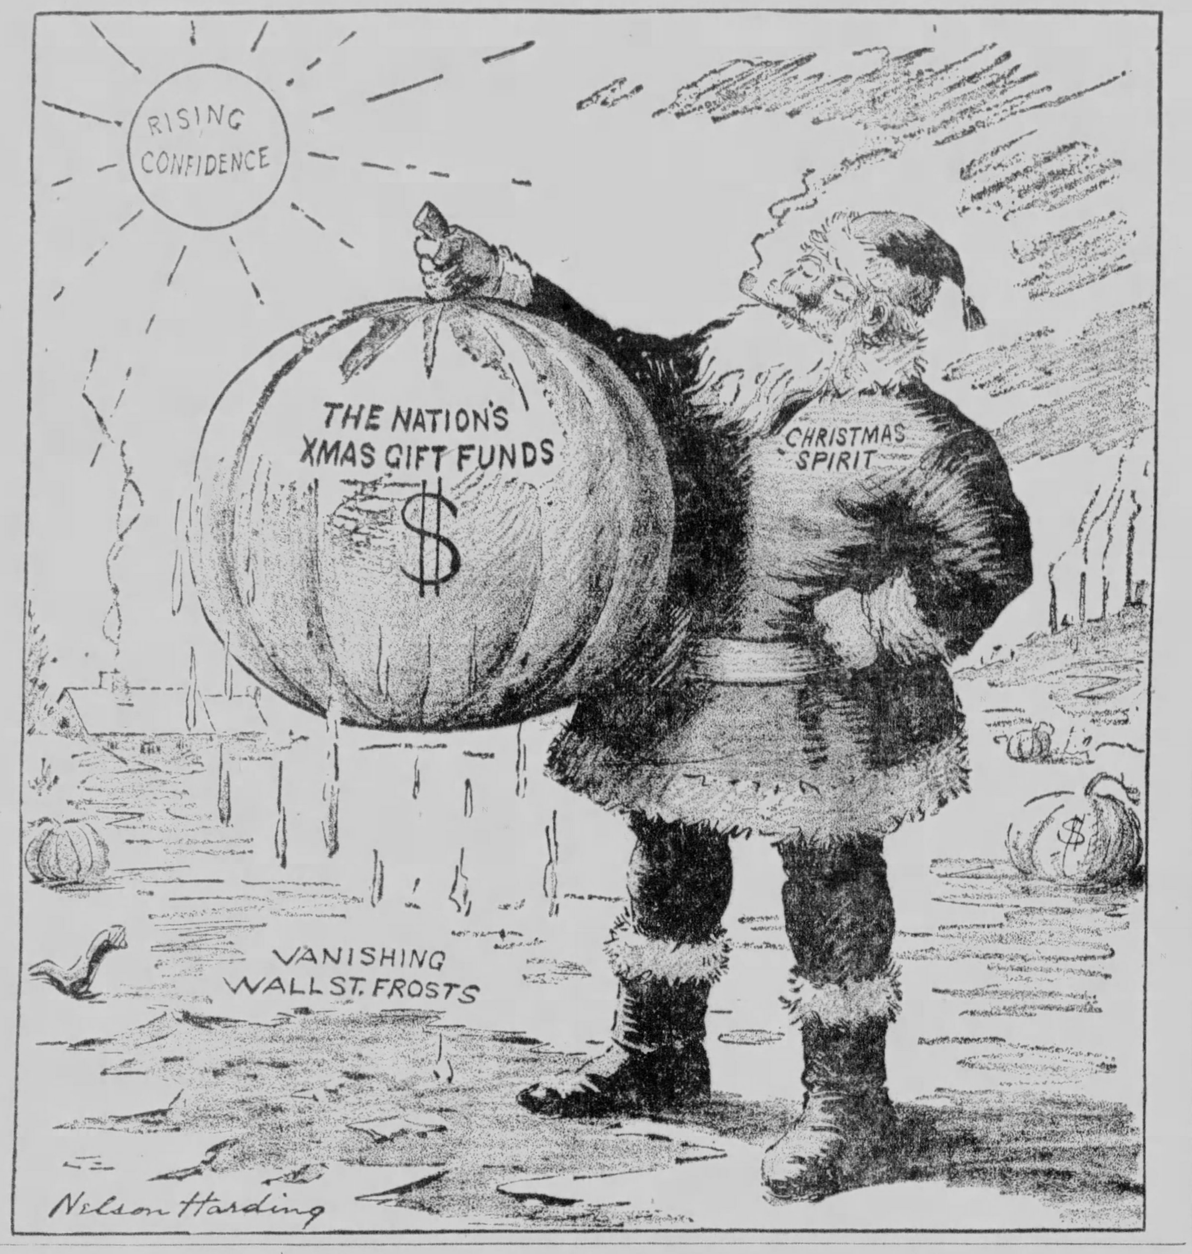
The Frost Is Off the Pumpkin

Drawn by Nelson Harding



"Bugs" Baer Says:

Henry Steps on the Gas

THE latest Ford joke is on the boys who ain't working for him.

"Bugs" Baer

When he spends his money for rare paintings he insists that the paint goes on flivvers.

All he knew about the alphabet was a Model T.

He turned out almost fifteen millions of those bouncing bungalows. Then he switched his blueprints and made a car that revolutionized grade-crossings.

When the melancholy days arrived in October and the ticker tape turned to barbed wire, Henry just laughed in his gear box.

The industrial world was skidding on its hubs when Mr. Ford threw in his clutch and added twenty million dollars to the pay rolls of a nation.

They said that Henry was not interested in holidays. You give a sailor seven dollars per diem and he will hate holidays.

The very act of boosting a pay-roll twenty million dollars makes your imagination shimmy.

HISTORY'S NEW INKWELL

By Herbert Kaufman

THERE is a destiny that shapes our NAMES as well as ends. As witness: the Leviathan—once a mythological monster, a source of wonderment to the ancients, and NOW a performer of miracles which even those long-bow artists, the Biblical scribes, hadn't the imagination to CONTEMPLATE.

In all the annals of wizardry, man encounters NO feat more incredible than the just-established telephone bridge between the entire network of A. T. & T. stations and a moving ocean liner.

And to emphasize the significance of that dramatic episode, the Atlantic chooses the day for inaugurating the service, to indulge in the wildest rage that almanacs remember.

A 108-mile gale ravages Western Europe. It cuts Britain from contact with the Continent. It piles Channel shores with wreckage. But it fails to invoke the hours of dread uncertainty which ONCE would have torn the hearts of every family with a member afloat.

THE Storm Kings CANNOT break the invisible link which, thanks to Hertz, Marconi, DeForrest, and Bell, irrevocably bonds the Five Continents to the Seven Seas.

Thirty odd years ago, civilization was dumfounded to learn that a pole in Ireland had chattered in Morse code with a pole in Newfoundland.

Yet the same generation, which witnessed that amazement, is broadcasting symphony concerts to the North and South Poles, and is apt any moment to hear the actual winds howling there through present loud-speakers—and, FURTHERMORE, sit beside steam radiators watching exploration planes hovering above Earth's last outpost.

Television barely missed Byrd's magnificent gesture—but the hour that will reveal ALL secrets of geography, ALL tragedy, and ALL momentous happenings, wherever occurring, through household instruments, waits merely upon a few laboratory experiments.

History, abandoning the inkwell for the film, flies from a thousand daily theaters of action to parade in person before the footlights.

Asiatic rulers, Continental premiers, American statesmen, captains of great industries and vital causes, nightly appear in the vocalized news-reel, from which the confessions of criminals resound, followed by the chants and capers of cannibal tribes and the echoing cheers collected at Australian race-tracks, brought intact with the panting thoroughbreds themselves.

The Chinese pirates, who raided and burned a British passenger vessel between Swatow and Hong Kong, are ALREADY in the toils of the lens as well as the law.

YOU need no longer draw upon your favorite blood-and-thunder author for knowledge of that strange guild of hereditary freebooters. The charred hulk which they audaciously swarmed, and members of the grim fraternity, EN ROUTE to retribution, will shortly dance down the electric beam which all notorious, illustrious and exotic folk must henceforth cross.

Plenty of food for thought in printers' ink, besides the effect of Mr. Grundy's appointment to ALMOST-Senator Vare's seat—or Secretary Mellon's proposed reduction of Government bond rates to 3⅛%.

Nature and human nature can always be counted upon to provide the outstanding sensations. Fiscal affairs and political finesses are dull and trite actors, at best.

Romance and violence, alone, are SURPRISING.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

IN THIS there is a striking disharmony, for the circulatory system may stiffen and fail before the mental powers begin to fall off.

The professional athlete has to retire and be forgotten long before his death, but the professional thinker generally has the privilege of dying in harness.

Perhaps the earliest sign of decay in the human body is the appearance of lines on the face—proof that the skin is already losing its elasticity.

H. G. Wells.

Decay, then, is soon upon us; need for the revolution that happens in the early teens, the acquisition of the ability to reproduce.

The difference between the internal secretions from the male or female determines the other differences of the sexes. In this respect, sexual development is not unique, for the growth and differentiation of the majority of our parts are controlled, in the later stages at least, by internal secretions from such ductless glands as the thyroid and pituitary.

The study of internal secretion is one of the youngest branches of physiological research. We may well close our account of the body by noting some of the most important results that it has borne, taking first the two glands that are most important from the point of view of growth.

The thyroid gland lies in the neck. It is a roughly U-shaped body, brownish red in color, with two thickened lobes lying one on each side of the larynx and a bridge connecting the lower ends of the two lobes and crossing in front of the windpipe.

It contains a number of minute, completely closed vesicles that are full of a yellow fluid. The essential facts about the thyroid have been known for a longer time than about any other ductless gland, owing to the fortunate accident that its secretions pass unchanged through the digestive system into the blood, so that patients can be treated by simply feeding them with dried gland substance.

And our knowledge of the thyroid has recently taken the important step forward, because it is one of the two ductless glands whose active principles have been isolated and analyzed, and even successfully synthesized in the laboratory from simpler materials. The other is the central part of the adrenal gland. The products in question are called thyroxin and adrenin respectively.

The secretions of the thyroid affect profoundly a great number of different physiological processes. One milligram of thyroxin injected into a normal man will cause his chemical activity, as measured by oxygen consumption and carbon dioxide production, to go up two per cent, although the amount injected is only about one seventy-millionth part of the man's weight.

Heavy doses of thyroid speed up the vital engines to such an extent that unless enormous quantities of food are provided there is a breakdown of the substance of the tissues themselves in an effort to get more fuel to burn, and the animal or man wastes away. The substance can also affect temperament; heavy doses of thyroxin make a perfectly normal man nervous and irritable.

It is clear that a gland like the thyroid may have very marked effects upon all the bodily processes, including growth, if its secretion is for long periods of time a little above or a little below normal.

A disease known as myxoedema is due to deficiency of the secretion in the adult. It is characterized by a sluggishness of the various chemical and physical reactions that go on in the body; the pulse is slowed, the temperature is low, the appetite is blunted, speech becomes a drawl, the mind becomes viscous.

At the same time there is a thickening of the connective tissues under the skin, producing a puffiness and yellowness of the face and hands and falling of the hair and a considerable accumulation of fat.

In children with defective thyroids similar phenomena appear, but growth, particularly of the brain and skeleton, also ceases. A child so affected may live for many years, but even when 30 years old it retains a distorted childish appearance, and has scarcely the intelligence of a child of four or five.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. — A super-myth has sprung up about the accidental rewards in writing advertising slogans. Since America became "slogan conscious" there is a belief the veriest amateur can often think up an arresting line for some advertised product and immediately cruise to work in a yacht.

Thousands of letters pour into the advertising agencies daily from those who have just thought up a wow out of their own heads. Records show only one or two suggestions from outsiders have zinged the bell. Mostly it has been a waste of time.

A striking slogan proves an enormous business getter. A coffee that had only a desultory sale was balooned into a "leader" three weeks after a catch line was broadcast from coast to coast. The enormous increase in cigaret consumption is credited to bright ballyhoo.

Yet most of these scintillating phrases have come from experienced advertising experts connected with big agencies. It is not one of those quick processes of sudden inspiration. A year's time was spent on one six word slogan that caught popular fancy.

Research workers delve into every phase of an establishment seeking to catch the eye with a brief sentence. It must tell all or there is a heavy business loss. Millions have been lost as well as won in slogan experimentation.

An advertising shark tells me the well turned line must attain the pinnacle of condensation. He points out that in many instances innumerable voluminous reports are boiled down to a single one syllable word. It is not a haphazard feat of a trigger mind.

New York has only three trained men who have mastered the art of sloganizing—that is their products have a greater percentage of successes than failures. They are paid salaries ranging from $25,000 to $50,000 a year and their entire time is devoted to the specialization.

One of the greatest slogans for sales power was encompassed in the line: "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." It had that quality providing a field for burlesquing on the stage and in comic weeklies. And that is a valuable quality, it seems. The best slogan recently I think is: "Better"—tells it all!

* * *

Apropos of nothing at all, it seems to me the most beautifully named spot in all America is the Shenandoah Valley.

* * *

The old clothes market survives on Baxter street in the East Side. Daily the eager merchants are on the sidewalk haggling with those who desire to sell and buy cast off garments. It is a seedy down-at-heel crew and yet many men have grown rich bartering in old clothes. They become the shrewdest of all traders.

Many of the flashy Broadway boys drop down to Baxter street to pick up bargains. Dishonest valets take loot here and often clothes made by expensive tailors may be salvaged out of the mountainous piles. There is a tailor on Tenth avenue who specializes in refurbishing such garments and fitting them to new owners with the latest cut and at a small price. Some of the swankiest dressers on the stage are outfitted in this manner.

* * *

The Mummy Room of the Museum of Art has a ghoulish fascination for many. There are a number of "regulars" who pay weekly and monthly visits.

In the past four years I know five persons — two artists and three writers—who sailed off to Europe to remain permanently. They were sincere at the time. But all have returned thoroughly cured.
